

AROUND TOWN

Inter-Community auxiliary installs board

Emanate Health Inter-Community Hospital Auxiliary installed its new president and executive board at its most recent meeting, according to spokeswoman Jody Mentzer.

Anissa Rivera
Columnist

Phyllis Rounds, the group's new president, has been a member of the auxiliary for the past 28 years. Since she joined, she has served the auxiliary in many different ways. She was president in 2008 and has held most of the executive board positions. She has served on many special committees and projects. Rounds is quick to offer her services wherever they are needed, Mentzer said.

Janice Clark, vice president of membership, served as emcee for a unique and entertaining installation.

"Phyllis's energy will be the stimulus in bringing the auxiliary to a successful and prosperous 2020," Mentzer said. "Through her leadership, the auxiliary's accomplishments will be evident in the medical center and the community."

New members are always welcome and needed in all areas of the hospital as well as the group's Bargain Box thrift shop and the hospital's Gift Box.

For more information, go to EmanateHealth.org/ICHAuxiliary and click on the application link. Find out more about the rewards of volunteering by calling Tiffany Ramirez, director of volunteer services, at 626-915-6237 or email Tramirez@emanatehealth.org.

PHOTO COURTESY OF JODY MENTZER

Emanate Health Inter-Community Auxiliary welcomed its newest executive board members at a recent meeting. From left, front row: Jody Mentzer, vice president, publicity; Jane Lee, secretary; Jackie Garretson, vice president, in hospital; and Phyllis Rounds, president; back row: Janice Clark, vice president of membership; Carol Koon, treasurer; Peggy Monges, vice president, special projects; Nancy Kitamura, vice president, programs.