Dear Friends of the IRMC Healthcare Foundation,

The past decade has been a decade of change in the world, in healthcare, at IRMC and for our Healthcare Foundation at IRMC. Some of this change has been brought on by technology, some by legislation and some by a global pandemic. As the saying goes, change may be inevitable, but at the Foundation we have done our very best to use change as an opportunity to grow our mission and better support the healthcare needs of our community.

Over the last 10 years, the incredible generosity of donors like you has been one of the few constants during these changing times. Marquee events like the Teddy Bear Fund Drive, Love of Life Campaign, the Mario H. Luther Charity Golf Classic and our annual Columbus Day Golf Outing have continued to evolve and grow. These events support some pretty amazing programs and upgrades at IRMC, which make it possible to better serve those who rely on IRMC to take care of their healthcare needs. Just a few years ago, the thought of our community having access to 3D mammography, surgical robots and a Nationally Certified Comprehensive Breast Center — without spending hours in the car — was merely a dream. Today, it’s a reality and it’s only happened because of your generosity!

We’ve grown the foundation and, in turn, we assisted with the efforts to grow our team and offerings at IRMC. In just nine years, the Foundation has raised over $12 million to support these efforts, and we’ve only just begun to dream. In the years ahead, you’ll see the implementation of new donor opportunities like a Bequest and Estate Giving program to support exciting new opportunities at IRMC — like a medical residency program and an expanded focus on mental health services right on our Indiana Campus. All while remaining true to supporting our existing offerings like our transportation vans for cancer patients, our Cancer Care Fund, nursing scholarships, and employee support programs like the relief fund provided during COVID.

IRMC and our Foundation have an incredible history in our community. We are incredibly proud to partner with each of you to build upon that history, for an exciting future together! Life and healthcare may change, but our commitment to serving the needs of our neighbors will always be our guiding light.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve.

Sincerely,

Heather Reed,
Executive Director, IRMC Healthcare Foundation

Over the past 35 years, the Mario H. Luther Charity Golf Classic has contributed to a number of charitable endeavors, from the American Diabetes Association to the Susan G. Komen Foundation to Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

Dance marathons and giving away a car are among the methods Mario Luther has used over the years to raise funds, awareness and support for such causes.

Tug-a-truck activities have been known to play out across the Luther Ford-Lincoln showroom in Homer City, and he has used the space as a staging area for distributing food to financially struggling residents of Indiana County.

Contributing to such endeavors always hits close to home for Luther, who has a connection of some kind to all of the causes he has supported.

“It’s always been a personal thing,” Luther says. “It’s something near and dear to me and some of my family.”

He has also adopted the philosophy that “personal” can mean “local.” His golf outing once benefited dislocated miners when Pennsylvania mines first closed. As someone whose family has resided in the area for 65 years, a lot of his former classmates or their parents have worked in the mines and faced hard times.

“That was personal to me,” Luther says. “I went to school here across the street.”

Luther says he is fortunate to be blessed with a business supported by local residents, so he tries to do what he can to give back to the community. For the better part of the last decade, that has meant shifting the Charity Golf Classic’s fundraising goal toward supporting the Women’s Imaging Center at Indiana Regional Medical Center. That was the case for the 2022 Classic, which was held May 20.

Luther put his support behind the Women’s Imaging Center because he saw the great work the hospital has been doing and wanted to support those efforts. He has also made donations to the Teddy Bear Fund Drive for the Pediatric Unit, he says.

“I thought: You know what? I’d rather keep it local. Why not here? Here’s where we’re at. Why not do something for the community? I know the money is staying here.”

MARIO LUTHER

Charity Golf Classic continues run of support for Women’s Imaging Center

“Last year, money from the golf outing equated to an $18,000 check to IRMC. Even in 2020, when the outing was canceled because of the COVID-19 pandemic, Luther offered to match any donations up to $7,500. Despite the off-year, he got that $7,500 — plus $1,000 — to bring the total to $16,000 for the cause.

He is happy to know the money supports the community through IRMC. That makes the effort to organize the outing especially rewarding.

“When you’re doing it yourself, it’s a lot of involvement, hours and time; but I’ll tell you what, it’s well worth it,” Luther says. “It really is. If we can help one or two people, it’s well worth it.”
FOR THE LOVE OF A COMMUNITY

James L. Carino Family Foundation gives back

The greater Indiana community carries a distinct reputation in western Pennsylvania. It’s friendly and the people are generous. They care about and support each other.

The James L. Carino Family Foundation exemplifies these community connections. The Foundation maintains a quiet and humble profile, but evidence of its contributions can be found across the region. Indiana Regional Medical Center (IRMC), Boy Scouts of America’s Camp Seph Mack, Indiana Free Library, the former Indiana Symphony Society, Penn State University and the American Red Cross-Indiana County Chapter, among many others, have been beneficiaries of the Foundation’s charitable efforts.

ORIGIN STORY
The James L. Carino Family Foundation was founded in 1998 by James L. Carino and his wife, Carolyn Carino, the latter who is now deceased. Carino and his daughter, Laura Musser, a trustee on the Foundation’s Board of Directors, use the private organization to support local charities and organizations of their choosing. There is no grant application process to receive funds from the Foundation.

Carino is a longtime resident and a fixture in the Indiana community who has enjoyed success across multiple business ventures. His most well-known may be the Christmas tree business he took over from his father in 1957. In 2018, he was inducted into the Indiana County Business Hall of Fame.

“My father is greatly appreciative for the business success he has had,” Musser says. “From an early age he shared with me his belief in the importance of giving back, and that vision is carried on by us through the Foundation.”

A STRONGER COMMUNITY
The Foundation does not rely on external fundraising, and instead uses a combination of personal funds and those provided by the various companies the Carino family owns under their Limited Family Partnership, JLC Partners LP. The Foundation makes one to two donations per year to select organizations and projects.
Such contributions frequently help the recipient organization meet its financial goals for key projects, such as improving the Boy Scouts’ Camp Seph Mack in Indiana County’s Yellow Creek State Park. Another donation, in conjunction with several large donations from other benefactors, enabled Indiana High School to replace Kuzneski Field’s grass surface with artificial turf.

“This project was not part of the school budget,” Musser explains. “The school was able to replace the grass with turf at no expense to the taxpayer. It’s beneficial to the athletes and other activities, like band. It saves money for the school in the long run.”

SUPPORT FOR IRMC
IRMC is a local source of pride, and as an independent rural hospital, it holds a unique status in the health care industry. The expert care is warm and personable. Staff, from clerks to clinicians to administrators, are deeply invested in their community and its residents. Both of Musser’s children were born at IRMC, and she and her family have benefitted from its care.

“We are very fortunate to have such a remarkable, independent medical facility in our own backyard,” she says. “It’s been able to remain financially stable even in challenging environments.”

The James L. Carino Family Foundation has made generous contributions to the hospital’s Bork Emergency Center project and, more recently, its Centennial Capital Campaign. The Foundation is also a supporter of the annual Love of Life Campaign, which benefits the IRMC Women’s Imaging Center. The Center serves a critical role in the community by providing women access to preventive breast screenings and comprehensive cancer care.

Musser’s philosophy extends to the entire Indiana region. She recognizes the local economy has its challenges and that the pandemic has contributed to people losing their jobs. The difficult times have prompted a greater emphasis on community support.

The James L. Carino Family Foundation plans to remain an integral part of that tradition of support and development of a strong community.

“This is a very giving community,” Musser says. “I can feel that just watching different fundraising campaigns. It’s very supportive.”
IRMC summer internship program is a big win for pre-med students and the Indiana community

When Dr. Dan Clark was taking his daughter to college visits in New England, he realized the schools she was considering were all emphasizing the same thing to pre-med students: the need to fulfill clinical hours.

“That was a big reason why a lot of students weren’t getting into medical schools,” Clark says. “They had the grades, they had the research, they had the MCAT scores. They didn’t have the clinical time.”

Medical schools are looking closely at clinical experience as part of their admission requirements, Clark says, but they no longer recognize volunteering in hospitals. They want students exposed to clinical experiences and working alongside physicians.

Clark — now the director of Indiana Regional Medical Center’s Comprehensive Breast Center and its Minimally Invasive and Robotic Surgery program — saw an opportunity. An internship program at a hometown hospital could provide a dual benefit to the medical center and community, with the added bonus of allowing students to stay home for the summer and get paid, while fulfilling the hours they need.

“A lot of medical schools consider the local hometown hospitals more true medicine than shadowing somebody in a university,” Clark says. “It’s a win for the students, a win for the parents and a win for the community because they stay in the area.”

Clark started a summer internship program at his previous place of employment, and after coming to IRMC three years ago saw an opportunity there, too. He started a similar program in 2021, making it one of only two — as far as he knows — in western Pennsylvania.
In its first year, the program received 40 applications for a mere eight spots.

This year, the summer program is taking on another eight interns, who will begin the third week of June, according to Clark. Over the course of eight weeks, the pre-med students get assigned to a different specialty every week, from the emergency room to surgery to orthopedics.

“They get in-depth exposure to eight different specialties over an eight-week time frame to get them those 300 clinical hours they need, but also to help them make the decision to see if they know what medicine truly is and what a doctor truly does, and if this is really what they want to do for the rest of their lives,” Clark says.

That last part is vital. When Clark oversaw an internship program prior to coming to IRMC, he had a student who was debating between becoming a doctor or a dentist. After the internship, the student was of the opinion doctors worked too hard and decided to go in a different direction.

“That’s good,” Clark says. “That means this was a worthwhile experience.”

But most interns find the experience a positive one, Clark says. Many learn eye-opening lessons about specialties with which they may not have been familiar when they started. Some even change their minds about their specialties.

For IRMC, the summer internships come with the added benefit of exposing students to a local hospital and showing them there is great medicine being done locally with the advanced resources there, including a center for robotic surgery. That gives future doctors an option to come home after their training.

“They see that you don’t really have to go away to provide good medicine and see excellent care,” Clark says. “The facilities at IRMC rival anything in the country.”

With the help of program coordinator Ashley McDonald, Clark recruits doctors, coordinates schedules, goes over HIPAA requirements and provides a tour of the hospital. He also handles minor issues such as helping students find their way in the hospital. He sees his role as a bit like a father.

“I meet with them regularly to make sure everything’s going OK, but we also have different doctors meet with them and give them a talk — not necessarily on a medical topic, but what it’s like to be a surgeon and what my course through life was to get where I am,” Clark says.

Clark says the cost to run the program is roughly $20,000, which has been generously provided through donations. He thinks the investment is well worth it.

“This is a big need for the future of medical care in the community,” he says. “The support we get from the community is critical.”

Teddy Bear Fund Drive

This year, Renda Broadcasting’s Annual Teddy Bear Fund Drive (TBFD) raised $85,000 for child healthcare at Indiana Regional Medical Center and The Free Care Fund at Children’s Hospital in Pittsburgh. The TBFD includes several community events that are held right here in our community, along with partnerships with local school districts and businesses.

Columbus Day Golf Outing

The IRMC Healthcare Foundation’s 2021 Columbus Day Golf Outing was a huge success. The Foundation raised over $115,000. The money raised from the 2021 Columbus Day Golf Outing will continue to support the Cancer Center van that transports patients to and from radiation treatment. A portion of the funds will help purchase a second van that will assist in transportation of patients to and from chemotherapy treatments, at no cost to the patient.

Debra L. Hodak Water Wall: A way to honor or memorialize a loved one

The Debra L. Hodak Inspirational Donor Wall is located in the lobby of the IRMC Cancer Center in Partnership with the UPMC Hillman Cancer Center. The water wall feature is made possible by donations given to a memorial fund established in Debbie’s honor following her battle with cancer.

The donor wall memorializes Debra L. Hodak and shares her inspiration with others who enter the Cancer Center’s doors for treatment. The water wall has 51 tiles that enable others to join the Hodaks to inspire philanthropic support to the Cancer Center, with the potential for $51,000 to be raised to support the radiation oncology services provided to our community. Each gift of $1,000 will get your name or your loved one’s name placed on the water wall.

New to the Water wall this year:

- Margaret Betsa Fisher
Love of Life

The Love of Life Campaign celebrated its 17th year in support of the Women’s Imaging Center at IRMC. The funds from the Love of Life Campaign enable IRMC to continue to have the latest technology available to diagnose and treat breast cancer. Life-saving mammography care has been provided to the community through the Love of Life with the purchase of 3D mammography units at both the Women’s Imaging Center at IRMC and IRMC at Chestnut Ridge.

This year, because of the rise in COVID cases in the community, the IRMC Leadership Team had to make the difficult decision to cancel the kick-off event that was scheduled in September. In place of the event, the Foundation gave out snack-sized charcuterie boxes filled with pink treats provided by K&K Custom creations. This year’s Love of Life keynote speaker was Mrs. Rhonda Sickles. She was featured, alongside Drs. Dan Clark and Nazneen Billimoria, in a special You are the One 2021, Breast Cancer Awareness Brunch held on Facebook Live.

The Love of Life Campaign also held its 17th annual 5K Run/Walk and 1-Mile Fun Walk on October 16, 2021. Over 500 runners participated, with 59 of them being virtual. In addition to the launch and race, the Love of Life Campaign was honored to receive several donations from community businesses that held special events to raise money for this great cause.

Birdie’s Closet

The IRMC Healthcare Foundation would like to take this opportunity to thank our community for the outpouring of donations to Birdie’s Closet. This year, Birdie’s Closet donations came to over $30,000. This money will be used to purchase wigs, hats, scarves, shawls, camisoles and blankets for patients who are going through treatments. Without the ongoing support of community members like yourself this would not be possible. Thank you again for your continued support!
The Wyant Family Pink Ribbon Donor Wall

The Wyant Family Pink Ribbon Wall is proudly displayed in the Women’s Imaging Center at IRMC. The ribbon was designed to recognize and honor the Wyant family for their 13 years of jewelry creations through the Love of Life Campaign. The money raised by the campaign has helped the Women’s Imaging Center purchase 3D Mammography Units. This beautiful piece of art is handcrafted from pure walnut and is an enduring way to recognize a loved one’s journey through their battle with cancer. The wall symbolizes strength, courage and the hope for a cure. You may display your or your loved one’s name for a gift of $1,000 or more.

The Mario H. Luther 34th Annual Charity Golf Classic

The Mario H. Luther Charity Golf Classic was held on May 21, 2021 at the Indiana Country Club. It was a beautiful day and the event raised a record breaking $18,100, which was donated to the Women’s Imaging Center at IRMC.

Family of the late Jackie Overdorff honoring her legacy by supporting Birdie’s Closet

To say that Jacqueline “Jackie” Overdorff was a larger-than-life personality around Indiana would be an understatement. Her daughter, Amanda Strittmatter, says a comment made by a friend following Jackie’s death in December 2021 sums it up best.

“She was unapologetic in her zest for life,” Strittmatter says. “That is her. She never once apologized for being loud, funny or in 110 different projects, working. She could find the best in just about everybody.”

Jackie was well-known for her charitable efforts about town, regularly popping into businesses to find owners ready to give her whatever she needed for her latest cause, according to her husband of 39 years, Bruce Overdorff. Jackie had said on multiple occasions that if she didn’t have to work, she would just raise funds for organizations and do community service projects all day.

“That was her dream,” Strittmatter says. “That’s what she loved to do.”

Point wasn’t as pinpointed as it is now. Roughly a decade later, Jackie developed thyroid cancer. She had her thyroid gland removed and went on with her life, but in November 2021 she started developing what Bruce described as “severe pain.”

“She said it hurt so bad her teeth hurt,” he says.

She went to the doctor the Monday after Thanksgiving and by the following Wednesday was in Prosperity Fund

The Prosperity Fund was created to provide individual departments within IRMC the ability to apply for funding to support projects or initiatives internally. These funds are dispersed based upon alignment with IRMC’s strategic goals and mission, and are available solely as a result of the generosity of community donors.

Some of the projects that have been funded are:

- Literacy Links
- Nurse Navigator software
- Pulmonary rehabilitation books for pregnant mothers
- Two patient care extractors for Pre-Hospital Medicine
- IPG Skills Fair
- AmeriCorp Worker Funding
- Social work employee training
- Lifeline units and personal help buttons
- Equipment for pulmonary rehab
- Lending Library for OB/GYN Care Center
- Partial funding for a disinfection robot for the IRMC Surgical Site Prevention Team
- Mental health first aid training at IRMC
- Colorectal Cancer Awareness for IPG GI Program
- A UV disinfection robot to decrease the number of healthcare-associated infections
- IPG Social Services
- Tasers for IRMC Security
- IPG Social Services training in cognitive behavior therapy for chronic pain and medical conditions
- A pediatric vaccine refrigerator in Homer City.

Security officer Dave Hixson displays the Tasers purchased for the security department by the Prosperity Fund.

If it sounds like this is going very rapidly, it did,” Bruce says. “She was basically on life support from there until Friday, until Amanda and I decided to start turning the machines off.”

When the family sat down to write her obituary, Strittmatter floated the idea of soliciting memorial donations for a cause.

“It took me about two seconds, and I said: Birdie’s Closet,” Bruce says. “That was a big deal for her.”

Jackie was buried on Dec. 15. Between Christmas and New Year’s Day, Strittmatter reached out to the hospital and found out more than $1,000 had already been donated in her name.

When all was said and done, it ended up being roughly $3,400 in donations.

“That doesn’t sound like a lot of money, but that’s a big number for one person,” Bruce says. “That’s how much respect she had in the community here.”

Strittmatter says the request even brought in donations from other towns, and sympathy cards came from out-of-state residents who had only met her once.

“Her personality was more than just Indiana,” Strittmatter says.

Bruce adds, “She’d walk in a room, and she was always smiling when she walked in. I said, ‘Why do you have to smile all the time?’ She said, ‘Well, that’s what you do.’ Watching her evolve into the person she was before she passed away was fun to watch.”

Strittmatter and Bruce say Jackie was the type of person who never seemed to require sleep. And while they immediately kept up her support for Birdie’s Closet, whoever takes up the mantle of her wider charitable efforts has their work cut out for them, the family says.

“I don’t know who’s going to fill her shoes like that now,” Bruce says. “I really don’t. She was a phenomenal person. She’d make you tired. You couldn’t keep up with her.”
IRMC Community Gives Back

Thank you for helping us make a difference in our community hospital. Each year, we receive several donations of toys, stuffed animals, coloring books, hats, blankets and so many other wonderful gifts for our patients here at IRMC. Our local community’s giving hearts are a reminder of all of the good this world provides. We just want to take a moment to thank all of you for your continued support.

Ways to give

Your gift can benefit:

Palliative Care
Palliative Care aims to enhance the quality of life — including the physical, emotional and spiritual needs — of patients and families who are faced with serious illness. This fund will ensure that patients and families receive support.

Birdie’s Closet
The closet is a unique boutique serving women before, during and after cancer by providing shawls, hats, wigs, scarves, camisoles, blankets, satchels and more. Your gift helps us continue our mission to ensure that individuals undergoing cancer treatment and some of its devastating side effects have a haven to secure products to meet their individual needs.

Diabetes - Indigent Fund
This fund helps those less fortunate with purchasing insulin, syringes, medications, etc.

Cardiology Department
This fund supports the Cardiology Department and is restricted for use within the department for equipment upgrades necessary for patient care.

Pediatric Care & TBFD
This fund supports pediatric care. It is restricted to providing care and services to children by meeting their medical and wellness needs. This can be as an inpatient or through a variety of community service projects that reach children through the local schools or community programs.

IRMC Cancer Center in partnership with UPMC Hillman Cancer Center
This fund supports the ongoing operation of the IRMC Cancer Center.

Debra Hodak Water Wall
The Water Wall is displayed in the IRMC Cancer Center in partnership with UPMC Hillman Cancer Center. The donor wall feature memorializes Debra L. Hodak and shares her inspiration with others who enter the IRMC Cancer Center. Each gift of $1,000 will get your loved one’s name placed on the water wall.

Cancer Care Fund
The Cancer Care Fund assists patients that have unmet needs, but have exhausted all other funding sources through personal insurance and federal/state/local organizations.

Wyant Pink Ribbon Wall
The Wyant Family Pink Ribbon Wall is proudly displayed in the IRMC Women’s Imaging Center. The wall symbolizes strength, courage and the hope for a cure. We are honored to display you or your loved one’s name for a gift of $1,000 or more.

Women’s Imaging Center
The Women’s Imaging Center at IRMC is home to the latest advances in technology in breast care. Not only is there a state-of-the-art breast MRI now available, there is also 3D mammography. The Imaging Center is also where the resource library and Birdie’s Closet are located.

Donor Designated
Donations are directed toward the department or service area of your choosing.
