

TONIGHT

Tonight, access to exceptional heart specialists kept Roger's love of music alive.

When Roger Zeitel walked into White Plains Hospital's emergency room, he had no idea he was having a heart attack. He was quickly taken to the cardiac catheterization lab where Director of Interventional Cardiology, Dr. Mark Greenberg, discovered two coronary blockages and a failing heart valve. Dr. Greenberg was able to immediately call on his long-time colleague, Dr. Robert Michler, Surgeon-in-Chief at Montefiore, who performed lifesaving open heart surgery at Montefiore.

The White Plains Hospital and Montefiore Health System partnership ensured that Roger is back to doing what he loves - headlining the local music scene with his bandmates.
