

HOUR RHO WALL LIGHT

The Nikau Palm - Rhopalostylis Sapida sprouts singular female flowers, while the male flowers appear in pairs. The design of this wall light playfully appropriates the species with its single and twin iterations. Bec is drawn to these subliminal stories when researching a body of work, which in turn inform honest design decisions. The lamp champions the beauty of the natural world with luxe lathe-turned timber, hand-finished metal and hand-dyed raw silk diffusers in earthy hues of dusk, dawn and rise.

ASSEMBLY INSTRUCTIONS

Fit the mounting bracket securely to the wall in the desired position.

Once the bracket is fixed, slide the wall light carefully over it.

Hold the fitting firmly against the wall and tighten the grub screws to lock it in place.

Insert the bulb, then attach the shade by screwing it onto the lamp holder to complete the installation.
