How to use this catalogue

At DK, we believe that one answer should always inspire more questions. That's why we make non-fiction books that provide children who are curious about the world with all the answers they could want, and then some. The books in this catalogue have been selected to support learning both inside and outside the classroom.

The catalogue begins with key series from DK and progresses onto a topic listing, listing our books by core topics and age range.

The corresponding Key Stages for the UK Curriculum are listed by each book, and are also shown in the table below, for reference.

DK books support learners in a diverse range of subjects and stages, both as a classroom resource and for independent reading. We hope you enjoy this selection that we have brought together to inspire, educate and entertain bright young minds in schools and in homes around the world through 2020 and beyond.

This vibrant book would be great for young scientists...It makes references to facts and figures that are relevant to the children...as well as giving the negative impacts of waste, the book gives loads of ideas...that the students can set up themselves...I would definitely like to see this in all school libraries.
