

Complex hand surgery put this golf pro back on course.

When Dana Bates suffered a devastating hand injury, she knew her career as a golf professional was on the line. At her friend Jean's insistence, she opted for a complex surgical procedure with an experienced hand specialist. Dr. Paul Fragner and the team at White Plains Hospital provided Dana with advanced surgical care and one-on-one support to help her regain full mobility of her hand. Now, Dana has returned to the sport she loves.
