ACMC Academy Celebrates Another Successful Summer Internship Program

$1,000 Scholarship Winners Brielle Bogardus & Julia Krznaric

Eight students from around Ashtabula County recently completed Ashtabula County Medical Center’s ACMC Academy. The summer internship lets high school students experience a variety of healthcare careers as they work daily alongside hospital caregivers. Most students who complete ACMC Academy continue into college to earn a healthcare-related degree.

“I am proud of the ACMC Academy and the students who come through our doors to learn more about healthcare,” said ACMC Healthcare System President and CEO Michael Habowski. “But I am equally as proud of the caregivers who take time out of their busy schedules to mentor these students. They show them the level of dedication it takes to be an ACMC caregiver, and they inspire the students to continue pursuing their dreams in healthcare.”

ACMC Foundation Executive Director Tammy Netkowicz, added her appreciation for caregivers who contribute their time, experience, and knowledge. “Our caregivers make this program, and we are grateful. Many of them look forward to this every summer as much as the students do.”

ACMC Volunteers

ACMC Volunteer: Ann Hradsky

After a nearly two-year suspension due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Ashtabula County Medical Center (ACMC) has reactivated its volunteer program to serve several roles throughout the hospital.

“Volunteers are vital members of our caregiving team, providing personal touches and support for our patients and their families,” said Michael Habowski, ACMC president and CEO. “We have missed our volunteers and are so happy to welcome them back.”

ACMC Volunteers are an important part of our care team supporting patients, visitors, and caregivers in many ways. Volunteers serve in Central Registration, Spiritual Care, the ACMC Foundation Gift Shop, and in the Surgical and Endoscopy Waiting Areas. If you would like to learn more about volunteering at ACMC, please contact Amy Price at (440) 997-6604 or amy.price@acmchealth.org.
