Thanks to supporters like you, Emanate Health Foundation continues to provide compassionate care for our region, keeping our community well in body, mind and spirit. Our certified comprehensive stroke center was recently recognized by the American Heart Association, demonstrating another distinction of care for our community.

I am sure your heart will be touched when you read about Susan, who makes an annual gift in honor of her twins who were patients in Queen of the Valley Hospital’s NICU more than 40 years ago. This month also marks National Volunteer Week, and we are extremely appreciative to all who contribute gifts of time, talent and treasure to our health care system.

With gratitude,

Greg Lehr, Ed.D., Chief Philanthropy Officer

Emanate Health Stroke Care Honored by American Heart Association

Emanate Health was honored at the State of the Art Stroke Care Quality Achievement Celebration during the American Heart Association (AHA)’s International Stroke Conference. Emanate Health Queen of the Valley Hospital was recognized for providing excellent stroke treatment to patients according to the latest evidence-based guidelines on stroke care, ultimately saving more lives and enhancing patient outcomes.
Like It Was Yesterday: A Grateful NICU Mother Honors Twins By Giving

Susan Heninger remembers everything about the experience of delivering her twins, Andrew and Laura, at Emanate Health Queen of the Valley Hospital in November 1978. During the five weeks the infants spent in the hospital’s Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU), she felt the doctors and nurses provided loving support. In 2000, Susan decided to make her first gift to the NICU to commemorate the twins’ birthday and has continued this annual giving “tradition” ever since.
