

Pharmacy Residents 2022-2023

Kayla Williams was born in New Orleans, Louisiana and grew up in Mansfield, Texas after relocating. She attended Xavier University of Louisiana College of Pharmacy from 2016-2022 where she earned her Doctor of Pharmacy degree. During school, she served in multiple leadership positions and was heavily involved in data collection for a research project focused in psychiatry. She is also a proud member of the Delta Eta chapter of Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity Inc and was rewarded for her academic excellence through acceptance into Rho Chi, an academic honor society. Her professional interests include ambulatory care, psychiatric pharmacy, and internal medicine. Outside of work, she enjoys spending time with her family and friends, finding new places to eat, exercise, and roller skating. As a PGY-1 pharmacy resident at Unity Health, she hopes to expand her clinical skills through collaboration with an interprofessional team to ultimately provide quality patient care.

Savannah Pratt was born and raised in McKenzie, Tennessee. She earned an Associate's of Science from Jackson State Community College and completed her undergraduate courses at the University of Tennessee at Martin. She then attended Union University College of Pharmacy in Jackson, Tennessee where she earned her Doctor of Pharmacy. During pharmacy school she served as the Class of 2022 Female Intramural Chair and her chapter's 2019-2020 APhA Women's Health Chair. Her pharmacy interests include infectious disease, ambulatory care, critical care, and academia. In her spare time, she enjoys cheering on any and every Tennessee sport, spending time with her family and dogs, being outdoors, and reading. As a PGY-1 pharmacy resident at Unity Health, she is looking forward to growing her knowledge base and becoming an integral part of patient care..

Lincoln Neal grew up in Santa Maria, California and earned a Bachelor's in Biology from Cal Poly in 2015. He then attended Harding University in Searcy, Arkansas, where he earned a Doctor of Pharmacy in 2022. During his time in pharmacy school, he was involved in APhA-ASP. His professional interests include Infectious Disease, Internal Medicine, and Critical Care. Outside of work, he enjoys spending time with his wife and three kids, playing basketball, and hunting. As a PGY-1 pharmacy resident at Unity Health, he aspires to enhance his clinical capabilities and prioritize the patient's well-being above all else.

Sydney Vanourney is from Troy, MO, about an hour north of St. Louis. She attended St. Louis College of Pharmacy where she earned a Bachelors in Pharmaceutical Sciences (2018) and a Doctor of Pharmacy (2022). Throughout pharmacy school, she was heavily involved in developing her career as a pharmacy intern at various health systems, including two separate rehabilitation networks and one community hospital. Additionally, she served on the executive board of American Society of Consultant Pharmacists for multiple years in various positions. Her professional interests are widespread but currently involve oncology and internal medicine. During the PGY1 pharmacy residency year, she hopes to further
