

Kimball International is dedicated to building a more sustainable future and making a difference.

In an average office renovation, more than 80% of the furniture, fixtures, and equipment is sent to landfill. Kimball International collaborates with Green Standards to provide a sustainable decommission solution. This strategic partnership diverts products from landfills and donates products to non-profits, schools, and charitable organizations.

Green Standards offers a cost-competitive office decommissioning platform that keeps more than 98% of your FF&E out of the landfill while maximizing the value of these resources. With an extensive network of non-profits, resellers, recyclers, and commercial movers, Green Standards can deliver results on enterprise-level projects anywhere in the world.

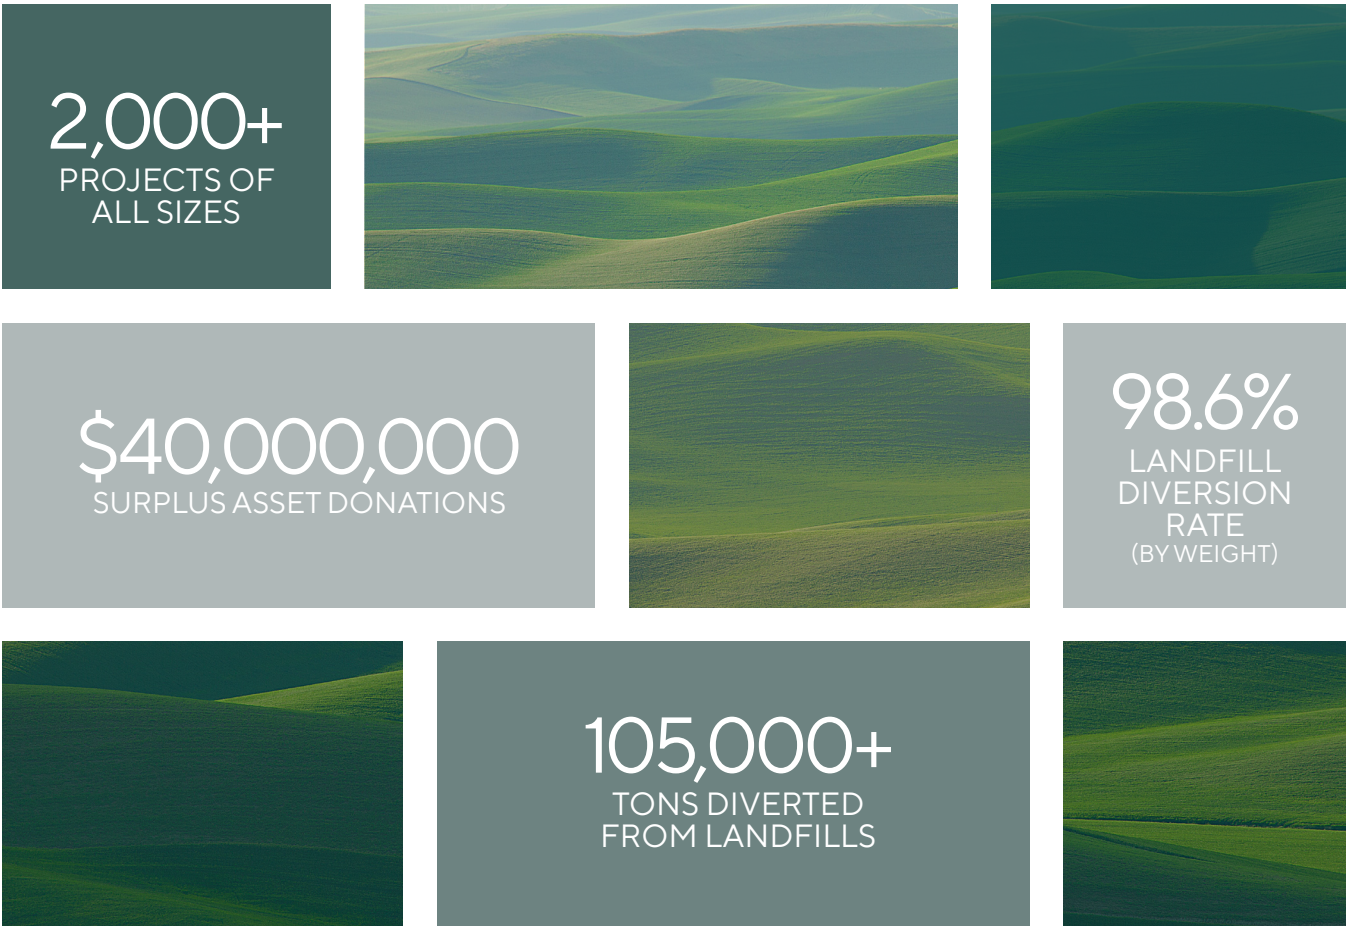

Through industry-leading expertise, proprietary technology, innovative strategies and diligent planning, project costs are equal or less than conventional landfill disposal.

About Green Standards

CAPTURING VALUE IN WORKPLACE CHANGE

Green Standards is a specialized environmental firm that has helped large organizations around the world divert 100,000 tons of surplus office, hospitality, and health furniture, equipment, and supplies from landfill (a 98.6% landfill diversion rate). As a result, clients have generated $40M+ of in-kind donations cumulatively to 5,000+ non-profits, schools, and charitable organizations in their communities.

Green Standards employs a multi-channel disposition of resale, recycling, and donations to ensure 95% landfill diversion.

Resale
high-value items to bring revenue into the project.

Recycle
high-metal content items to offset cost and reduce waste.

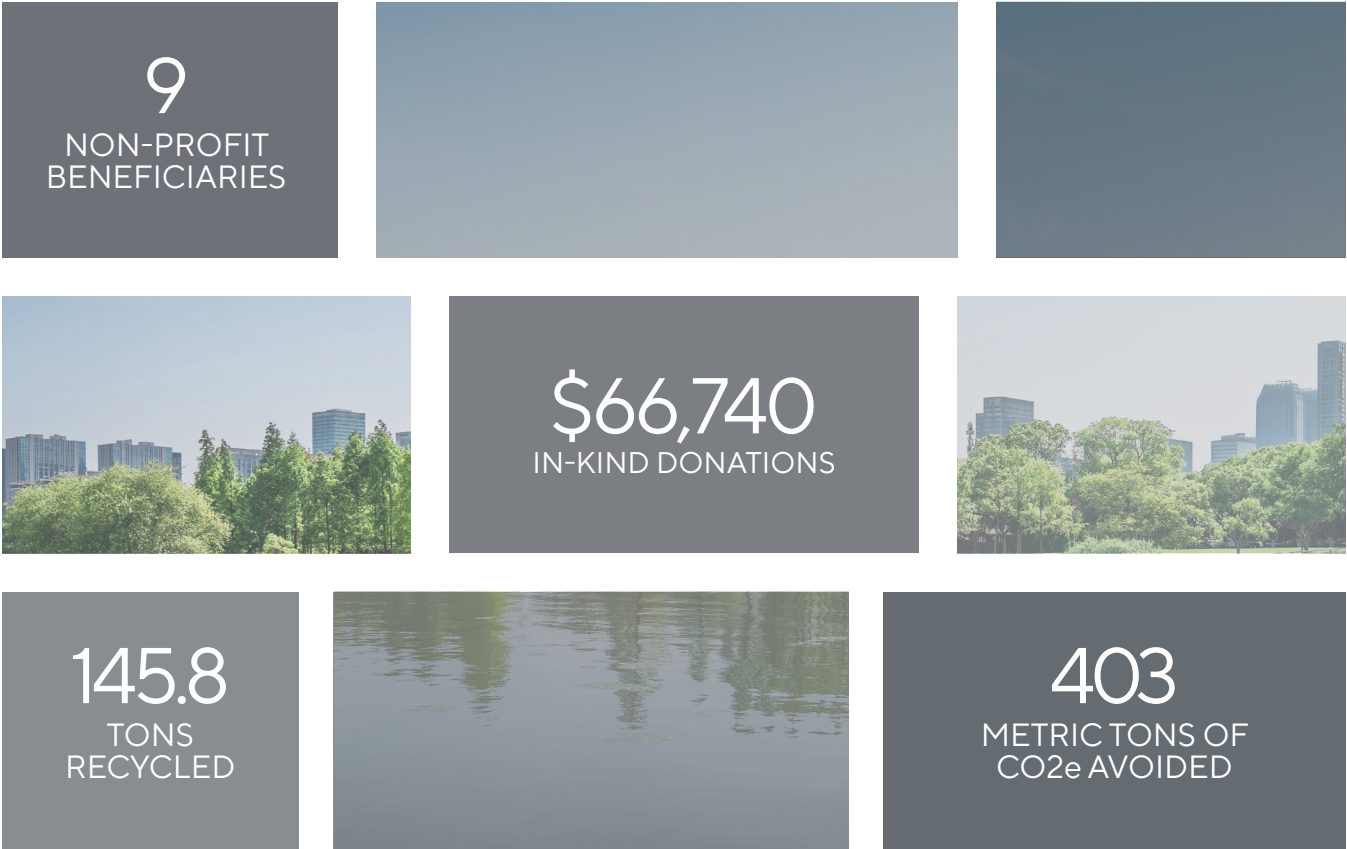

Donate
items to avoid landfill and offer resources to community organizations.

Client Story

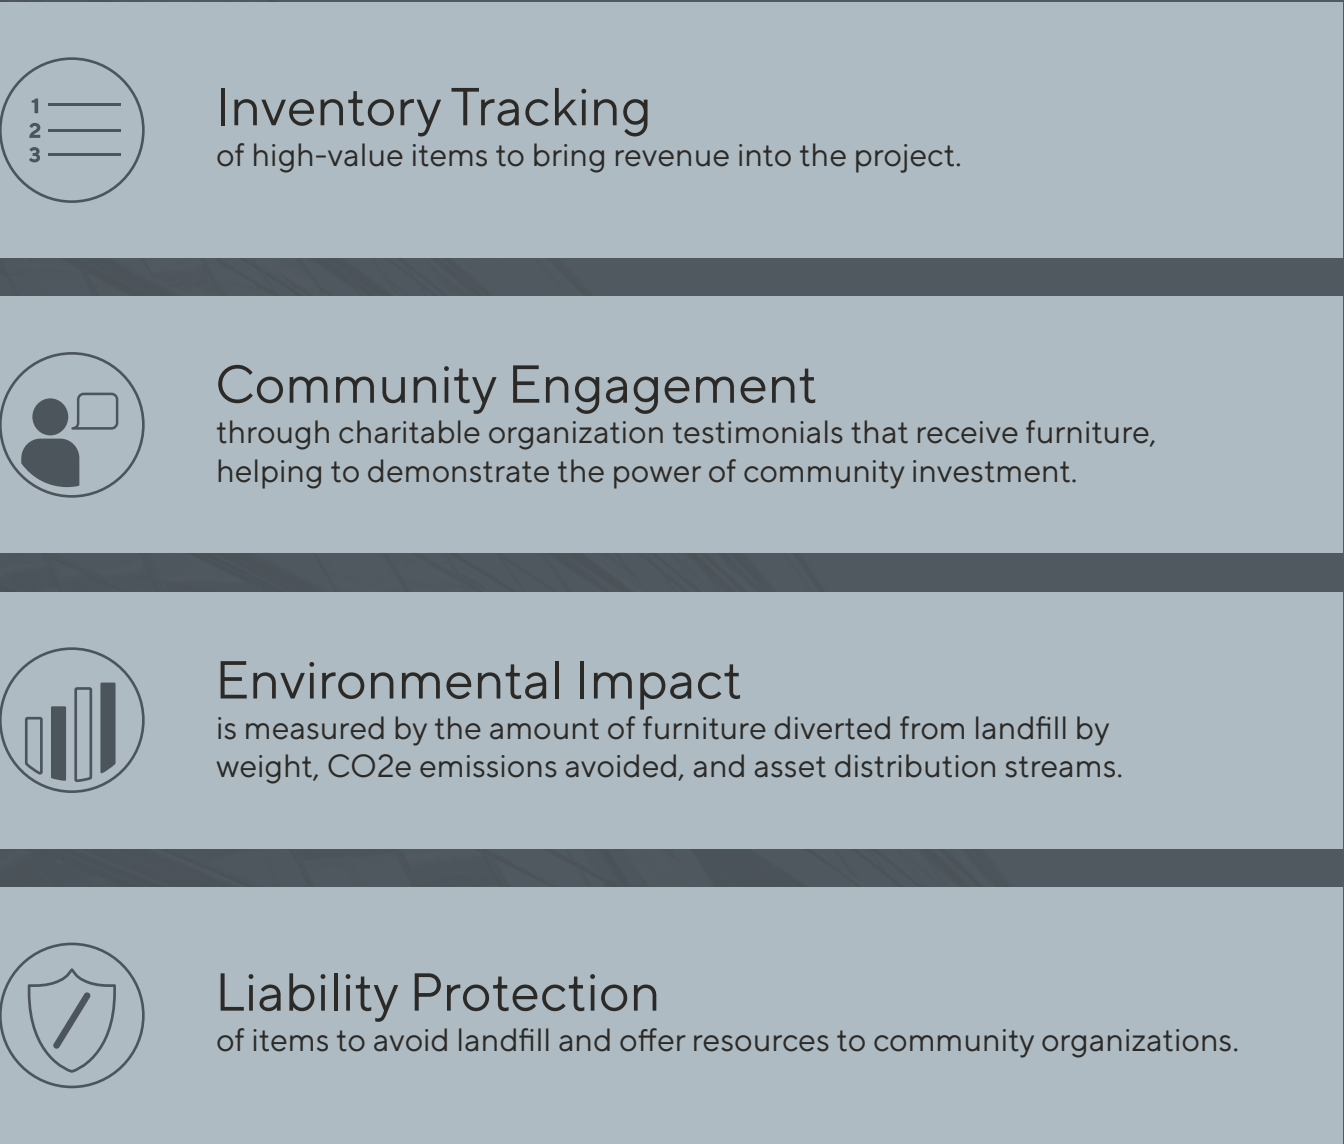

NEW HQ PROVIDES DONATIONS TO COMMUNITY

Summit, an insurance and holdings company, recently relocated their headquarters from a 12-building campus to a new 130,000-square-foot building in downtown Lakeland, Florida. This meant that many floors worth of furniture, equipment, and supplies would no longer be needed. Summit partnered with Green Standards to arrange charitable donations, resale, and specialized recycling to keep these items out of landfills while helping the community.

Reporting & Documentation

Green Standards provides industry-leading asset tracking, sustainability, and community impact reporting via a cloud-based web portal. These deliverables support clients with ongoing internal and external PR efforts and stakeholder communications.
