Draw Your Own! Dragon!

For centuries, dragons have captivated the imaginations of people everywhere. They take many forms and represent many things: gods to be revered, evil kings to be feared, wise friends, and fierce foes.

In the space on the page go ahead and draw your very own dragon. What will it look like and what powers will it have? If you need ideas, read about some dragon features below.

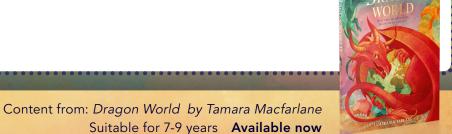

Dragon Head: Some dragons have animal heads or even more than one! The Neak is one of those, who can have up to nine heads!

Dragon Body: Some dragons adapt to where they live. Frost dragons, for instance, have adapted to withstand extreme cold and have icy scales.

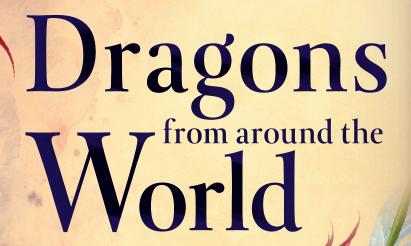

> Dragon Wings: Not all dragons have wings! Some like Bakunawa live in water and have no need to fly.

Dragon Powers: Some dragons breathe fire, some have a venomous bite, and some can even grant wishes! There are even those like the Lindworm that can move between different worlds.

Ready for your own dragon adventures? When searching for dragons around the world it's important to know which ones could be nearby! Can you find the dragon names and where they are from in the word search?
