

Lillian Njoki M.D., Internal Medicine

Medical School:	St. George's University School of Medicine, Grenada, West Indies
Higher education:	African Nazarene University Nairobi, Kenya – Computer Science & Technology Georgia State University – Psychology Studies
Hometown:	Atlanta, Georgia
Medical practice interests:	Inpatient hospitalist medicine and later outpatient internal medicine. I want to open my own spa and farm.
Recreational activities/hobbies:	I enjoy activities that bring people together. For instance, I watch football because I love spending time with my friends – Tom Brady for LIFE !! I love activities that rejuvenate the senses like dancing, singing, hiking, getting a massage, chanting, eating good food, having good conversations, and sometimes cleaning dishes is calming.
Other:	I was born in Nairobi, Kenya. I am fluent in Kiswahili and Kikuyu; and working on my English.