Dr. Huang and Family Donate $100,000 for ACMC Women's Imaging

Dr. Shin E Huang and his family recently presented the ACMC Foundation with a $100,000 donation to help advance women's healthcare in Ashtabula County. Dr. Huang, an obstetrician-gynecologist who delivered more than 5,000 babies through his career in Ashtabula, joined the ACMC Medical Staff in 1972, providing care for women and families until his retirement in 2014. Dr. Huang said supporting local healthcare has always been a priority and donating to women's healthcare at ACMC is a blessing for him and his family.

The donation supports an imaging suite at ACMC dedicated to women's healthcare. The suite will consolidate several of ACMC's existing imaging services into an area devoted to the unique needs of women. The suite will offer mammography, ultrasound, and bone density scan all within a defined space designed for comfort as well as quality healthcare services. The project features new finishes, fixture upgrades, and new state-of-the-art equipment.

ACMC Academy Now Accepting Applications

ACMC Academy Class of 2019

The ACMC Academy program welcomes local high school juniors and seniors interested in healthcare careers into the hospital to learn from ACMC Caregivers and gain a first-hand look at professional healthcare experiences and career opportunities available in Ashtabula County.

Academy students spend, on average, 200 summer hours on-site with ACMC Caregivers in various departments. Students gain real-life perspective of what it means to be a healthcare professional, whether on the front line of direct patient care or behind the scenes in nonclinical roles. Furthermore, they become part of ACMC, and they learn about our organization's culture and values.

In 2019, ACMC Academy won the Best of County award in Workforce Innovation. We are thrilled to continue offering ACMC Academy in Summer 2022 and work with our local students.

Did you know?

In 2017, we funded the purchase of vein finders that are used in the ER and Nursing units. Vein finders are hand-held, portable devices that use vein visualization technology to help caregivers locate and assess appropriate veins for safe and efficient IV access. They continue to improve patient care today.
