The Author

Suzanne van der Veecken is a skipper, freediver, kitesurfer and ocean activist – and a hitchsailer! She sailed her first trip across the Atlantic hitchhiking as a complete novice. She has since sailed across the Atlantic and other oceans several times, written a self-published book about this special form of travelling and runs the website ‘Oceanpreneur’, where she provides information about ocean protection and her projects in addition to hitchsailing. Her Ocean Impact projects help to protect the world’s oceans and their diverse creatures so that future generations can also experience the diversity of ecosystems.

The Work No Boat? No Money? No more Experience? – No Problem!

Many of us dream of sailing the world’s oceans – but simply setting sail is out of the question for many. Where to get the boat? And the money? Setting off once is the big dream, but giving up everything for it? Selling all of it to finance the trip? That’s not an option for everyone. So a new idea is needed and what could be better than hitchhiking?

Hitchsailer Suzanne van der Veecken has taken these ideas to heart. She started with a trip across the Atlantic – as a hitchhiker on board a yacht and as a crew member. Since then, she has not only crossed the Atlantic, but also other seas and oceans. The principle of ‘hitchsailing’ has become her faithful companion, allowing her to realise her dream of sailing even without her own yacht or a large budget.

In her new book, she provides insights into life hitchhiking across the world’s oceans. She puts all her tips and tricks together, important information and helpful packing lists and doesn’t stop at topics such as seasickness and the happy factor on board. In addition to the perfect preparation for hitchsailing, she also draws attention to her favourite topic: marine conservation.

In this book, she also explains why we absolutely must protect the ocean and exactly how we can contribute to this.

The Photographer

Solvin Zankl (born 1971), who studied biology and has been working as a nature photographer since 1998, incorporates his scientific background and sense of aesthetics into his photo reportages. His search for innovative approaches, technical solutions and exciting image content has earned him numerous awards, including the German Prize for Science Photography, the Fritz Pölkung Award from the Society of German Animal Photographers and honours at the Wildlife Photographer of the Year Competition in London, where he is also a jury member. His photographs regularly appear in leading international magazines.

The Work Award-winning top Photos and Insights into the Life of Sea Turtles

When we think of turtles, the first thing that comes to mind is the large, 100-year-old Galapagos tortoises. Or the small, agile turtles from the garden pond at home. Hardly anyone thinks first of streamlined bodies and flat shells, of flippers instead of legs – and above all, no one really thinks of their speed! And yet these characteristics are united in seven species of turtles around the world: the sea turtles. This specially illustrated book by award-winning nature photographer Solvin Zankl with informative texts on these extraordinary swimmers shows these impressive animals from a completely new perspective. Zankl accompanies the fantastic navigators on their journey, both on land during egg-laying and underwater in the tropical seas, creating unique photographic images. An immersion in the magical world of sea turtles is guaranteed.

The texts are written by Sandra Striegel, an expert in the field of marine biology with a special focus on the protection and research of sea turtles.

The Authors

Torsten Mönch studied electrical engineering at HAW-Hamburg after completing two technical apprenticeships. This was followed by a traineeship and almost 10 years as an editor at Delius Klasing Verlag. Moench has been editor-in-chief of the leading European motorboat magazine BOOTE since 2003.

Britta Flöring studied German and English at the TU Braunschweig, lives in Lüneburg and works as a teacher, lecturer at Leuphana University, freelance author and photographer.

The Work The Motorboat Myth of Lago d'Iseo

The very name RIVA makes the hearts of various boat owners beat faster. Thoughts wander directly to the unique mahogany models that have made the brand one of the best-known boat brands in the world. Resounding brand names such as 'Aquarama', 'Ariston' or 'Tritone' inspire dreams of cruises on these legendary boats.

Founded in 1842 by Pietro Riva in Sarnico, Italy, the brand became a symbol of luxury and extravagant joie de vivre in the 1950s – a fact that earned it the name 'Rolls-Royce of the sea' for good reason. And immediately attracted illustrious company: names such as Brigitte Bardot, Sophia Loren, Gunter Sachs and, nowadays, George Clooney are just as closely associated with this brand as the famous artists Picasso, Miró and Romano Britto from the street art scene.

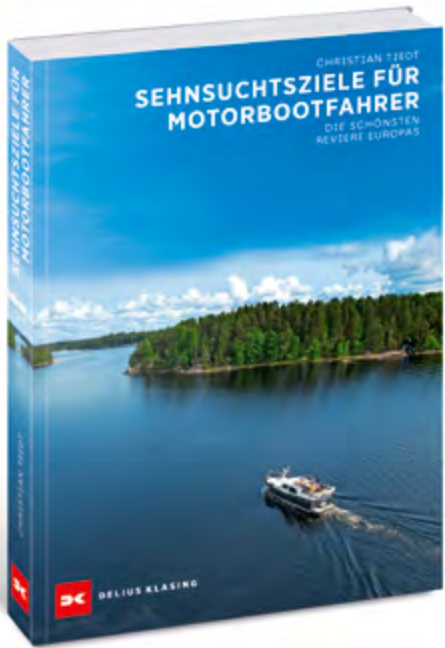

This book is entirely dedicated to the fascination of the Riva brand. From a brief look at the history of Riva, Carlo Riva's ideas and ideals and an overview of the boats built up to 1969 to current developments and new technologies, the book offers a unique and unprecedented insight into the world of the luxury brand. Prominent Riva owners who have contributed significantly to the media presence are covered, as well as the prestigious Riva clubs and events and background information on the expert restoration of the classic beauties.

- > Development of the renowned Riva brand from its beginnings until today
- > Large-format pictures, informative texts, a fine coffee-table book
- > Insights into the world of the stars
- > Perfect gift book for boat lovers and boat enthusiasts

The Work Fascinating Buildings next to the Water, impressive Engineering Masterpieces

Imposing structures have always had a fascinating effect on mankind, especially when they are built next to water. Where the elements come together, and the art of engineering creates navigable waterways. Whether it's shortcuts, connections or overcoming differences in height, monuments of the sea have inspired generations. Some of these impressive structures are:

The Panama Canal, which was opened in 1914 and is still one of the most important waterways in the world today. The connection between the Atlantic and Pacific is considered a modern wonder of the world and took almost 30,000 people over 20 years to build. The new Niederfinow ship lock in Germany, which only went into operation in autumn 2022. It consists of a 125-metre-long trough in which ships are transported from one water level to the next.

The world's first tunnel for cruise ships is currently being planned in Norway. This tunnel will directly connect the Moldefjord and the Vanylvsfjord, thus avoiding the long and dangerous journey through the rough North Sea around the Stadlandet peninsula.

The Author

Lasse Johannsen knows the world of classic yachts from traditional boat building and yachting history to the classics themselves. He is an editor at YACHT and editor-in-chief of YACHT CLASSIC.

The Photographer

He grew up on the coast. Nico Krauss has turned his passion into a profession: he works as a freelance photographer for international campaigns and various magazines and has already published several books and calendars with his extraordinary sailing photographs.

The Work Classic Sailing Yachts and the Boat Builders who created them

Elegant lines, high-quality materials, timelessly beautiful design — classic sailing yachts cast just as much of a spell over fans of the sport of sailing today as they did on their maiden voyage. But who are the outstanding designers who created these boats that are as fast as they are beautiful?

Yacht Design is an impressive, illustrated book about outstanding architects who have shaped not only the present but also future eras with their designs. William Fife III, Charles Nicholson, Max Oertz, Johan Anker with his „Dragon“ and of course Henry Rasmussen: they were all visionaries, built ships that still inspire today and can be found on regatta courses, proudly presented, cherished, nurtured and inspire dreams.

In this book, the great European designers and their most important creations are presented for the first time and placed in a yachting historical context. Historical pictures as well as current photos by Nico Krauss also visually captivate the reader.

The Authors

As a globally established expert for modern and classic yachts, the trained master boat builder Uwe Baykowski from Strande near Kiel has gained decades of sailing experience in areas such as the Baltic Sea, the Mediterranean, the Atlantic, the Caribbean and in regatta sports. He also supervised the restoration of the pilot schooner „No.5 Elbe“, which was launched in 1883 (material included 1.25 kilometres of new oak planks). He has co-written this book with Anna-Marie Frick, a German skipper from Kiel, without whom this book would not have been started.

The Work How to make old Yachts shine in new Splendour

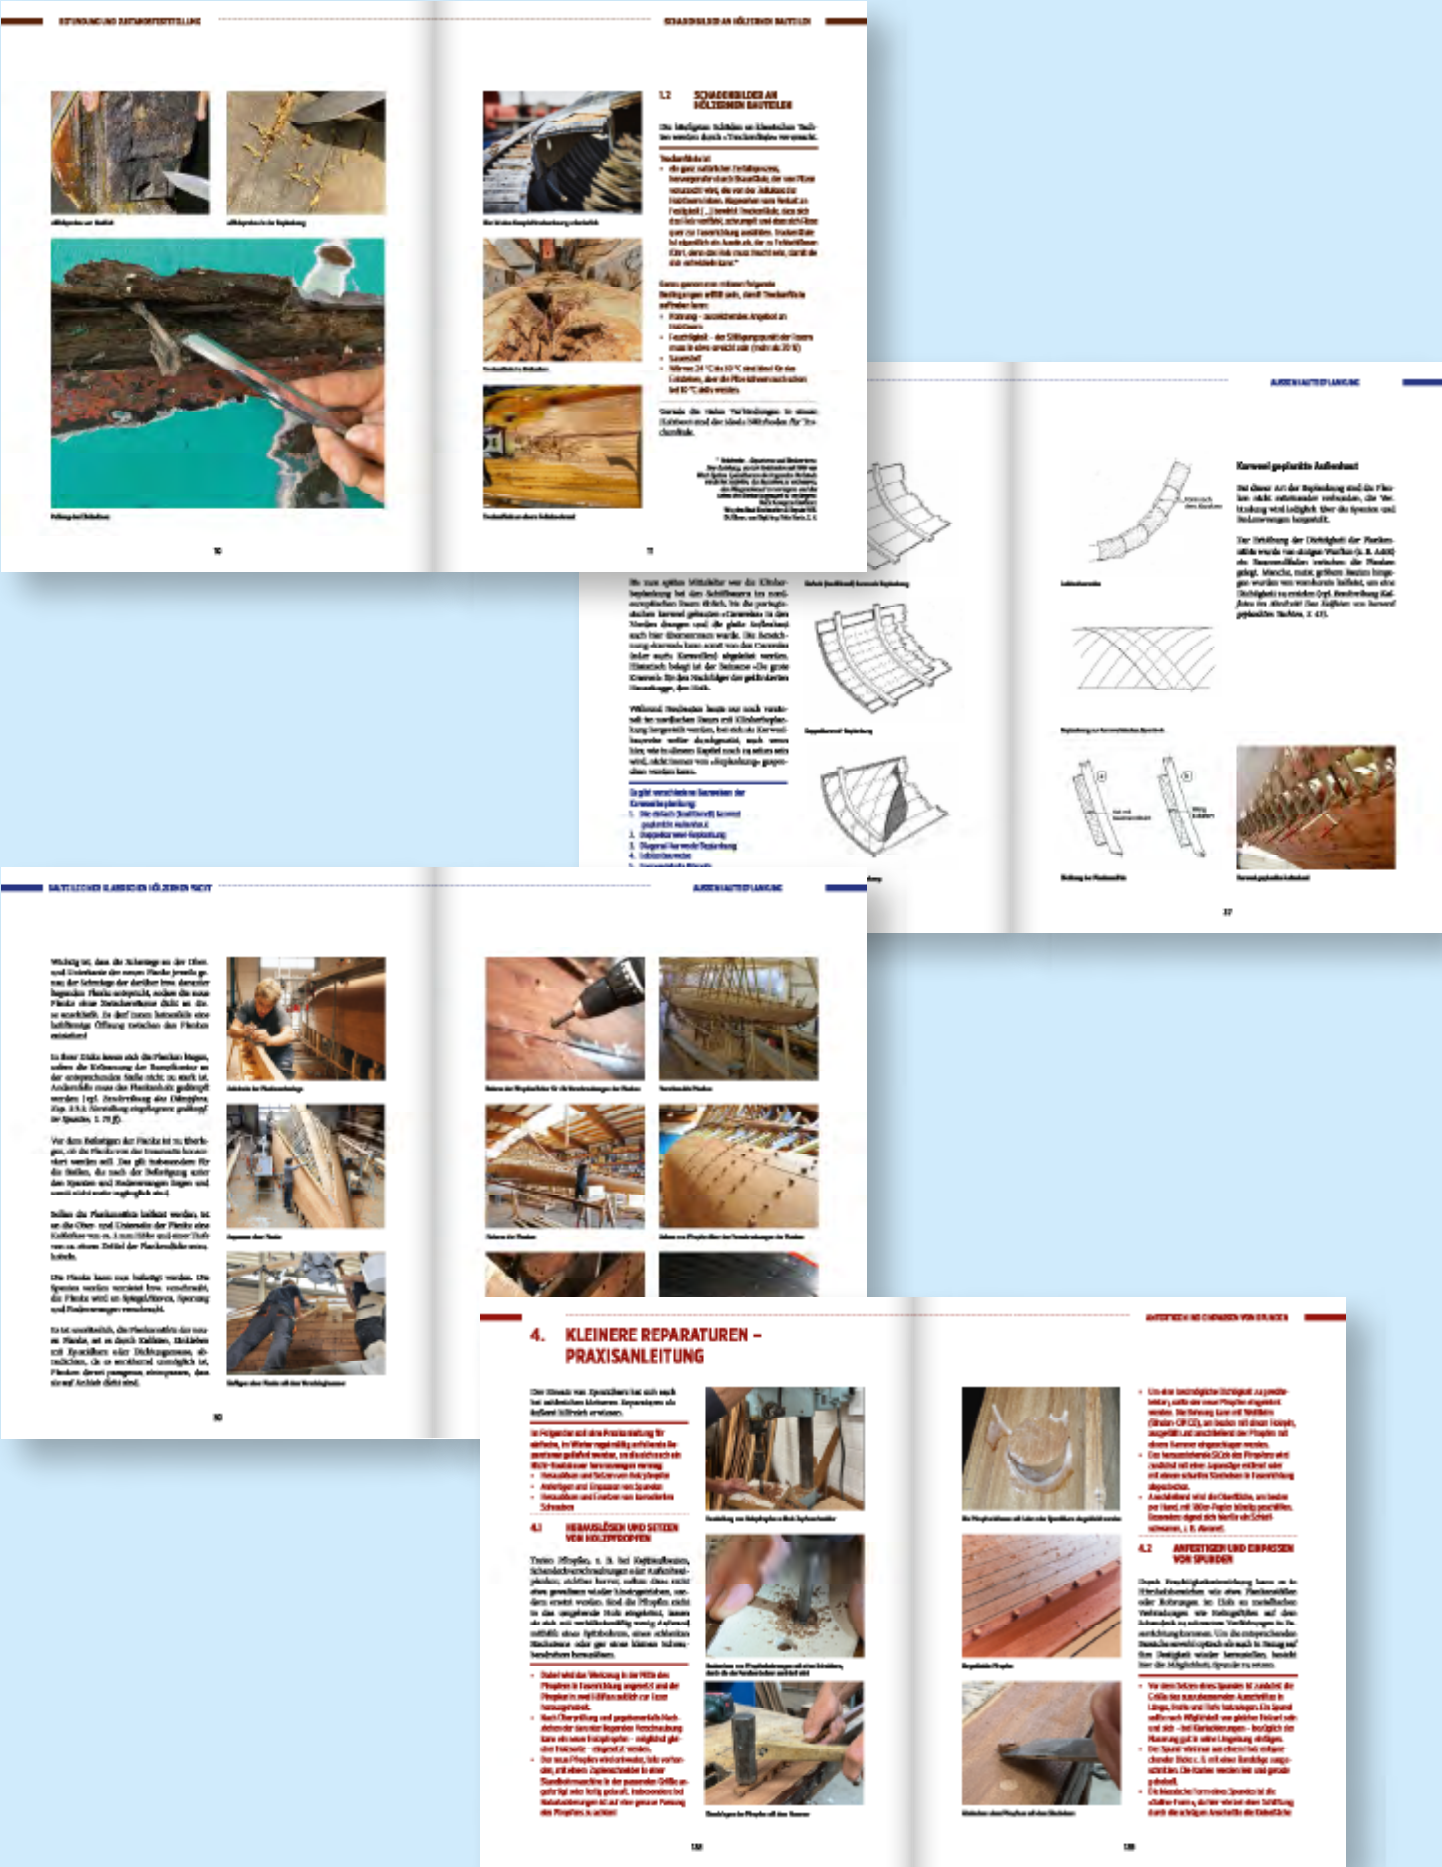

Classic yachts make the hearts of many boat owners beat faster. They are reminiscent of the golden era of boatbuilding. However, the care and repair of these time-honoured sailing boats presents owners with special challenges.

Boat expert and yacht enthusiast Uwe Baykowski is known for his expertise in the care of classic wooden yachts. His repair manual contains everything needed to restore and care for an old boat. This is how a yacht shines again in its old splendour!

With the practice-oriented care and repair instructions in this book, all the important work can be done yourself. The author describes in detail the professional care and maintenance of the individual boat parts. All necessary work is explained step by step and supplemented with numerous pictures. Valuable tips for boat accessories and care products round off the extensive knowledge.

- > A comprehensive maintenance and repair manual for all work during the season and in winter storage
- > Carry out boat repairs yourself: repair instructions from bow to stern
- > Practical gift for boat owners and friends of classic yachts

The Author

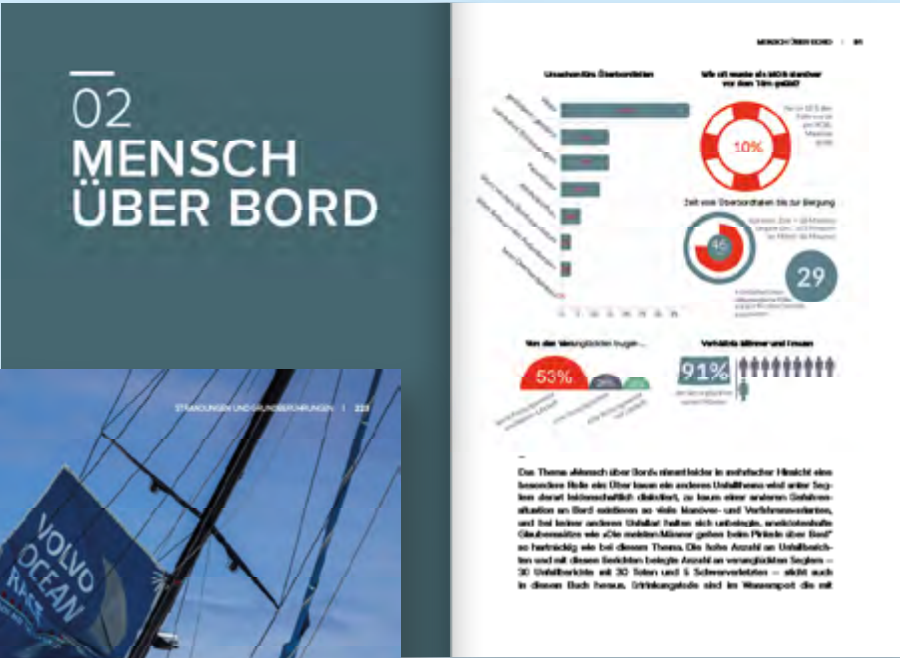

Jan-Erik Kruse, a sailor since early childhood, is fascinated by the waves and the wind. At 19, he began his career as an instructor at the Hanseatic Yacht School in Glücksburg in the Hanseatic League of Germany (DHH), and as a skipper. At 21 he already made his first Atlantic round trip via the Netherlands, Belgium, English Channel, Brittany, Spain, Portugal, Madeira, Canaries, ARC 2000, Lesser Antilles (Grenada to Virgin Islands), Puerto Rico, Bermuda, Azores, English Channel. In addition, Jan-Erik Kruse has sailed on the North Sea, the Baltic Sea, the Mediterranean and the Pacific coast of New Zealand.

The Work How to prevent Horror Scenarios at Sea

Using case studies taken from marine accident investigation reports by international investigation commissions, the course of the accident is described in a way that is as exciting as it is gripping. In this way, the causes of accidents on sailing yachts are explained, and then concrete strategies are conveyed with which accidents and threatening situations at sea can be avoided.

The experienced sailing instructor Jan-Erik Kruse also pays special attention to the „human factor“ – from personal risk attitudes to ways out of the mental trap.

- > Avoid sailing accidents: the yachting accident prevention book
- > Nine topics from loss of rudder and keel to fire and explosion, heavy seas and strandings
- > Emergency behaviour: distress alerts, AIS and radar, risk management and more
- > Human factor: personal risk behaviour and typical thinking errors
- > Safe sailing: assessing risk factors correctly and reacting quickly
- > An important and useful read for all boat owners

The Authors

Claudia Clawien, a graduated pedagogue, sailed with her husband Jonathan Buttman from 2013 to 2019 on the 35-foot steel yacht INTI from Germany to destinations such as Easter Island, the Tuamotus, Kiribati, Tuvalu and the Marshall Islands in the Pacific – a journey of over 21,000 nautical miles. Claudia loves life above water as much as under, sailing at night under the endless firmament, the art of improvisation and meeting people of all colours. Jonathan has worked for several years as a journalist, speaker and author on various topics related to sailing and travel. He has been part of the BLAUWASSER.DE regular editorial team since 2020.

The Work: Two Globetrotters talk about their Adventure of a Lifetime

Out of the daily routine, into adventure: Claudia Clawien and Jonathan Buttman dared to take the step into the adventure of a lifetime and sailed around the world. With little more than the guiding principle of „learning by doing“ in their luggage, the two quit their jobs, bought a 40-year-old steel boat and set sail from Berlin to sail around the world. In the end, they have been on the road for seven years and richer by many unforgettable encounters and experiences.

Their voyage takes them across the Atlantic to Panama and via Easter Island to remote Micronesia. On the way, they face many challenges – returning home is not an option. In this book, they recount their experiences, encounters and adventures during their exciting sailing adventure.

The Author

Rainer Lüthje, graduate engineer and member of the Tidal Service of the Federal Maritime and Hydrographic Agency, is one of the leading experts in the field of tides. His many years of experience and expertise make this book an indispensable resource for anyone who wants to unravel the secrets of the tidal world.

The Work Practical Reference Book on the Tides and the Secrets of the Tidal World

This book by Rainer Lüthje is dedicated to the fascinating phenomenon of tides. It covers not only the physical principles, but also the special features of the German coasts.

The author deals with various aspects, including the origin of the tides, the astronomical effects and the local and regional influences. In addition, tidal currents, terms and abbreviations from tidology, predictions and the practical use of tide calendars and tide tables are covered.

Originally conceived as a teaching script for the maritime surveying technician course, the content has been continuously expanded and improved. Using clear pictures, comprehensible illustrations and easy-to-follow texts, the author provides the reader with knowledge about the daily rise and fall of the water.

- > Numerous, easy-to-understand illustrations and easy-to-follow texts make the complex subject matter more simple
- > With examples of the practical use of tide calendars and tide tables
- > Helpful and informative for coastal residents, water experts, pleasure boaters and tourists

The Author

Jens Feddern is an experienced water sportsman and on-board electrician who shows how to make an old yacht fit again and bring it up to the latest state of technology. Other books published by Delius Klasing are E-mobility on the water (2022) and Theory and practice of on-board electrics (2021).

The Work Modernisation, Restoration

This application-oriented guidebook covers almost all aspects of boat building and shows by practical example how the refit adventure can be successfully achieved with a little craftsmanship! With the current boom in water sports, not only interest in boats are increasing, they are also becoming more and more expensive. The purchase of an affordable older boat, which can be modernised and brought up to the current state of the art, is a welcome alternative.

- > Little theory, lots of practice: detailed descriptions with numerous pictures and drawings
- > Restoration and refit of an older GRP boat (glass-fibre reinforced plastic)
- > Do It Yourself: a variety of practical knowledge for boat building, boat repairs and boat maintenance

The Work Full on E-Mobility

Electric mobility has reached the world of shipping and water sports a long time ago. But anyone who wants to buy an electric boat or convert their existing boat to electric propulsion is faced with several questions. Is an electric motor worthwhile for every type of boat? What are the advantages and disadvantages of this drive technology, and what does it cost to retrofit an electric boat motor?

The guidebook for all environmentally conscious skippers who want to contribute to climate protection without sacrificing comfort and driving pleasure!

Boat Manoeuvres
Step by Step – for Sailors

The Work Port manoeuvres from a bird's eye view

Learning from the bird's perspective to manoeuvre motorboats – does not work? Of course it does! With this book, boat manoeuvres will become a piece of cake.

The two water sports journalists Christian Tiedt (BOOTE) and Lars Bolle (YACHT) have developed a special concept for this book, which makes the individual boat manoeuvres particularly vivid: in pictures showing the individual motion of the motorboat step by step from the bird's perspective, a wide range of technical procedures, for example the mooring and removal in all conceivable situations and with all common driving types.

- Detailed description of different manoeuvres:
- > Mooring and removal, turning and reversing, anchoring and leading through a sluice
 - > Description of different types of driving systems
 - > Presentation of suitable places for anchoring
 - > Valuable tips – even for experienced skippers

Step – for Motorboat Drivers

The Work Step by step

In a survey boat owners where asked about the main reasons for not pursuing their hobby: it was neither for fear of storms nor sea sickness. Most important was the insecurity about handling a boat in the harbour, the fear of colliding with another boat, and embarrassment.

This book explains coherently everything that is important for harbour manoeuvres. During test runs photographer Klaus Andrews took numerous photos to document every detail of the manoeuvres. With the help of these photos author Lars Bolle explains the course of action step by step: when to bring out which lines, the amount of thrust necessary according to the position of the rudder, the allocation of responsibilities.

144 pages are dedicated to docking and casting off in situations like:

- > Footbridges with posts
- > Quay walls, piers with moorings
- > The Roman Catholic way with bower anchor, buoys, and small footbridges – with engine or set sails
- > Additional chapters deal with an anchoring, turning and shifting in the harbour, towing, and man-over-board-manoeuvres
- > Also solo sailors and crews of two will find the best way to go

The Work Boating Holidays made easy – travelling by Houseboat in France

Taking a holiday on a houseboat – this is also becoming increasingly popular in Germany. Dreaming of a holiday on the water? Cross France by houseboat? Then explore France from its most beautiful sides on the Canal du Midi. The 300-year-old canal stretches 240 wonderful kilometres through Languedoc. The port city of Sète, the Canal de la Robine, beautiful Narbonne, medieval Carcassone and Toulouse can all be easily experienced by houseboat! And in France you can even rent and steer a houseboat without a boating licence.

For the perfect holiday on a houseboat along a UNESCO World Heritage Site, Andrea Hoffmann has gathered her knowledge in this book. She has been in love with the Canal du Midi for years and reveals here everything you need to know for a relaxing holiday on a houseboat.

- > Itinerary on the Canal du Midi in eleven stages for easy planning
- > From the Mediterranean to Toulouse – cruising in a licence-free boating area
- > Travel tips for your boating holiday along a wonderful cultural landscape
- > Nautical information such as locks, bridges and moorings
- > Small German-French dictionary with the most important vocabulary
- > With great pictures by Hans Zaglitsch
- > Simple, compact and practical

The Author

Carsten Eich is Germany's most successful road runner. A European record and two German records prove his successful career. His half marathon record was only beaten 28 years later, in October 2021. Since finishing his professional career, he has been working as a coach, sports and health manager. With his company RUN3 Konzept, he offers workshops, seminars and running trips and is involved in the organisation of various running events in Germany and Austria.

The Work Motivation for Competition Preparation

Ex-professional athlete Carsten Eich – German record holder over the distances 10 km and half marathon until 2021 - remains true to running even after his career has ended, and now works as a coach with runners on their endurance and performance. With profound expert knowledge, he presents exercise units in this book, gives valuable tips for ideal race preparation and points out typical mistakes. The importance of yoga and regeneration, the right diet and the right equipment are also discussed. The competition training is livened up by exciting anecdotes and interesting biographical inserts by the running pro.

The Author

Christoph Bausenwein, born in 1959, was already a fan of the club (1. FC Nürnberg) in the 1967/68 championship season. He has published so many football titles for the publishing house Die Werkstatt: numerous non-fiction books and biographies, including the classic Mystery Football. Bausenwein always manages to write grippingly, in an extremely readable way and knows exactly how to pepper his books with wonderful side stories.

The Work Franz Beckenbauer — Shining Star of German Football

The whole world knows this name. The outstanding player, successful team boss, sovereign world champion, shining personality, womaniser and pop star.

The Munich native has entered the history books of football as the „Kaiser“ (“Emperor”): Franz Beckenbauer is the great superstar of German football. In this photo-heavy book, author Christoph Bausenwein traces his career – from the wad that brought him to FC Bayern to the European Cup treble with the „Reds“ to winning the World Cup as DFB team boss. And, of course, this humorous look back also includes the Kaiser’s cars, fashion and women.

But it is also about the man who brought his home country Germany the 2006 summer fairytale. He is a phenomenon with many facets shown in this excellently illustrated and elegantly designed book.

- > The incomparable career of the Emperor
- > Captivating insights into Beckenbauer’s life away from football
- > The ultimate book about Franz Beckenbauer – fashion, cars and World Cup glory

He is best known for his numerous football books, one on the history of the World Cup or on German football clubs such as FC Bayern Munich or Borussia Dortmund. In 2011, his work Der FC Bayern und seine Juden (FC Bayern and its Jews) was voted Football Book of the Year. He is a member of Borussia Dortmund and an appointed member of the German Academy for Football Culture.

The Work Toni Kroos: Captain, Strategist, Legend

At Real Madrid, the biggest club in the world, and with the German national team, Toni Kroos proves why he makes the difference as a player. For a long time, opinions were divided as to whether a comeback for the midfield strategist was the right answer to the crisis facing the German national team. He answered this question himself and led the DFB team as captain to two impressive victories in the test matches against France and the Netherlands. German success at the European Championships is no longer conceivable without him.

Toni Kroos also continues to set the pace in Real Madrid's midfield and has extended his contract for another season. After his 400th game in a Real Madrid shirt in March 2023, he commented with a grin: „Could have gone worse.“ After the current extension, he could even play his 500th game without injury. Football expert Dietrich Schulze-Marmeling analyses what makes Toni Kroos a unique person and player.

The Work The biggest football Festivals on the Continent

The European Men's Football Championship will be held in Germany in the summer of 2024. Teams from 24 nations will compete for the „Coupe Henri Delaunay“, the trophy for the winning team. The whole Germany is looking forward to this tournament, which will hopefully be as enjoyable and exciting as the „summer fairytale“, the 2006 World Cup, which was also held in Germany.

Among them, of course, are the matches that have burned themselves into the collective memory of football fans:

1972: Germany become European champion for the first time

1980: Horst Hrubesch's header secures the DFB team's second European Championship title in Rome

1996: Unforgettable - the dramatic semi-final against England at Wembley and Oliver Bierhoff's „Golden Goal“ in the final

2008: Germany loses to the superior team from Spain in the final in Vienna

... and many more classics of the greatest football festivals on the European continent.

Kerry Hau (born 1993), sports reporter and author, gained his first experience in sports journalism as a high school graduate – including an internship at SPORT BILD in Hamburg. Hau then studied sports journalism and sports management and worked as a freelancer for ZDF and as an author for the publishing house Die Werkstatt. In 2018, he took on a reporting position at DAZN and SPOX. Hau has been chief reporter at SPORT1 since January 2022 - and is primarily responsible for reporting on FC Bayern and the German national team.

The Work From World Cup top Scorer to Bundesliga Goal Machine

Harry Kane’s arrival in Munich has already been a spectacle, meticulously followed by various live tickers. From day one, the 100-million-euro transfer has thrilled FC Bayern fans with his goals and team spirit and has already set new records.

No Bayern player before him has scored as often in the first few games as he, who has already been top scorer at a World Cup and three times in the Premier League. Yet the 30-year-old striker is anything but a vain superstar, surprising football fans with his down-to-earth and modest demeanour.

In this book you will find all the information about his career in England and as a pillar of the England national team, as well as everything you need to know about his brilliant start with the German record champions and what moves the player off the pitch.

The Author

Ronny Blaschke, born in 1981, is a journalist and author who specialises in political issues in sport for DEUTSCHLANDFUNK, SÜDDEUTSCHE ZEITUNG and DEUTSCHE WELLE, among others. He incorporates the research for his books into political education, lectures, moderations and conferences. He also develops various information series. Blaschke has received several awards for his work.

The Work How can Football be decolonised? Ronny Blaschke wants to initiate a Debate

Racism in football is often reduced to neo-Nazis. But if you want to understand the causes, you must go back much further: Colonial powers such as England, France, Portugal and even Germany wanted to „civilise“ their subjects through sport. Their „racial doctrine“ has long since been refuted, but European superiority thinking persists to this day.

Thanks to many journeys and over 120 interviews, author Ronny Blaschke has succeeded in creating a book with many lively reports from very different countries: He has travelled to Brazil, Portugal, the USA, India, Namibia, Chile as well as France, England and Germany.

Journalist Ronny Blaschke travelled to five continents for the reports in this book. And he analyses structural racism in Europe: black people are seen as powerful athletes, but they are hardly given any opportunities as coaches or board members. Blaschke explains neo-colonial thinking in talent promotion, sponsorship and the media. And he introduces people who want to raise anti-racism to a new level.

The Authors

Felix Magath is an international German football manager and former player. He is one of the few of the Bundesliga who have become German football champions both as a player and as a coach.

Harald Kaiser was born in 1957 in Nuremberg. After graduating from high school, he studied English, Latin and history before chance (or fate?) led him to kicker. During his almost 40 years as an editor, he reported on ten World and European Championships, among other things. He now works as a freelance author and writer.

The Work Felix Magath, also called “the Persecutor”, openly looks back at his Career

Felix Magath, recently manager of the Berlin Herta, has previously been training greatest German football teams like the Bayern Munich and international ones like the British Fulham, the Japanese Sagan Tosu or the Chinese Chandong.

His great ambition and challenging training methods earned him the nickname „Quälix“ which means „the persecutor“.

Magath has indeed always strived for excellence as his successful former player career both at the HSC (Hamburg Sport Association) and in the German national team shows.

This biography, written together with Harald Kaiser, lets Magath present himself and share his thoughts about football in his very own way: independently, unconventionally and without shying away from controversy.

- > The biography of an internationally-known football figure
- > Co-written by an experienced football author
- > Felix Magath, also called “the persecutor”, presents himself
- > A straightforward tone without doublespeak true to Magath’s personality

Dietrich Schulze-Marmeling is an German author best known for his books on football, including on the history of the World Cup or on the greatest German football clubs. In 2011, his work FC Bayern and its Jews was voted Football Book of the Year. He is active in the local sports club TuS Altenberge as a youth coordinator, a member of Borussia Dortmund and an appointed member of the German Academy for Football Culture as well.

Hubert Dahlkamp is a teacher and writer. He has been a co-author of numerous books on the history of sport, including the Football World Cup and the Tour de France.

The Work The 1974 World Cup and its most legendary Moments

What a joyful thrill when Franz Beckenbauer lifted the trophy to the sky in 1974! The well-deserved 2-1 victory over the Dutch was the crowning glory of a World Cup in Germany that made history. Some 50 years later, the expert duo Dahlkamp/ Schulze-Marmeling revives the historic football fever.

They tell the stories of legendary players such as Johan Cruyff and Berti Vogts and review their own personal football highlights. They also take a look at political and social events that kept the Germans on their toes away from the stadiums.

In 1974, it was not only the stadiums that were buzzing. Alongside the terror of the RAF and the resignation of Willy Brandt, a spirit of optimism and new musical trends shaped West German society. With great narrative skill, the authors combine World Cup history, political events and cultural history to create a coherent retrospective of very special times. The result is a World Cup book that will not only make the hearts of die-hard football fans beat faster!

The Authors

Justin Kraft, born in 1993, is the author of several books on the FC Bayern and writes for Focus Online, Spox/goal.com and n-tv.de. He also regularly writes articles about female football for web.de.

Alina Ruprecht, born in 1999, was born in Munich and study politics and European Studies. She writes for 90min.de and EXPRESS.de about Female-Bundesliga and international football.

The Work How the Development of female Football is shaping the Future of Football?

Spectator record in Barcelona (over 90.000 during the Champion League), foundation by Natalie Portman of the new female football club “Angel City FC”, continuous increase of female football spectators in German stadiums... On top of that, the success of the UEFA Women’s Euro 2022 which brought female football to another level. Are the women finally becoming the attention they deserve?

The two expert authors Justin Kraft and Alina Ruprecht have interviewed football experts, female players and football manager like the famous Laura Freigang (Eintracht Frankfurt) or Ralf Kellermann (VfL Wolfsburg) to better know.

The result? This book which offers, up to now, an overview of the stand of play of female football in Germany, Europe and in the USA.

The Authors

Dietrich Schulze-Mameling and Hardy Grüne are football experts and write books for Verlag Die Werkstatt since many years. They have published the successful book “The Gold Age of the German Football” (Das goldene Buch des deutschen Fußballs), among others.

The Work 120 Years of Football and History

The spanish record master Real Madrid is also the most successful football club worldwide.

This book looks back at its proud 120 years of existence, which was as exciting as surprising. The club indeed played a great role during the Spanish civil war while it was close to collapse. Even more amazing, the club, called the “White Ballet” at that time, came back to life in the 50’s partly because of the colour of the player’s jersey and their specific way of playing.

Sportly speaking, many pitfalls had to be avoided as well. The club had to beat the FC Barcelona to outshine the Spanish Primera Division. The Real Madrid got the title late 2009 again and won since then five Champion league titles of the 33 international titles it was awarded of. The expert authors Dietrich Schulze-Marmeling and Hardy Grüne made extensive research about that time to make us live, or relive, a thrilling chapter football history.

- > The thrilling story of the Real Madrid and its role during history told by passionate football experts
- > Includes performance and records of beloved football players such as Alfredo di Stefano, Ferenc Puskas, Zinedine Zidane, David Beckham, Ronaldo, Luka Modric, Karim Benzema and Toni Kroos
- > A book for all fans of great football

The Author

Raimund Simmet, born in 1968, is a master hairdresser and owns salons in Munich. He has also been a Bayern fan since the mid-1970s. More than 17 years ago, Simmet began to trace Bayern jerseys with the help of a computer programme. The result is this book.

The Work All Models from 1900 until today

It is hard to believe, but until now no book has been published on the history of the F.C. Bayern Munich jersey. Thanks to this book it's not the case anymore!

During decades of highly intensive work, Raimund Simmet has collected 1270 different jerseys of his favourite football club and have graphically recreated them paying great attention to detail.

Yes, you guessed it well: this book is not just the presentation of a collection but also a true piece of history. Could you imagine that the "Reds" could have been called the "Blue" ones in the past?

- > The first book collecting all jerseys of the FC Bayern
- > A true page of history packed with several anecdotes
- > For all fans who want to know more about the club

The Author

Christoph Bausenwein, born in 1959, was already a fan of the club (1. FC Nürnberg) in the 1967/68 championship season. He has published so many football titles for the publishing house Die Werkstatt: numerous non-fiction books and biographies, including the classic Mystery Football. Bausenwein always manages to write grippingly, in an extremely readable way and knows exactly how to pepper his books with wonderful side stories.

The Work An unmissable Reading for all Fans

Thrills, honest work, sensational victories: that's Borussia Dortmund!

BVB fascinates millions of fans far beyond the Ruhr region and Germany. This is shown in the 160 pages of this compacted book and through the powerful pictures of the club's highlight.

The history of this traditional club is told from its beginnings in 1909 through the Jürgen Klopp era to the present day.

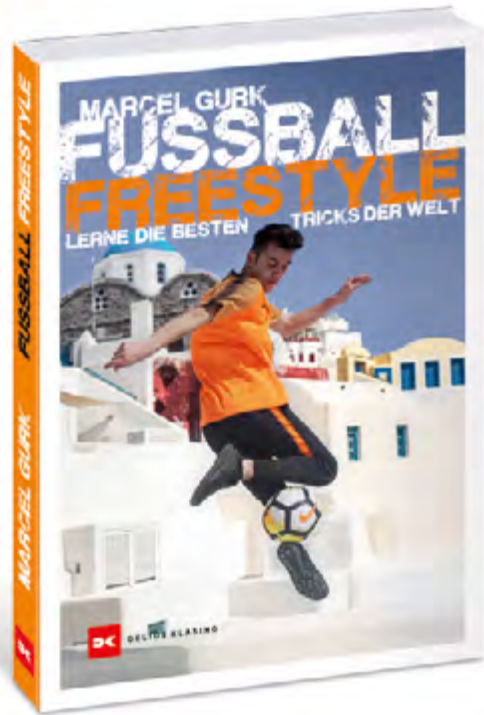

In addition, there are fascinating digressions about the fans, the stadiums, the derbies against „Herne-West“ and much more, not forgetting of course the best BVB players of all time.

- > A football club acclaimed internationally
- > Highly illustrated to relive the best moment of the club
- > Packed with lot of information and anecdotes

The Author

Daniel Müksch, born in 1980, is a graduate of the Burda School of Journalism (Münich) and first worked as a writer for Focus, Playboy and Bunte. He then worked as a sports editor for the Germans newspaper Münchner Merkur and tz. Müksch is a former tennis player.

The Work The Biography of the successful but unloved Tennis Player

After a tense match against Daniil Medvedev, Rafael Nadal won the 2021 Australian Open. But how the tennis history would have looked like if Novak Djokovic had been vaccinated and could have participate to the 2022 Australian Open?

Very topical, this biography of Novak Djokovic tends to answer this question and depict the unique story of a player who had to fight all his life, first to stay alive during the Bosnian war of 1992/95 and then to be recognized as an unmissable international tennis player.

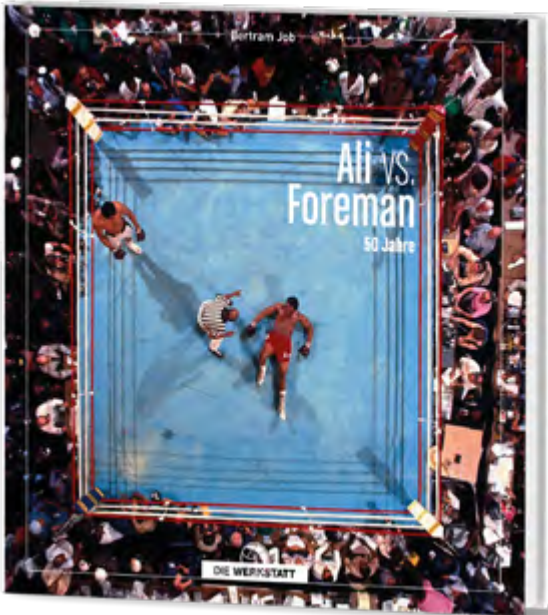

A book which brings a new perspective to the unloved but exceptional tennis player, who stayed longer than Federer or Nadal at the top of the world rankings and won 21 Grand Slams as of today -just one less as Nadal.

- > The first comprehensive biography of the exceptional professional
- > Packed with lot of information about the childhood of the player

He has also published a series of specialised books on football and boxing, in which he deals with the social environment of athletes and provides insights ‘behind the scenes’. He wrote a biography of Henry Maske and was responsible for Maske and Axel Schulz’s press work for many years.

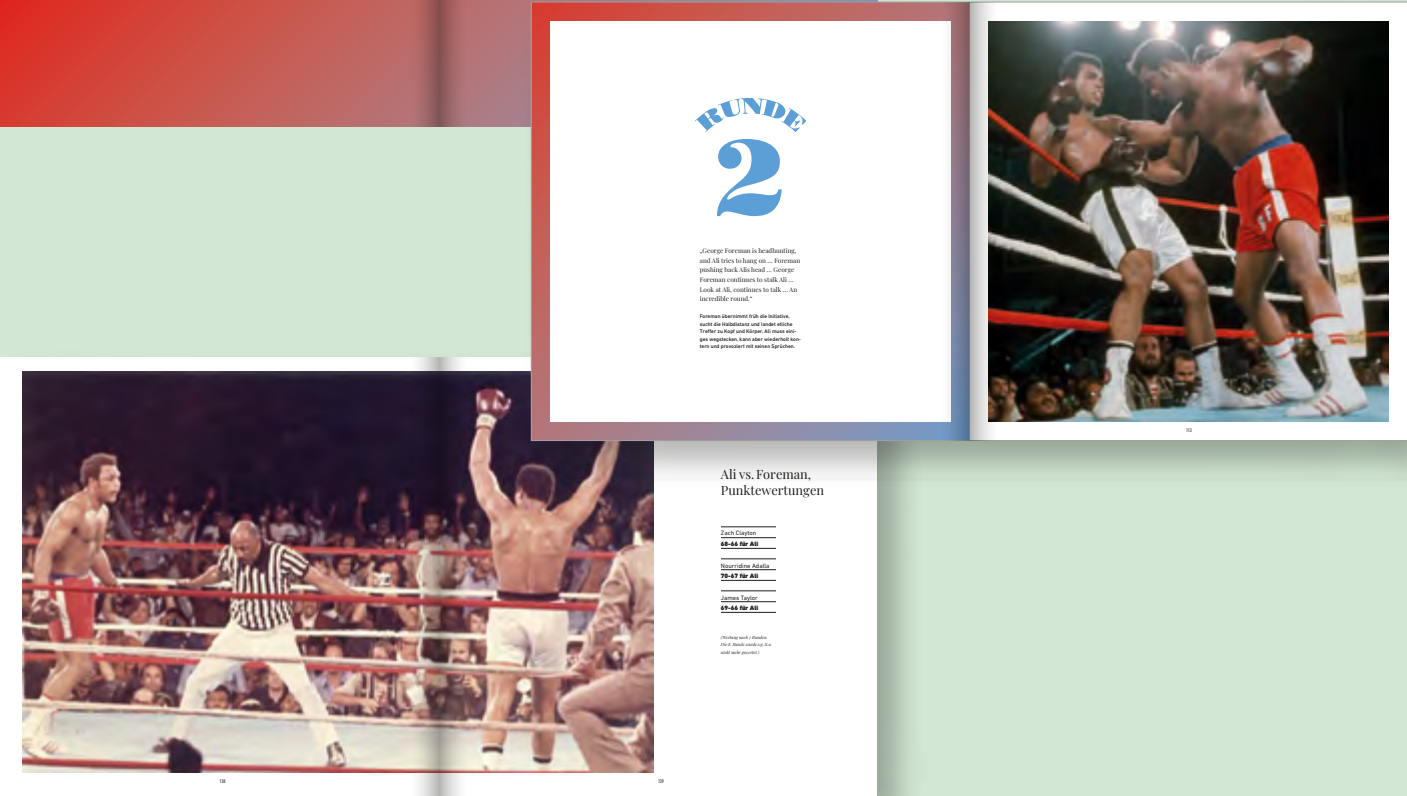

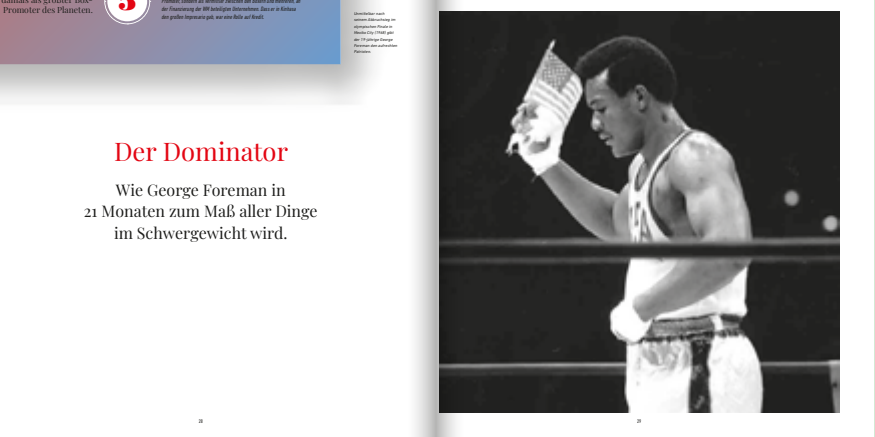

The Work The legendary ‘Rumble in the Jungle’ – Muhammad Ali defeats George Foreman

30 October 2024 marks the 50th anniversary of one of the most spectacular and surprising world championship fights in the modern history of professional boxing. The 32-year-old Muhammad Ali was considered spent and without a chance when he challenged the seven years younger, previously unbeaten knockout king and heavyweight champion George Foreman. In fact, he won the epochal fight of the century, which made history as the ‘Rumble in the Jungle’, becoming world champion for the second time in the packed football stadium in Kinshasa. The memorable day was heralded by a festival of African culture; it was overseen by the dictator Mobutu and has also entered culture in a variety of ways – from Norman Mailer’s famous non-fiction book ‘The Fight’ to pop songs and later documentaries and feature films. It is therefore no exaggeration to speak of a milestone in world sport.

This richly illustrated and exquisitely designed volume retells the event with short texts, quotes from contemporary witnesses, documents from the media and emotional photos.

The Author

Max Marquardt is a journalist, photographer and instructor. He caught the cycling bug at the age of 12. He started with BMX and later switched to racing bikes. As an experienced magazine journalist (Focus, Vice, Playboy, Freeman's World, among others), he has since launched his own cycling webzine, Cleat Magazine.

The Work A gravel bike adventure through historic France and Belgium

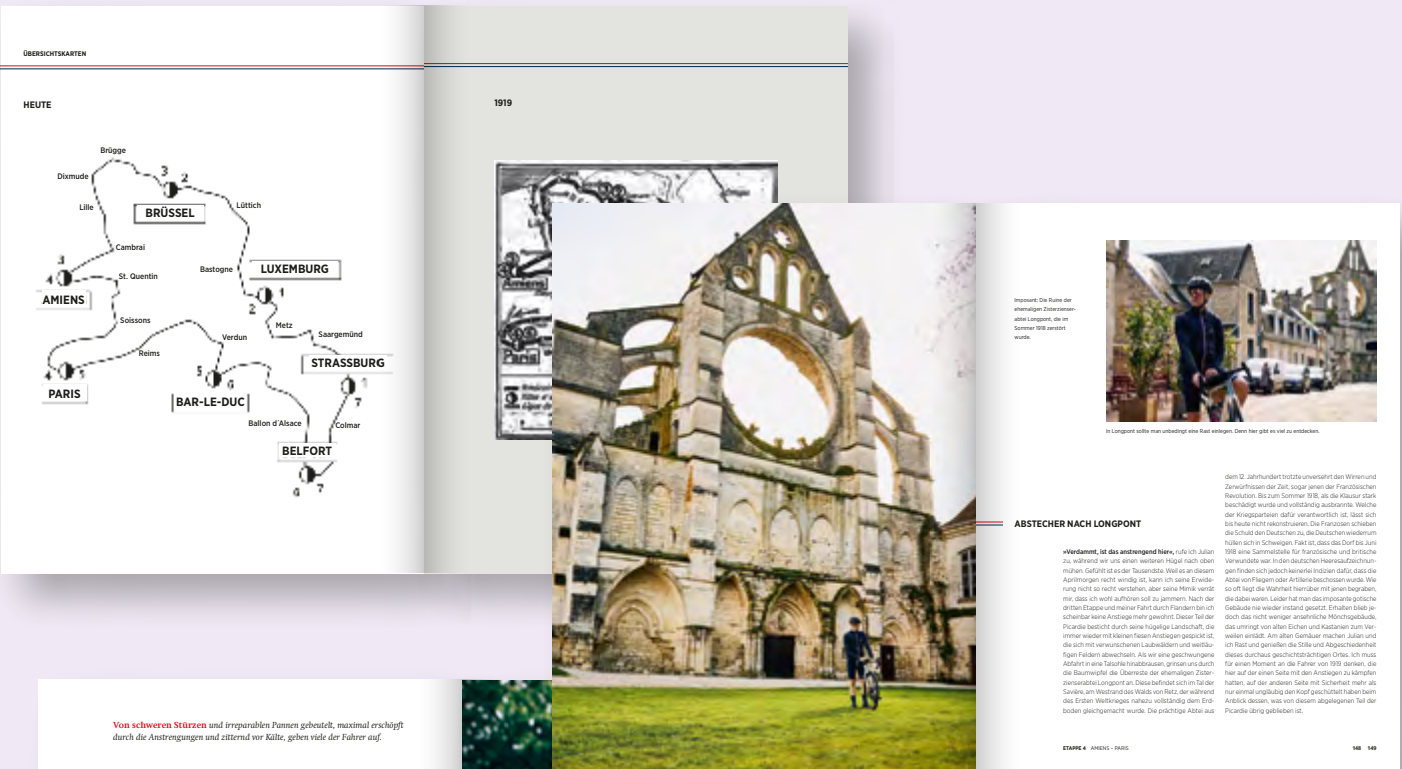

The „Tour of the Battlefields“, which was held once only in 1919, is largely forgotten today. But its story is told as the toughest stage race of all time. Journalist and author Max Marquardt follows in its footsteps on a gravel bike. Stage by stage, he sets out to rediscover the beautiful scenery and culinary delights of today.

Numerous gravel tours take him through historic and picturesque landscapes, while he stops time and again at cosy accommodation, authentic restaurants, charming cafés or impressive sights.

This book is not only about cycling, but also about curiosity and enjoyment. It reflects on the legitimacy of cycling in regions that are inextricably linked to a tragic chapter in human history. Nevertheless, the bicycle takes centre stage and inspires you to plan your next holiday along the Circuit des Champs de Bataille.

- > The battlefields tour through the eyes of gravel bikers
- > Scenic and culinary treasures along the historic stages from 1919

The Authors

Bike enthusiast and well-known author Jochen Donner curated the testing department of the magazines TREKKINGBIKE and MyBike.

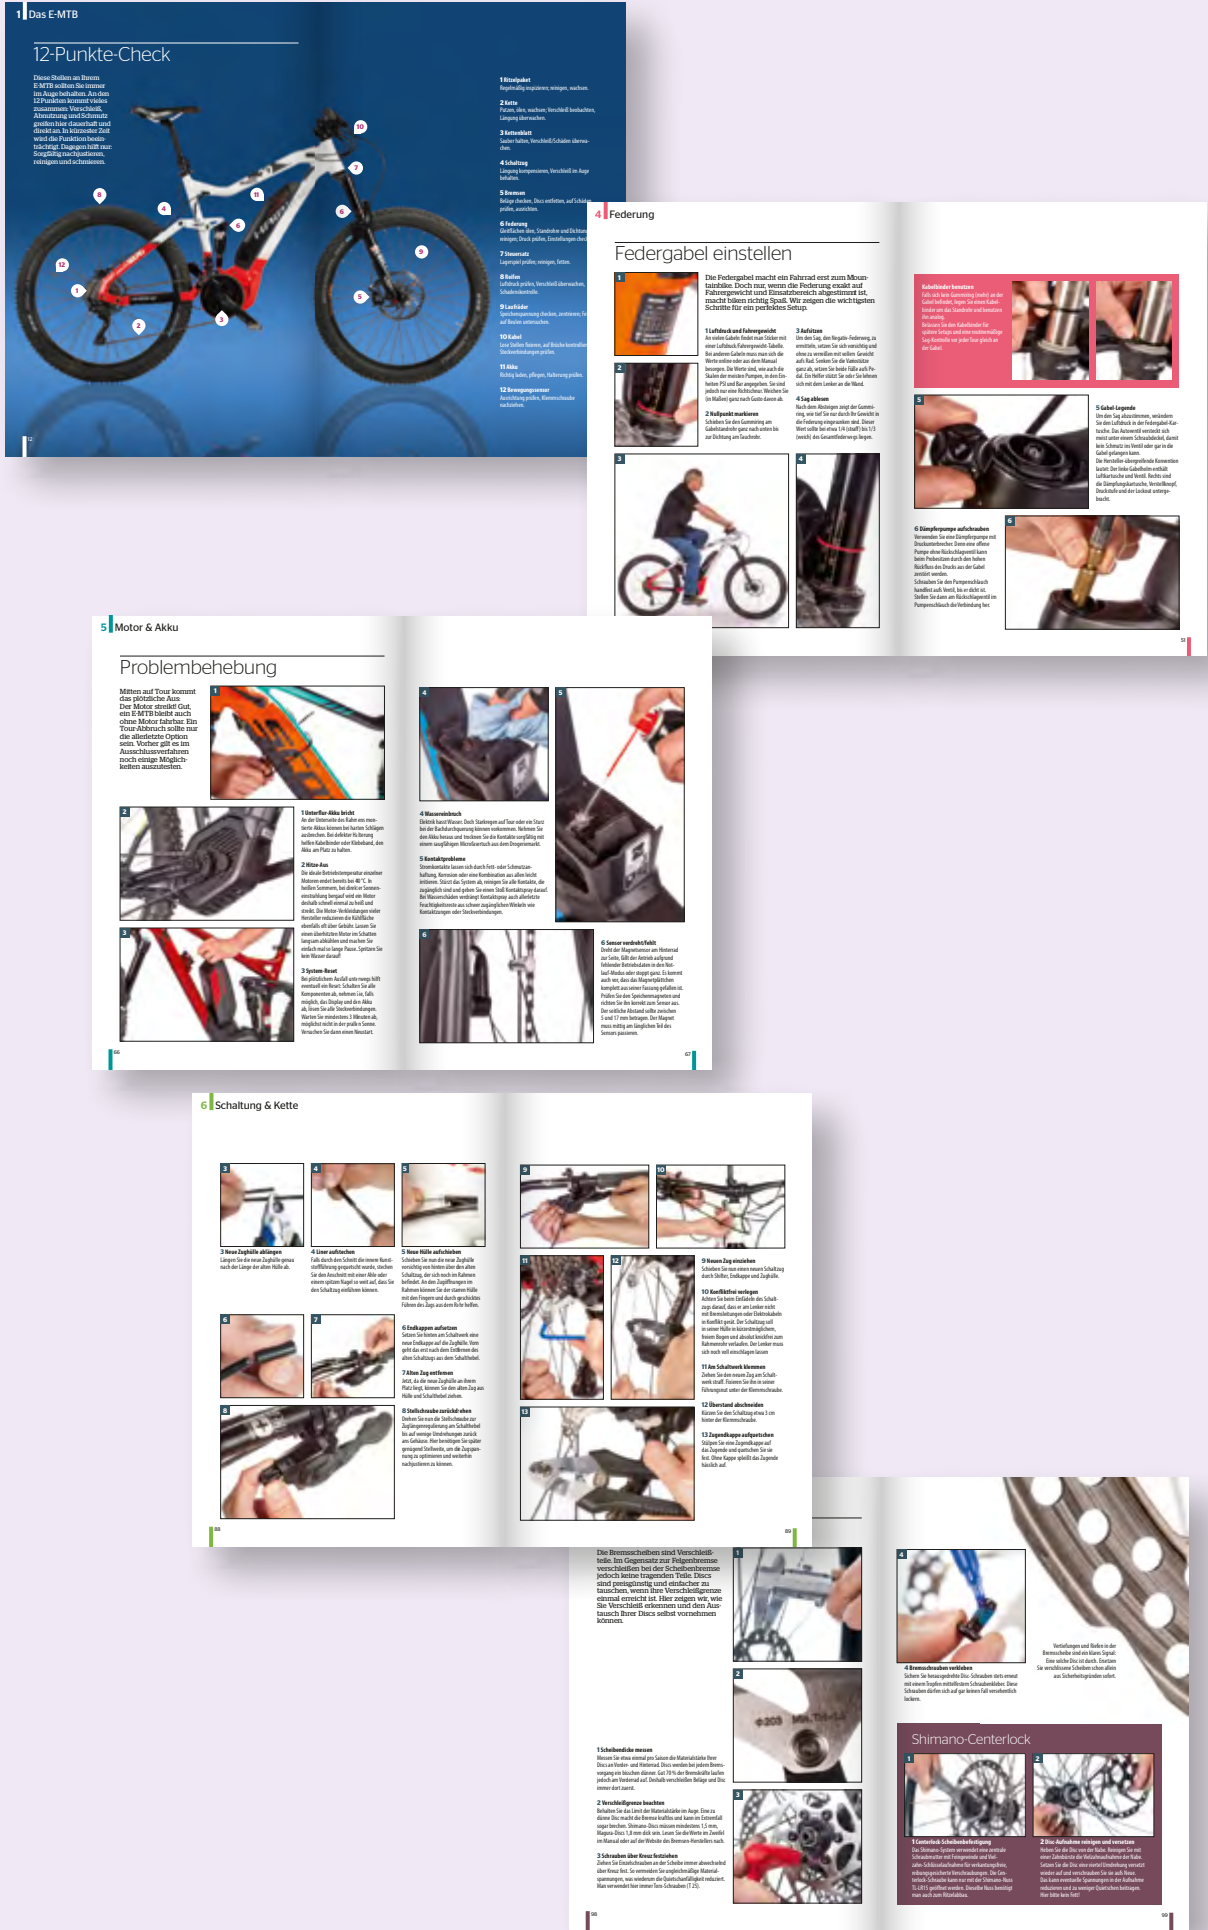

Daniel Simon takes care of photography and layout for the very same magazines. Both have published several books with Delius Klasing, most recently the very successful pocket guide series “Repairs on the Road“.

The Work E-MTB – how to lubricate, screw, fine-tune

A growing trend- E-MTB. For example, the quick and effective after work route to some mountain hut, a sporty MTB tour with the maybe less trained partner, a family trip with a kids-trailer, or a single trail surf uphill – E MTBiker will have 100% fun on each meter. To assure that the bike will stay in top form, a little bit of knowledge regarding electric technology, battery pack and drive is necessary.

Jochen Donner and Daniel Simon show that a neat battery, a perfect adjusted and carefully smeared bike technology, punctual changed expandable parts and the critical review of engine, brake systems and lightning as well as the aligning the wheel is no magic.

- How-to book that bundles useful information for both, newcomers and pros
- Numerous tips and tricks
- Helpful step-by-step instructions
- Many informative photos and graphics

The Author

Sebastian Moll lives as a cor-respondent and author in New York. His reportages and back-ground reports on US culture and society appear regularly in the Berliner Zeitung, Frankfurter Rundschau, ZEIT Online, FAZ, Cicero and the art magazine Monopol, among others. From 1998 to 2008, Sebastian Moll re-ported on cycling and the Tour de France. He accompanied the parallel careers of Jan Ullrich and Lance Armstrong from day one. His life from a competitive athlete's existence to a civilian one is also a personal for Moll. He was a competitive swimmer in the 1980s and was subse-quently looking for his new identity after his sports career.

The Work The moving Story of Germany's greatest Cycling Star

He was the first and only German to win the Tour de France in 1997 and rode his way into the hearts of cycling fans with Team Telekom. His thrilling duels with Lance Armstrong and Marco Pantani kept millions captivated by their TV screens. But then: doping scandal, career end, alcohol and drug failures. Jan Ullrich's crash is one of the most tragic in the history of sport. How could it have come to this? 25 years after the legendary Tour de France victory, Sebastian Moll tries to answer this question.

Almost overnight, Jan Ullrich went from being the nation's darling to a bad boy. Yet he was only representative of what had been going wrong in cycling for a long time. Sebastian Moll takes a different look at this tragic sportsman's biography. He analyses Ullrich's career in a benevolent and appreciative way and thus awakens understanding for the ups and downs of a top athlete whose unique talent was both a curse and a blessing.

Carina Wolfram is a freelance journalist who regularly writes articles for FAHRSTIL magazine and other magazines such as BOOTE, TOUR and SPOKE. Her book City-Camping was published by Delius Klasing Verlag in 2023.

Please note:
Heinz Stücker is available for

The Work More than 50 Years Cycling around the World

So what is it like being on the road for your entire adult life? Heinz Stücker from Hövelhof has experienced it. He was 22 years old when he left his home village in East Westphalia with his saddlebags packed and 73 when he returned for the first time. The incredible story of a nomadic life. Stücker cycled around the world for 51 years. He covered an incredible 648,000 kilometres and saw all 196 countries in the world.

At 18, Stücker travelled around the Mediterranean, signed on as a sailor on a ship and secretly went ashore on the Russian coast to cycle to Moscow and Vladivostok. He was repeatedly arrested by the militia and sent westwards on a train, but he always got off and travelled his own way through the Soviet Union. Only little later his plan is to travel to the Olympics in Tokyo. On his departure, Stücker has 300 US dollars and is so careful with his spending that he gets by on less than 1 US dollar a day. In Ethiopia, however, he is as good as empty when Haile Selassie, the Emperor of Abssinia, invites him to visit him and gives him 500 US dollars. A fortune which opened the door to new destinations.

Heinz Stücker told these and many other stories in a book about an almost unbelievable life on the road. The Netflix documentary „The Man who wanted to see it all“ has helped him achieve a certain fame in Germany since autumn 2022.

The Author

Richard Löwenherz, born in 1980, has been an enthusiastic adventure traveler for half his life with a preference for the wild and remote regions, such as Iceland, Belarus, Mongolia, Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan. Means of transport are e.g. the bicycle for maximum independence or the packraft backpack inflatable boat for the hidden wilderness routes. After several cycling tours through Russia and Central Asia, he has been increasingly drawn to the hard-to-reach wilderness areas of Northern Siberia and the Arctic Circle for several years.

The Work Chukotka is calling by Bike and Boat

Another extraordinary expedition by lonelytraveller Richard Löwenherz, who once again ventures the uncertain journey across remote Siberia, this time by bicycle and inflatable boat. It was his great longing destination: CHUKOTKA, the north-easternmost peak of Russia. Hardly any other part of the planet is as difficult to travel to as this one. With his fatbike, the adventurer sets off on wild gravel roads that are still not marked on any map. He is surprised by the early onset of winter, sits out snowstorms in his tent, escapes a bear attack at the last moment or participates in the archaic life of the Chukchi and their reindeer.

In the far north-east of Russia, in the middle of the Siberian tundra, lies the autonomous border region of Chukotka, one of the most remote and lonely regions in the world: the declared dream destination of extreme cyclist Richard Löwenherz, who became known far beyond the cycling travel blog scene as the lonely traveller with his first book. With a bike and a rubber dinghy in his luggage, the adventurer sets off in the short East Siberian summer to what feels like the end of the world and travels through one of the most inaccessible parts of Siberia.

- > Thrilling travelogue and unique photos by extreme cyclist and solo traveller Richard Löwenherz

Jürgen Lewandowski writes on cars and luxury brand cars since the 70's. He regularly works for newspapers like auto motor und sport or Porsche Klassik and authored several titles on cars by Delius Klasing.

The Photographers

Markus Bolsinger, a photographer who specialises in automotive photography and has received several awards for his work, has photographed many car book projects (particularly for Mercedes and Porsche). René Staud has been one of the most sought-after automotive photographers for five decades and is considered one of the most innovative in the industry with his Car Art.

The Work Mercedes-Benz 300 SLR, the most expensive Car in the World!

The headline was all over the media in 2022: a Mercedes 300 SLR, known as the 'Uhlenhaut Coupé', was auctioned off for 135 million euros, making it the most valuable car in the world. There are only two examples of the coupé made famous by Rudolf Uhlenhaut in 1955 in the world, the other of which can be seen in the Mercedes-Benz Museum. The car became legendary due to the fact that it offered outstanding performance but was never used in a planned race.

Instead, Uhlenhaut used one of the cars as a company car and apparently covered the 220 kilometres between Stuttgart and Munich in just one hour – quite a feat with an engine output of 300 hp and a kerb weight of just under one tonne. Even today, the key data of this early 'hypercar' are still impressive. All facets of the 300

SLR are illuminated in this magnificent large-format book, starting with the exquisite photographs by René Staud and Markus Bolsinger and rounded off with the knowledgeable texts by Jürgen Lewandowski and Gerhard Heidbrink.

The Authors

Sabine Kehm started as sports editor of the Süddeutsche Zeitung. In 1999, she was hired as press spokeswoman for the world champion. From 2006, she worked as head of communications for Ferrari in Central and Eastern Europe. She has been managing Michael Schumacher since 2010 and is also looking after the Schumacher family following his skiing accident in December 2013.

Elmar Brümmer is a high-profile motorsport journalist. His reports and portraits appear in leading newspapers such as Süddeutsche Zeitung, Neue Zürcher Zeitung and stern. He prefers to write about what moves him: people and motors.

The Work The cars of the world champion

Among the „relics“ of past Formula 1 world championships, the winning cars occupy a very special position. Only when driver and car complement each other perfectly, when they form a kind of symbiosis, does the exceptional performance succeed. And even if the driver has long since moved on years and decades later, the cars remain as a snapshot of the victory. The seven cars in which Michael Schumacher won his world championship titles between 1994 and 2004 bear witness to his development from champion to serial winner.

However, they are still a document of an exceptional driver whose performance has never been equalled. In exquisite studio photography, this volume shows the world champion cars, which are still surrounded by a special aura. In this book, Schumacher's manager Sabine Kehm and Süddeutsche author Elmar Brümmer take a closer look at the phenomenon that is Michael Schumacher - the driver, but also the man behind him. With a foreword by the current exceptional driver Lewis Hamilton.

The Work The Story behind a legendary Prototype

Work This book tells the fascinating story of the legendary Volkswagen Beetle. For a long time, it was considered certain that all prototypes of the Beetle had been scrapped. But then an incredible discovery was made in an Austrian scrapyard: parts that clearly belonged to the „VW 30“ model were found. These prototypes were built between 1936 and 1938 and covered around two million test kilometres. They were therefore of crucial importance for the later success of the Beetle, which was built over 21 million times between 1938 and 2003. The expert and collector Christian Grundmann took on the found parts and began an elaborate reconstruction. He trawled through the archives of Porsche AG, the Volkswagen factory and the Mercedes archive, collected private photos from all over the world and even found construction drawings. He was assisted by VW designer Andreas Mindt, who interpreted the historical photos and produced new drawings to recreate the Beetle's chassis.

He headed the Tradition department at Recaro Holding GmbH in Stuttgart for six years before taking over the management of the Porsche AG corporate archive at the beginning of 2018. He has already published various books with Delius Klasing.

Thomas Ammann is a book author, was former deputy editor-in-chief at STERN magazine and is co-editor-in-chief of the Porsche customer magazine CHRISTOPHORUS.

The Work Discovery of a Porsche legend with the rebirth of No. 5006

It was considered lost for almost six decades, but now it shines in new splendour: the Porsche 356 with chassis number 5006, one of the first seven Porsche sports cars produced in Stuttgart.

In 2013, a mysterious phone call leads Thomas König and Oliver Schmidt to an overgrown garden near Bremen. The person on the phone claims that „the oldest Porsche“ is there. Research reveals that there is indeed more than just any old Porsche resting here. In a spectacular rescue operation, the pair unearth the automotive treasure and painstakingly restore the classic car to the condition in which it left the Zuffenhausen factory in 1950.

Thomas König and Oliver Schmidt from the Prototyp car museum in Hamburg have been collecting rare Porsches for years. But the rediscovery of the gleaming red Porsche 356 Coupé is one of the most amazing finds of their career.

In this incredible story of a resurrection, the report is supplemented by numerous documents from the archive. All the steps were captured in photographs. A film-like story with a happy ending and a real treasure for every Porsche fan.

The Photographer

Stefan Bogner is not only a photographer, but also the creative mind and successful author of the CURVES series. His books Cars & Curves, Porsche Drive and numerous other Porsche books have also been published by Delius Klasing.

The Work The Woodstock for Racing Cars – The Porsche Racing Reunion

The „Porsche Rennsport Reunion“ in the USA is a unique event at which historic Porsche racing cars are brought to life on famous circuits. Every three to five years, Porsche organises this spectacular gathering, at which virtually everything that has ever raced with the Porsche crest on circuits or rally courses can be seen - and all in action!

For many motorsport fans, the Rennsport Reunion is therefore nothing less than the „Woodstock of Motorsport“.

The seventh edition of the Rennsport Reunion took place at the end of September 2023 at the legendary Laguna Seca racetrack in California.

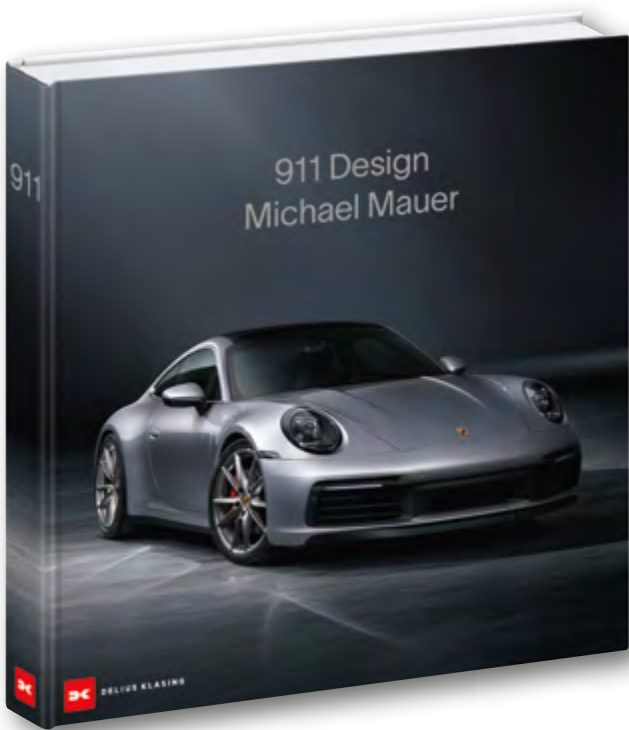

Photographer Stefan Bogner is on site to capture the action on the track and in the pit lane up close. Porsche expert Thomas Ammann provides interesting information, background, and technical data.

The Work The fascinating History of the Porsche Carrera GT's Design

Originally planned for motorsport, just by lucky chance the Carrera GT ended up on the road: its technical data speaks for itself. The V10 naturally aspirated engine was a masterpiece of Porsche designers, while the chassis got its finishing touches through the fine tuning by rallye world champion Walter Röhrl.

This richly illustrated Porsche book presents the high-speed sportscar (topspeed 330 km/h) to the detail. A beautiful gift for car lovers who want to study the vehicle in all its particulars.

A body of carbon-fibre-reinforced polymers, carbon-ceramic brakes, the pushrod suspension system: a lot of things distinguish the Porsche Carrera GT from other sportscars. The extra fact book compiles all information on this car – and

The Work A German Car Brand celebrates its Anniversary

Opel is one of the oldest car manufacturers - the patent motor car „System Lutzmann“ in 1899 marked the beginning of a success story that continues to this day. Adam Opel originally started out building sewing machines and bicycles. With the mass production of motor vehicles, which were always affordable even for average earners, Opel finally consolidated its reputation as a reliable car manufacturer and technical innovator.

This anniversary volume presents 125 automotive milestones from 125 years of Opel: from the „Doktorwagen“ and the „Laubfrosch“ to the „Opel Kadett“, the „Opel Kapitän“ and the „Admiral“ to the „GT Concept“ and the „Opel Manta GSe“. Main protagonists from the brand's past and present have their say - and of course the fans, whose bond has been legendary not only since the Manta mania of the 1990s. This richly illustrated Opel book exclusively presents the car and motor-sport history from Rüsselsheim - written by brand expert Harald Hamprecht. The perfect gift for all Opel fans!

DISRUPTION IS PART OF OPEL'S GENES

Adam Opel and his family are a testament to disruption, regularly reinventing the company - with sewing machines, bicycles, motorcycles and, from 1899, automobiles.

Opel and Adam Opel married on November 17, 1868 - 16 years after Adam built his first sewing machine.

In 1868, 100 workers produced 8,000 sewing machines.

Production period: 1911-1914
Model: Opel Kadett
Engine: 1.6 liter, 16 HP
Top speed: 100 km/h
Body: 4-door sedan

In 1911, Opel introduced the Kadett, a four-door sedan with a 1.6-liter engine. It was the first Opel car to be produced in the new factory in Rüsselsheim. The Kadett was a success story for Opel, as it was the first car to be sold in large numbers. It was also the first car to be sold in the United States.

RACY STUFF FROM RÜSSELSHEIM

Opel design chief Chuck Jordan and his team were encouraged by the enthusiastic response to the experimental GT. Their new mission was to delight the masses once again and to continue building the Opel image. In response they presented the next hit at the IAA in September 1988: The breathtaking styling study CD Concept, a thoroughbred Gran Turismo.

The CD Concept was a two-seater sports car with a wedge-shaped front end and a large, rounded rear end. It was the first Opel car to be designed by a non-German designer. It was also the first Opel car to be designed by a woman.

The Work Audi's Success Story at the 24 Hours of Le Mans

When the first Audi R8 finished on the podium at Le Mans in 1999, it was a respectable success. The first overall victory followed a year later with a triumphant one-two-three. By 2016, the racing cars with the four rings had taken twelve more victories and put the fear of the competition into the world's toughest car race.

On the occasion of the 100th anniversary of the legendary 24-hour race, the reading and illustrated book „Audi at Le Mans“ presents a fast-paced journey into the past. In impressive pictures and with a lot of background knowledge from the factory archives, a piece of Audi history is told here in a completely new and exciting way.

Audi knew how to use the 24 Hours of Le Mans as a stage for new technologies. The Ingolstadt company lived up to its slogan Vorsprung durch Technik: the fast Audi models left the competition behind. The first victory of a vehicle with diesel and hybrid technology also goes to the account of the German car brand. This illustrated book portrays the impressive brand history from 1999 to the WEC retirement in 2016.

The Work Unique Insights into the Audi Archive

Every large car manufacturer creates an archive of its most important models at some point in the company's history. The history of the Audi brand goes back to the 19th century. The automotive treasure is accordingly huge, encompassing several brands: in addition to Audi, Horch, NSU, DKW, Wanderer and Auto Union.

The Audi archive comprises an impressive collection that is not usually accessible to normal visitors. In addition to regular series models, it is mainly one-offs that can be found here: Audi prototypes, test vehicles, never realised studies. In addition, there are Audis from prominent previous owners, custom-built models and racing cars. With this opulent illustrated book, Audi opens its hall gates for the first time and lets us share in the fascinating range of its brand history.

In order to document the extremely comprehensive and extensive archives of Audi AG, in-house photographer Stefan Warter spent several days in the „holy halls“. Special Audi models are examined in more detail in exciting essays. A visually breathtaking journey through the history of Audi!

The Photographer

The Irish photographer Edward Quinn (1920-1997) lived and worked on the Côte d'Azur since the 1950s, where stars, managers, aristocracy and artists met in the „Golden Fifties“. Quinn's sensitive photos of Brigitte Bardot, Sophia Loren, Grace Kelly, Marlon Brando, Cary Grant, Aristotle Onassis and many more date from this period. His passion also included photographing the world's most famous car races.

Quinn's nephew and heir Wolfgang Frei founded the Edward Quinn Archive AG in 2012 and now takes care of the extensive holdings.

The Work Formula 1 History at the Circuit de Monaco

The Monaco Grand Prix is considered one of the most demanding races in Formula 1. Constant gear changes and the slowest corner in the world championship have always demanded everything from the racing drivers.

Edward Quinn captured the most famous car race in the world from 1950 to 1965 in numerous photos. In his recordings, the well-known Formula 1 track is presented with almost no crash barriers and run-off zones, without advertising posters and sponsor logos. Many of his pictures are now combined for the first time in a large format illustrated book. Accompanied by short descriptions and background information, they give a fascinating insight into the motorsport history of that time.

The Work Ferrari for advanced Drivers

This is a portrait of a Ferrari legend from the 80s. The quality of some sports cars can be deduced from their famous owners. With the Ferrari 288 GTO there are even three Formula 1 drivers among them: Michele Alboreto, Keke Rosberg and Niki Lauda. Sheer coincidence? Unlikely. When in 1984 Ferrari presented the GTO, its racing look and forceful performance data attracted numerous customers. But just 272 of the Italian sports car were built within two years. The last one was handed over personally by Enzo Ferrari to Niki Lauda. In spite of all that the 288 GTO was never used as a racing car. Although its tubular steel frame, the longitudinally mounted twin turbo V8 and 400 PS made it competitive. Even today it achieves top prices at auctions. In this fine box renowned photographers capture the classy design vocabulary of the 288 GTO and present some of the rare originals in a large-format illustrated book. The extra factbook with texts by brand expert Jürgen Lewandowski gives all the information on the rare Ferrari classic.

Jürgen Lewandowski writes on cars and luxury brand cars since the 70's. He regularly works for newspapers like auto motor und sport or Porsche Klassik and authored several titles on cars by Delius Klasing.

The Work Rediscovery and Restoration of an early Porsche 901, the Precursor of the Porsche 911

It sounds like a fairy tale or a well-invented story: In April 1964, a blue car roars past the young Alois Ruf, which he later identifies as a pre-production model of the Porsche 901. This awakened in him a fascination for this sports car. When his father gives him his first 901 a few years later - a car with minor accident damage that also happens to be blue - he thinks nothing of it. He drives it, at some point the car is parked in a shady spot and almost forgotten. Just for a while afterwards.

The story of the 901, however, does not leave Alois Ruf behind. He begins a complete restoration, does some research, and can hardly believe what he discovers: His car was an early test car that passed through the hands of Ferdinand Piëch and Hans Mezger. To be precise, it is the sixth 901 ever built, making it not only a central piece of 901 and 911 history, but also the very car that raced past young Alois Ruf at the time. Like a fairy tale - but true.

Legendary are René Staud's Porsche photos. As one of the best and most famous automobile photographers worldwide he staged the top-class sports cars in a matchless direct manner. Beyond the racing track's noise and dirt, the Porsche models unfold their unique magic and show the tough developmental work behind them as well as the timelessness of functional design!

The Work Porsche Racing Cars on Stage

Porsche and motorsport always belonged together. But in fact, private persons were the first to be successful with their 356s on the racing tracks. The Porsche 550 Spyder from the 1950s was the first racing car manufactured at the plant - and achieved great successes right from the beginning!

Motorsport not only gave Porsche the opportunity to test progressive technology that could be transferred to roadsters, it also was the ideal marketing tool with an enormous influence. Looking back at models like the Porsche 917, 904 and 956, successful serial winners and racing legends emerged from that.

The Work The Evolution of a Comfort Limousine

The first comprehensive book about one of the most successful Porsches, from the initial ideas of the 1950s to the present day – right up to the current Panamera, which is the Porsche of preference in many countries of the world, both as a limousine and in the form of the Panamera Sport Turismo. To this day, there is no sports car that masters the balancing act between performance and comfort more successfully. Together with the Cayenne and Macan models, the Panamera is conquering markets and customers that previously seemed unreachable for Porsche with its two-door sports cars. This book traces the history and development of the Panamera and provides an overview of all model variants and vintages. Interviews with the design and development team round off the illustrated book.

The Photographer/The Author

Stefan Bogner studied industrial design and founded the design studio „fpm factor product“ München in 1994. He works for brand companies such as Porsche, Alois Dallmayr, MairDumont and Bayerischer Rundfunk. He gained a lot of international design prizes. In 2016, his „Stefan Bogner Creative Studio“ comes into being. He mainly focuses on the automotive, sports, travelling, food and hospitality sectors.

The South African Glen Smale began his career as a motoring journalist and photographer. In 1999, he took over the editorship of a new online motoring publication in England. Between 2004 and 2016, he has written 13 books on sports cars and motorsport. In 2007, he received the „Design Writer of the Year“ award from Laurin and Klement. Since 2005 he has been writing for the TOTAL 911 MAGAZINE and for the Porsche magazine EXCELLENCE. He has made the subject of Porsche his passion.

The Work A purist Sports Car for Road and Track

This car is legendary: with the 1500 RS Spyder, as this car was officially called, Porsche began building cars specially designed for racing in 1953. In 1956, Umberto Maglioli achieved the first ever overall motorsport victory for Porsche at the Targa Florio. Numerous other victories and podium finishes were to follow. Only a little over 100 Spyder cars were built until 1957, which today makes it one of the most expensive Porsches ever. This is not least due to its most famous owner: James Dean's tragic accidental death was in a 550 Spyder - both are immortal till today.

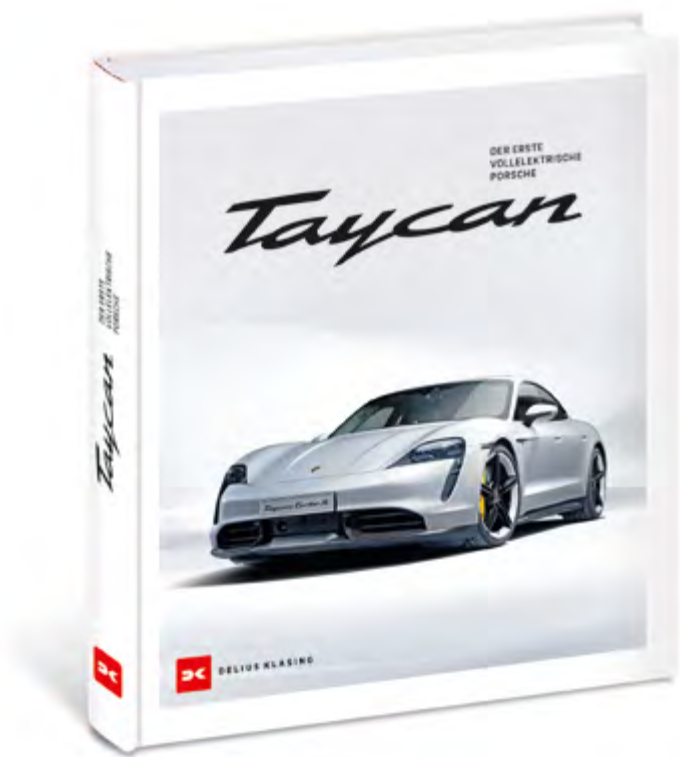

Stefan Bogner has created a large-format illustrated book in a stylish box. A separate fact book summarises all the known and less known background information on this model.

Today he is a full-time author and journalist specialized in motorbike technology and travel. Numerous trips have taken him to Canada, Scandinavia, Scotland and Tasmania.

The Work The classic Handbook of Motorbike Repair updated and up to Date

The „Motorbike Mechanic's Handbook“ has already provided generations of motorbike fans with valuable help in maintaining and repairing their two-wheelers. How does an engine basically work? How do you recognise a worn clutch? What are the sources of faults in electronic engine management?

Motorbike technology, motorbike care, material science and essential basics: the tried and tested classic explains to motorcyclists in a generally understandable and witty way everything they need to know about technology, maintenance and repair of their vehicle.

When the first edition of this classic for motorbike mechanics appeared in 1988, there were only hard-to-read reference books on vehicle and engine technology.

The mechanic's manual filled a gap and quickly became a biker's bible. The revised, updated and supplemented new edition is state of the art, for example on electronic engine management, ABS systems and the latest in materials science.

The Work On two Wheels through thick and thin. The Success Story of Enduros

At the beginning of the 1970s, the first „enduros“ designed specifically for off-road use were created. The Yamaha XT 500, which was presented in 1975, can be regarded as an original and trendsetter. With its striking red and silver appearance and excellent off-road characteristics, it quickly attracted a large fan base. Today, the once rough off-road machines have become long-distance touring enduros that belong to the most popular motorbike genre of all. In his book, Dirk Mangartz takes us through the history of these all-rounders, takes a look at their technology, gives an overview of the models on offer and provides riding tips. The Work Storm in a Cocktail Glass – Sundowners for every Occasion

Discover a variety of cocktails that have been specially developed for the good times on board. From well-known classics to exciting new discoveries – there's something for every taste. And best of all, the drinks are quick and easy to mix, without any extra frills. But there are also great alternatives for those who prefer non-alcoholic drinks.

The special thing about this cocktail book is that it is organised by wind force. When there is no wind, the drinks are generally mixed without alcohol, but with even more flavour. If there is a light breeze, you can also enjoy a second or third glass.

However, caution is advised in the event of a typhoon or an okan – these drinks should only be enjoyed in moderation to avoid any nasty surprises the next day.

Written and photographed with a wink and a lot of expertise, this cocktail book is an absolute must for every pantry. It not only offers great recipe ideas, but also tips and variations to delight both the palate and the eye. Whether as a gift or for personal use – every cocktail lover will find the perfect accompaniment for relaxing hours on board.

The Work Clever Recipes on the Road: varied Cooking on the Campsite

Travelling flexibly, stopping as you please and enjoying boundless freedom - holidays in a caravan have many advantages. But cooking in the tight camping kitchen or on the gas cooker in front of the tent doesn't have to be so complicated! Cook and food journalist Ira König shows how you can conjure up delicious dishes on the camping table quickly and easily. These camping recipes require no more than five ingredients that can be bought everywhere, a little passion and a pinch of creativity. This makes quick holiday cooking fun! Practical and delicious recipes for every day and every occasion are shown here: Whether fresh salads, simple One Pot dishes, barbecue treats or tasty snacks for on the go – everyone will find something. Afternoon cakes and desserts are also catered for. The dishes are complemented by valuable cooking tips for ingredient variations, ideas for using leftovers and suggestions for the optimal basic equipment for the camping kitchen. Particularly practical: all recipes can be cooked with little preparation and crockery and produce hardly any washing up. Cooking on a camping trip has never been so easy!

- > Combines two trendy topics: camping and simple cooking with only 5 ingredients (e.g. One Pot Cooking)
- > 50 versatile recipes (not only) for holiday cooking
- > With helpful tips on alternative ingredients, storage and using leftovers
- > Ideal gift for campers and all those who like it quick and uncomplicated

The Work Delicious Cooking on Board for any Kind of Weather

Strawberry ice cream with fried strawberries, rump steaks in bourbon marinade with a Mediterranean tomato bread salad and potato stew with vegetables in aquavit, along with smoked trout. Does not sound like the usual cooking on board? Yes, it does! In this book the experienced yachswoman and cookbook author Claudia Seifert shows how to cook (and eat!) delicious meals with the most basic ingredients, tiny cookers and a bit of fantasy – in all weathers and on any boat.

The recipes are arranged according to wind forces. Obviously you would not do so well with a salad when the water washes over your boat and the wind blows your hair in a horizontal line. And of course, small snacks will enrich life on board while the sea is calm and you want to enjoy yachting.

Icons indicate effort and preparation time and facilitate a quick orientation. They are served along with a plain list of ingredients and precise cooking instructions.

Famous food stylist and photographer Julia Hoersch staged the basic but exquisite recipes in a manner so beautiful and mouth-watering you will want to grab your cooking spoon right away. An appealing layout tops off the visual pleasure – a book for any galley and suitable for your home kitchen as well.

- > Cooking pleasure on board
- > Great gift package for all sailors and water sports enthusiasts

The Author/The Photographer

Christian Blanck's life as a car driver began with three VW Beetles. It goes without saying that the car biographer's huge collection includes numerous models of the Volkswagen. He gained his first experience as a mechanic at the age of five and discovered his penchant for photography and old cars at an early age. Blanck has also been working independently in marketing, PR & sales across all sectors for 15 years. His books Kinderzimmerhelden/Children's room heroes and Das Siku-Buch/The SIKU Book have been published by Delius Klasing too.

The Work 50 Years of Playmobil 1974 to 2024 – A fascinating World

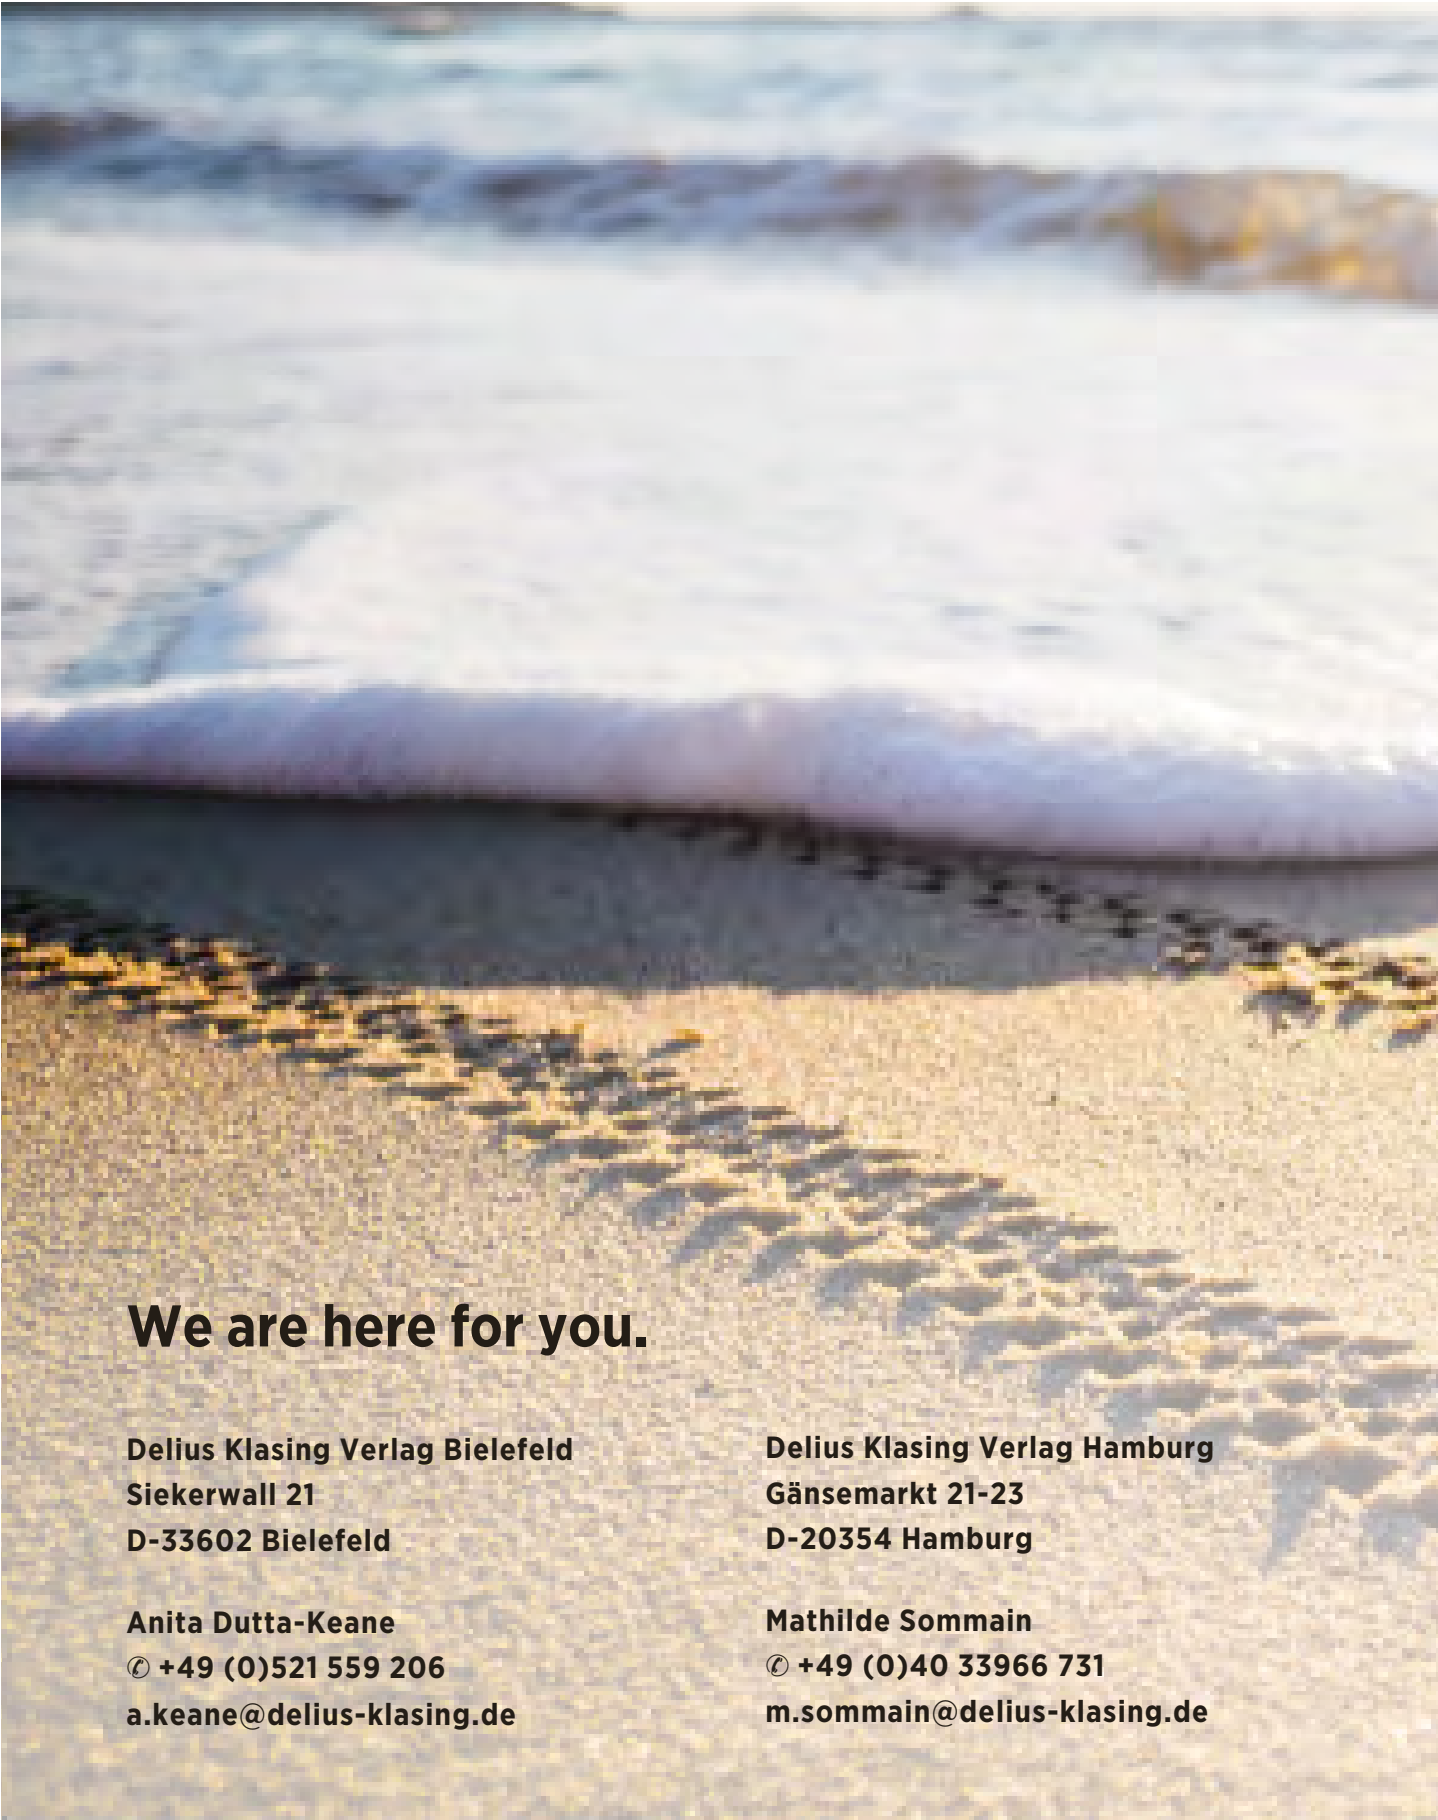

Playmobil is a constant in German children's rooms and has been delighting generations of children for almost 50 years. The striking figures with their jagged top hairstyles and ever-smiling faces are just waiting to embark on exciting adventures. What once began with knights, Indians and construction workers has now developed into an infinite variety of themed worlds and figures. From the farm to the city villa, from the dinosaur park to outer space, from pirates to dog-sitters – there is something for everyone.

In this book, author Christian Blanck pays a well-deserved tribute to the world-famous Playmobil brand. With his incomparable Kinderzimmerhelden/Children's room heroes style, he photographs figures, vehicles, play worlds and fascinating details from the last five decades. The photos are complemented by memories from various Playmobil owners of their play experiences.

This book is an absolute must for all fans of the popular toy brand and offers a nostalgic look at the timeless figures and their endless possibilities.

- > Playmobil from 1974 to 2024
- > Figures, vehicles and play worlds from 50 years of brand history
