Hearne Hardwoods

By Jack Budny

Recently I had the opportunity to make a visit to Hearne Hardwoods in Oxford, Pennsylvania. I can't imagine a larger or more complete inventory of exotic hardwood for woodworking projects. I'm not talking about pen making blanks. Rather, the hardwood Hearne can supply is for the furniture maker, creative box maker or the artist who wishes to make an eye-pleasing accent piece. The inventory at Hearne is massive and has been built-up by the founder, Rick Hearne, who makes trips around the world procuring logs which his sons and several employees mill. The Hearne Hardwoods inventory is extensive in flitches, burls and other unique wood samples. The Hearne inventory is particularly rich in crouches. During my visit, I purchased a walnut flitch which has a crouch that I will use to make either a coffee table or a bench – or maybe a coffee table that can serve as a bench! In addition, I also bought Walnut and English Wych Elm burl for which I don't have specific project in mind but the pieces were so beautiful that I'm going to let the wood determine the project in my mind as I think about them – a jewelry box for my granddaughter, a naturally shaped trivet for the dining table or maybe just a well-finished plaque that will be hung in the entrance hallway. I had the pieces I purchased shipped to California without a problem. In speaking with Rick Hearne I was able to obtain a 5% discount on most items with a few exclusions for CVWA Members provided you allowed CVWA to share your name with vendors.

Even if you are not interested in buying burls or flitches, you should visit the Hearne Hardwood website because there is so much information on wood and other topics important to woodworkers. The website can be found at: www.hearnehardwoods.com
