The regional government delegate, Antonio Granados, alongside the delegate for Economy, Finance, European Funds, University, Industry, Energy, and Innovation, Gumersindo Fernández, visited the facilities of Viver Living Drinks in the industrial estate of Atarfe. The company has received a regional economic incentive resolution of 343,387 euros from state funds for the production and marketing of artisanal organic kombucha.

The company will receive this non-refundable grant and commits to investing 1,107,702 euros, creating 12 new jobs, and ensuring the preservation of 8 existing positions. The Granada firm specializes in the production and commercialization of non-alcoholic fermented beverages, with the vision of creating a new generation of delicious, nutritious, and sustainable drinks.

The regional delegate stated that "with initiative, imagination, innovation, and entrepreneurship, they offer natural beverage lines from Granada and Andalusia with a clear focus on innovation and health. It is only fair for the Regional Government of Andalusia to recognize their contribution to Andalusian innovation and entrepreneurship."

Official visit to Viver Living Drinks facilities in Atarfe

Government Delegate Antonio Granados alongside Economy & Industry Delegate Gumersindo Fernández during their meeting with Viver Living Drinks leadership at the Atarfe plant.

On his part, the territorial delegate for Industry reiterated "the strong support of the Regional Government of Andalusia for the business network in Granada."

The company director, Antonio Delgado, highlighted that the firm has experienced continuous growth over recent years—expanding its workforce, scaling its facilities, and broadening both the variety and quality of its product offerings.

"The partnership with AMC Global represented a major leap for our Granada firm, granting us access to international retail channels across Europe."

A couple of years ago, Viver signed a strategic alliance with the multinational AMC Global—headquartered in Murcia and Europe's leader in refrigerated juices—to produce and market kombucha throughout Europe. This agreement represented a milestone for the Granada firm, enabling it to enter the European market using its partner's extensive experience and infrastructure. From its Atarfe plant, Viver now manufactures private-label kombucha for major international retail chains already partnered with AMC.

To accommodate this rapid expansion, the Granada-based company took another step forward by enlarging its production facilities in Granada. This expansion multiplied its production capacity ten-fold, enabling it to meet the rising demand for fermented drinks from both Spanish and European retailers.
