CUT ALONG DOTTED LINES

Groundbreaking journalist Nellie Bly rose to fame after infiltrating the Blackwell's Island Asylum and exposing their mistreatment of patients. Later, she went on a trip around the world and completed the voyage in under 73 days.

The inventor of more than 300 different peanut products, Professor George Washington Carver also taught farmers—including recently freed slaves—how to use the crop rotation system.

Joan of Arc was called by the archangel Michael to help expel the English forces from France during the Hundred Years War. Her unwavering support helped lift the Siege of Orléans, and she also led the march to Reims, where Charles VII was crowned the new king of France.
