

THIS MORNING

This morning, a lung cancer patient got a fighting advantage - an entire team of highly-skilled surgeons.

We put everything we have into a patient's fight against lung cancer - that includes a team approach to surgery. When multiple, highly-trained surgeons collaborate in the operating room, they can perform complex surgeries even more effectively. At White Plains Hospital, we've built an award-winning lung cancer program, delivering life-saving procedures and an exceptional patient experience, every day.
