What an exciting time it has been for Emanate Health Foundation! Last Friday, Assemblywoman Blanca E. Rubio visited Queen of the Valley Hospital to formally announce a $3 million appropriation that she championed in support of the hospital’s new Emergency Department-Intensive Care Unit. We are immensely grateful to Assemblywoman Rubio for her longtime partnership, which has significantly bolstered our historic campaign to elevate health care for our community.

Plans are underway for the Autumn Nocturne gala on October 7, with special thanks to Presenting Sponsors Mitchell and Lisa Fuerst, North-West College, and the Marsha Fuerst School of Nursing. In this issue, I also hope you enjoy reading about employee donor Maria Peacock, who creates community collaborations to improve the San Gabriel Valley’s health status.

With gratitude,

Bringing Together Communities Through Collaboration

Maria Peacock’s Emanate Health journey started in 1986 with her mother, who served on Queen of the Valley Hospital’s environmental services team. Today, she oversees Emanate Health’s community benefit efforts, including initiatives that address social determinants of health. “No matter what your position,” noted Maria, “we all have an opportunity to contribute to the well-being of others.” Maria also has been a loyal employee donor to the Foundation. “Emanate Health’s growth excites me and I am happy to be a little part of it.”

We are rolling out the red carpet on Saturday, October 7! As the Foundation’s preeminent event of the year, the gala brings together those within our community who share our commitment to the future of health care. This year’s theme is "A Night in Old Hollywood," where guests will enjoy an evening of glam and glitz as we hail the Golden Age of Tinseltown. With a special announcement by Assemblywoman Blanca E. Rubio, we plan to impress everyone on the red carpet with a cocktail reception, a gourmet meal, a spectacular silent and live auction, and exciting entertainment from the Amanda Castro Band. Your partnership at this event will ensure an even more successful event to benefit our patients and community; sponsorships and underwriting opportunities are available.
