

HANNOKI LEATHER RADERMECKER®

The development of the Hannoki is the result of the expertise of the automotive and furnishings trim, looking for a unique alloy of touch, visual, and creation of warm into its environment. This leather, of beef and bull, easily stretchable marries the forms on which it rests. Full grain leather, it is mineral tanned, dyed with fuller, then reconditioned in pigmentation. Hannoki offers a good resistance. The grain of this leather varies with its thickness, thicker, it will have a more visible grain. The flesh side presents velvet aspect. The RADERMECKER® tannery offers many different colors with finishes custom-made, either on reference of the color you need, or based on existing samples.
