Become a healthy place with Healthy Places Healthy Futures

All children and young people deserve to learn, grow and thrive in environments that support their health and wellbeing. Healthy Places Healthy Futures makes it easier for your school or early childhood service (service) to bring together and strengthen what you're doing to support health, wellbeing and learning.

Support available

As part of Healthy Places, your school or service has access to:

- Tailored support from a local health promotion professional who understands your community
- Practical, easy-to-use action guides that save time and simplify planning
- Trusted programs and resources; so you don't need to search for them
- Tools to track your progress and celebrate, with the option for recognition.

Getting started is flexible and manageable:

Review what you're already doing

Plan your next steps using practical action guides

Act with access to trusted resources and local support

Celebrate your progress with the option for Victorian Government recognition

Be confident knowing you're part of more than 2000 schools and early childhood services committed to health and wellbeing across Victoria.

Health and wellbeing priority areas

Healthy Places is free and supports a whole-school or whole-service approach across six priority areas:

- Food, Nutrition and Oral Health

Healthy Places Healthy Futures is supported by the Victorian Government and Cancer Council Victoria.

- Physical Activity and Movement
- Mental Health and Wellbeing
- Smoking and Vaping
- Sun Protection
- Sustainability and Health

A flexible action guide for any health area is also available.

Healthy Places Healthy Futures is supported locally by our organisation and delivered state-wide by the Victorian Government and Cancer Council Victoria.

To become a Healthy Places school or service, visit www.healthyplaces.health.vic.gov.au or contact our team for local support.
