ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

These materials are the result of the work, advice, and encouragement of numerous individuals over many years. Some of those named are here simply to show the depth of our gratitude; others may be surprised to find themselves thanked publicly for help they gave quietly and generously for the sake of the educational cause. To everyone named and countless we go unmentioned.

CONTRIBUTORS TO EARLIER VERSIONS OF THESE MATERIALS

Steven R. Abzug, Kathleen Adams, Nancy Bowen, Kathryn M. Cummings, Michelle Davidson, Doris Egan, Mary E. Fobes, Michael J. Ford, Ted Hock, Donald Joseph, James H. Lee, David Henry Leary, Martha G. Mills, Laura Mahoney, Julia McLean, Steve Morrison, Lillian R. Morrow, Elizabeth R. Neumann, David R. O'Neil, Kathleen L. O'Neil, David R. O'Neil, Michael S. O'Neil, Catherine S. O'Neil, James H. O'Neil, James H. O'Neil

We would like to extend special recognition to Program Directors Matthew Clark and Suzanne Wright who were instrumental to the early development of this program.

SCHOOLS

We are truly grateful to the teachers, students, and administration of the following schools for their willingness to facilitate these materials and for their invaluable advice: Capital View Elementary, Challenge Foundation Academy, City Community Academy Public Charter School, Lake View Classical Academy, Legends Elementary School, New Holland Core Knowledge Academy, Pikesville School of Excellence, Pioneer Challenge Foundation Academy, New York City PS 361 (The Current School), PS 308 Wilson School, PS 308 Clara Barton School, PS 802 PS 1028 Joseph O. And a special thanks to the CKLA Pilot Coordinator, Anna Henderson, Thomas (Toby) Henderson, and David Smith, whose suggestions and day-to-day support to teachers using these materials in their classrooms was critical.

There once was a little red hen who lived with her friends on a farm. She was not a lazy hen. She worked harder than all of the other animals.

The Little Red Hen wanted to plant some grains of wheat. She asked for help, but her friends refused.

So she planted the grains herself.

In the summertime, the wonderful golden wheat was ready to be harvested. Once again, with no one to help her, the Little Red Hen did all the work.

The Little Red Hen
had to grind the wheat into flour.

As usual, her friends did not want to do any hard work. So the Little Red Hen ground the flour herself.

The Little Red Hen used the flour to make bread dough. With no one to help her, she kneaded the dough all by herself.

The Little Red Hen's friends had completely abandoned her. So she baked the bread all by herself.

When the smell of freshly baked bread rose up into the air, the Little Red Hen's friends appeared.

They were willing to help eat the bread,
but the Little Red Hen ate it all by herself.
She had done all the work!

Cutouts for Little Red Hen and Friends

Directions: Help students cut out pictures or cut out pictures for students prior to starting activity. Have students glue them to craft sticks. Ask students to name the characters and talk about what each character did in the story.

Little Red Hen and Friends

Directions: Using this page as a backdrop, retell the story of The Little Red Hen and let your child say the familiar refrains from the story: "Who will help me?" "Not I," and "Then I'll do it myself!"

Dear Family Member,

Today your child listened to the story "The Little Red Hen." Read the abridged story below to your child and then help your child do the accompanying activity page. Encourage your child to retell the story to you later this week.

There once was a little red hen who lived with her friends on a farm. She was not a lazy hen. She worked harder than all of the other animals.

The Little Red Hen wanted to plant some grains of wheat. She asked for help, but her friends refused.

So she planted the grains herself.

In the summertime, the wonderful golden wheat was ready to be harvested. Once again, with no one to help her, the Little Red Hen did all the work.

The Little Red Hen had to grind the wheat into flour.

As usual, her friends did not want to do any hard work. So the Little Red Hen ground the flour herself.

The Little Red Hen used the flour to make bread dough. With no one to help her, she kneaded the dough all by herself.

The Little Red Hen's friends had completely abandoned her. So she baked the bread all by herself.

When the smell of freshly baked bread rose up into the air, the Little Red Hen's friends appeared.

They were willing to help eat the bread, but the Little Red Hen ate it all by herself. She had done all the work!

Help the Little Red Hen

Directions: Help students cut out pictures or cut out pictures for students prior to starting activity. Students should sequence pictures into the same order the events happened in the story. Then using the retelling, "Who will help me...?" "Not I..." and "Then I will do it myself!" model a simple retelling of the story based on each picture. Have each student retell the story to you.

The Strawberry Jam Story

Directions: Create a new version of The Little Red Hen with your child. This time, the hens will plant strawberries to make strawberry jam instead of grains of wheat for bread. Look at each picture together, then ask your child to tell this story.

Yum Yum Strawberry Jam

Directions: After creating a new version of "The Little Red Hen," follow the recipe to make strawberry jam with your child.

Ingredients:

- 1 qt. strawberries, fresh or frozen
- 2 T. lemon juice
- 1 oz. dry pectin (canning section of supermarket)
- 1/2 c. light corn syrup
- 2-1/4 c. sugar (use less for frozen, sweetened berries)

1. Mash strawberries with a fork.

2. Put mashed berries, lemon juice, and pectin into a pan.

3. Stir it as it heats up.

4. Add corn syrup and sugar.

5. Spoon into bowl.

6. Spread on toast.
