Designed by CSD Studio

EverySpace is a modular workplace solution that anticipates the ways in which our ideas of the workplace are changing and will continue to evolve. This collection features a wide range of storage options, casegoods, desk configurations, power beams, and accessories, all designed to prioritize the user and seamlessly adapt to their changing needs.

“We wanted to create a system that would function across the entire office and resolve all these different micro-environments. We decided to create a base unit and then start stacking or adding on layers like bookcases that divide space, units that would house media displays, and so on. We were designing not only for function and applications, but we were very mindful of aesthetics and features that would evoke an emotional response in users. We all spend so much time at work, that when we're there we want to be inspired and happy and productive.”
