A Timeless Goodbye

They say that time tells all
Heals all
Fills
All of the open spaces
Colors all of the shaded places
Dimmed by the once lively memories That died
When we said goodbye
I wonder why time is taking so long Because, for some reason, I can't go on Without remembering your laugh
How you laughed at the saddest moments And cried
When you couldn't wrap your mind Around how beautiful the sunset was.
Your smile gave me life
Your eyes eased my soul
Your words let me start
Your hugs healed my heart
And now that we are apart
And all I have is time
I will use it to say
I miss you
I love you
