November is National Alzheimer's Disease Awareness Month, and St. Claire Regional kicked it off once again by raising awareness and support for Alzheimer's! The sixth annual "Turkey Trot for a Cure," a 5K walk/run, was held on Nov. 5 at the Morehead Conference Center and was a great success, with over 250 walkers/runners and more than $7,000 in sponsorships and donations raised for the St. Claire Foundation's Alzheimer's and Dementia Care Fund.

More importantly, however, we need to be aware of the impact Alzheimer's disease has and continue to work together to find a cure. Nearly 5.4 million people in the U.S. have Alzheimer's disease, including 69,000 Kentuckians. The disease affects one in eight older adults in the U.S., and is the sixth leading cause of death for which there is no cure. It's estimated that 50 percent of those who suffer from Alzheimer's never receive a diagnosis. Additionally, there are as many as 15 million unpaid caregivers in the U.S. today — 270,000 in Kentucky alone!

Alzheimer's is a type of dementia that causes problems with memory, thinking and behavior. Symptoms usually develop slowly and get worse over time, becoming severe enough to interfere with daily tasks. Alzheimer's is the most common form of dementia, a general term for memory loss or other intellectual abilities. Affected individuals may experience one or more of these signs to different degrees:

- Memory loss that disrupts daily life
- Challenges in planning or solving problems
- Difficulty completing familiar tasks at home, at work or at leisure
- Confusion with time or place
- Trouble understanding visual images and spatial relationships
- New problems with words in speaking or writing
- Misplacing things and losing the ability to retrace steps
- Decreased or poor judgment
- Withdrawal from work or social activities

While Alzheimer's currently has no cure, treatments for symptoms are available and research continues. Although current Alzheimer's treatments cannot stop the disease from progressing, they can temporarily slow the worsening of dementia symptoms and improve quality of life for those with Alzheimer's and their caregivers. Today, there is a worldwide effort under way to find better ways to treat the disease, delay its onset and prevent it from developing.

Many people have trouble with memory loss; this does not mean they have Alzheimer's disease. There are many different causes of memory loss. If you or a loved one is experiencing symptoms, see your healthcare provider so a cause can be determined.
