HISTORY: PAPER II
MARKING GUIDELINES

Time: 3 hours

200 marks

These marking guidelines are prepared for use by examiners and sub-examiners, all of whom are required to attend a standardisation meeting to ensure that the guidelines are consistently interpreted and applied in the marking of candidates' scripts.

The IEB will not enter into any discussions or correspondence about any marking guidelines. It is acknowledged that there may be different views about some matters of emphasis or detail in the guidelines. It is also recognised that, without the benefit of attendance at a standardisation meeting, there may be different interpretations of the application of the marking guidelines.

- Both were directed at the way the pageants dehumanise and objectify women.
- Both were directed against traditional male views of femininity and beauty and women's roles.

[Must explain "heroic" and "failure". Candidate may quote or use own words.]

5. 5.1 Why does Mazrui (another author referred to in the extract) refer to Nyerere's ujamaa policies as a 'heroic failure'?

[LEVEL 2]

Ujamaa did fail since it did not 'deliver the goods', but it was at least an attempt by an African country to create its own 'path' – a unique path, not that of the West, thus making it a 'heroic' failure.

- 5.2 Quote ONE sentence from the source that you would regard as biased in favour of Nyerere.

[LEVEL 4]

- '... On the other hand, Nyerere's policies of nation-building amount to a case of unsung heroism ...'

[LEVEL 4 AND LEVEL 6]

 - Shoe is shiny – positive connotations there.
- It is hard to follow in Nyerere's footsteps. (fill Nyerere's shoes)
 - The man is finding it hard to put himself in the shoes of Nyerere – has a thin leg and only one leg in the shoe.
- The leaders that have followed are not as good as Nyerere.
 - They can only hope to be as good as him.
 - Seen in the tentative step taken into Nyerere's shoe.
 - There is poverty around – man and hut: he is emaciated, hut is shabby/derelict.
 - Whilst leaders have wads of cash in their hands.
 - And suitcases full of cash and remnants of food and drink lying around.

TRUE

Refer to Source C and Source F

13. In what ways does Source F support the cartoonist in Source C's view of Nyerere? Use evidence from BOTH sources to support your answer.

[LEVEL 4]

- Source F supports the notion of 'BIG shoes to fill' (i.e. he was a great man who had a positive impact on Tanzania).
- Seen in the visual in Source C.
- Source C promotes a positive picture of Nyerere who did a lot for the people compared to others who followed him.
- Source F also advances a positive picture of Nyerere.
- He did great things: he unified Tanzania through language and tried to provide services to the people in collective villages.
- Examples: schools, roads, electricity – Source F.
- Source C implies that Nyerere was a great man, who must be so through his great deeds and services to the people of Tanzania – big boots).
- Professor Baitu (Source F) provides much corroborating evidence to support this view held by the cartoonist (Source C).

[Must show HOW Source F supports Source C – i.e. Nyerere's 'greatness'/prestige/stature/good deeds + offer examples from the text (Source F) AND refer to the visuals in Source C. Credit can be given for reference to Ujamaa's failures: bones/emaciated body, tent, as a comment on its questionable legacy.]

14. Evaluate the reliability of Source F for a historian studying the contribution made by Julius Nyerere to Tanzania.

[LEVEL 6]

To obtain full marks mention should be made to origin, intention and bias/limitation within the source. Value is not necessary.

The source is reliable to some extent, but has limitations. The origin of the source is an article written in 2019 by journalist Paul Samasumo for The Vatican News, an online news information portal. The intention is unclear – it seems to be a general enquiry/discussion about the life and legacy of Julius Nyerere. The source is only from one perspective (Father Baitu's perspective) and it is written in defence of Julius Nyerere's impact on Tanzania. The source focuses on Nyerere's positive contributions and uses words and phrases that reflect Nyerere in a positive light. Nyerere is described as having 'succeeded' in uniting Tanzanians through Swahili. Nyerere wanted to bring people together to live in communities that would ensure access to essential services. He is praised for electrifying towns and building roads and schools. Although the source is thus clearly biased in favour of Nyerere; there is a small admission that 'mistakes were made'. In addition, Father Baitu might be biased in favour of Nyerere as a fellow Roman Catholic and as a friend of his. Furthermore, this is not the entire source; it has been edited and is only an extract from the original. The bias, purpose, personal perspective and editing makes this an unreliable source if used on its own. The article is written with hindsight, which might lend it some reliability; but limitations remain. The source omits any discussion of Nyerere's use of force and brutality in the villagisation process. Father Baitu is, however, a scholar (a professor) so he is acquainted with what is expected from rigorous academic work – thus some of what he says is verifiable and true. But there is a subjective element in there too.

Use this rubric in conjunction with the above-mentioned guidelines.

5–6	Evaluation/Limitation and Bias Comprehends the source/acknowledges limitation/focuses on origin and intention (to some degree) and acknowledges bias in order to deduce that the source has limited reliability or is unreliable. Must quote/provide some reference to bias in the source or bias of origin and publication to be credited with 6 marks.
3–4	Analysis and Limitation Shows ability to comprehend the source/acknowledges origin and/or intention and vague mention of the limitation of the source if used on its own/no attempt to evaluate the source (bias, etc.)
1–2	Comprehension Describes the information obtained from the source/only able to comprehend the source but no attempt to evaluate the source itself (limited discussion of origin or intention).
0	No attempt to answer the question.

Refer to Source G

- Frelimo
- and Zanla.

[ANY ONE)

Refer to Source H

- He was authoritarian.

- He would not allow a bill of rights in the constitution.
- He would not guarantee individual rights.
- He extended the use of oppressive colonial legislation.
- He enacted laws that curtailed human rights.
- Political parties and civil rights organisations were also curtailed.

19. How useful is this source to a historian studying Julius Nyerere's legacy? Support your answer with ONE piece of evidence from the source.

[LEVEL 4]

- Very useful.
- It shows another side of Nyerere and his rule.
- Which adds to the picture we have of him as a person and a ruler.
- It shows he used quite harsh measures when he felt it was necessary and curtailed people's rights when he felt it was needed.
- It balances the view that he was a perfect human being who could do no wrong.
- He had a darker side at times.
- He was not averse to using the levers of power to achieve his aims.

[Candidate who does not show "extent", must demonstrate the usefulness. "NOT useful" – is a stance but must substantiate.]

SECTION C SOURCE-BASED ESSAY

Use sources A to H in the Source Material Booklet to write a source-based essay on the following topic:

To what extent did Julius Nyerere's policies have a positive impact on Tanzania?

[LEVEL 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6]

The essay is marked holistically using the IEB source-based essay rubric with the memoranda as a guideline.

- Candidates may argue that Julius Nyerere's policies had a positive impact on Tanzania to a LARGER/GREATER EXTENT. Julius Nyerere promoted national unity and pride, especially through his making Swahili the official language, through religion, through cultural integration, through education, especially adult literacy and through his leadership in African affairs. He also electrified towns, built roads and schools. His ujamaa policy was designed to bring people together to access resources.
- To a LESSER EXTENT, Julius Nyerere's policies had a positive impact on Tanzania, in that he would allow only one political party, he abused human rights on occasion, neglected local issues in favour of international affairs and would not accept any blame for Tanzania's lack of economic progress. His ujamaa policy failed and led to a decline in economic output. It was accompanied by the forceful removal of people from their homes.
