The Opportunity

Whether you're in the industrial, manufacturing, logistics, energy, data and storage, financial, TMT, or waterside port sectors, Queensferry One is the destination that has it all.

The Local Development Plan allocates the 120 acres for Class 4 (business), 5 (general industrial), 6 (storage and distribution) and other associated uses. There is a 14 acre Gateway plot located at the highly prominent eastern end of the site closest to the M90 motorway (Junction 1C). The allocation permits tourist and community related uses which includes retail and other leisure type uses.

Regional Selective Assistance (RSA) is a discretionary grant available for businesses who wish to develop a project in Scotland. Queensferry One sits within a Tier 2 award district (Scotland's highest bracket) with grants available to all businesses (SMEs, medium and large businesses). Further details are available from either of the joint agents or by contacting Scottish Enterprise direct.

Fife Council have offered to work with all inward and mobile investors in providing a range of sources designed to make a move into Fife as easy as possible.

The Development

Queensferry One comprises a new strategic development site of approximately 120 acres (48.5 hectares). Fully serviced sites are immediately available, alternatively design and build opportunities can be tailored to occupiers' requirements, whether for heritable or leasehold interests.

Queensferry One will contain quality shared spaces providing manufacturing, distribution, office and commercial sites.

Currently home to world-leading marine, energy, defence engineering and manufacturing businesses, the masterplan complements an already thriving commercial hub.

The location

Within easy reach of the Queensferry Crossing, Queensferry One is ideally situated in Central Scotland offering an attractive location for business and employment.

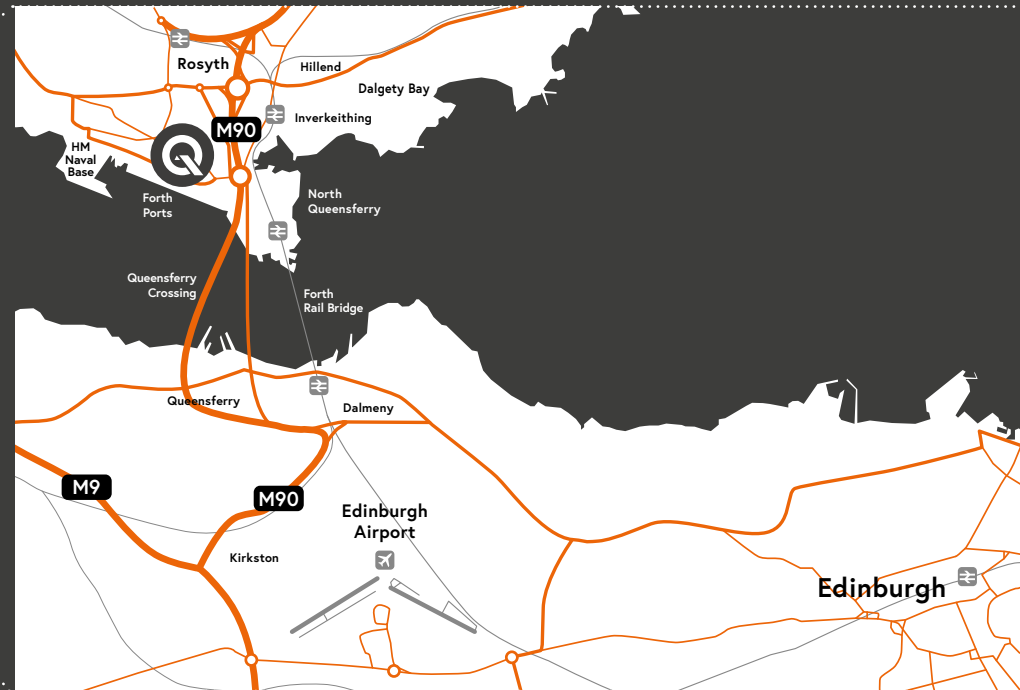

Queensferry One sits alongside the newly opened Queensferry Crossing and M90 motorway and connects Scotland's four major cities. Excellent public transport is provided to this extensive development site allowing connectivity between local areas and the main cities of Edinburgh and Glasgow. The adjoining docks provide three-weekly sailings to Zeebrugge and the close-by Inverkeithing train station is on the main east coast line providing a fast service to and from London and Aberdeen.

The locality already has a highly skilled workforce with over 40 years experience in the Energy and Marine sectors. With local training and research facilities available, Fife College and a further eight universities are within one hour's drive providing an invaluable support network for local, national and international business. Fife is also one of the most desirable areas in Scotland to live with many local coastal villages and attractions such as Dunfermline Abbey, Crail and St Andrews all within an easy drive.

The area also benefits from an extensive local bus service which is supported by Rosyth and Inverkeithing railway stations

Queensferry One represents a prime, international, waterfront location.

Queensferry One is the go-to destination for people travelling not just from Rosyth, Inverkeithing, Dunfermline and the neighbouring areas across Fife, but also Edinburgh, West Lothian, Tayside and Glasgow which are all within an hour's drive and easily accessible by public transport.

The development sites within Queensferry One border some of the best known successful businesses with a history and particular specialism in the Energy and Marine sectors although the opportunities for other business sectors are equally attractive. Queensferry One has direct frontage onto the Firth of Forth with clear views of the spectacular Forth Bridges and the recently completed Queensferry Crossing. Already benefiting from over £100M investment in site infrastructure and property development, Queensferry One is the perfect destination for businesses seeking land from as little as 1 acre to the total land availability of 120 acres.

The Three Bridges: Facts & Figures

Representing a masterpiece in world-class engineering, the Queensferry Crossing is a major part of the Scottish Government's plan for the Forth transport corridor.

The Queensferry Crossing is the third bridge to span the Firth of Forth. Together, all three bridges provide passage for people travelling across Scotland by road, rail, foot or bike.

The new Queensferry Crossing complements the UNESCO World Heritage Forth Bridge, opened in 1890, and the visionary Forth Road Bridge first opened in 1964.

Here's what you need to know about the new Queensferry Crossing at a glance

The Queensferry Crossing is estimated to have cost around £1.35bn

At a length of 1.7 miles the cable-stayed bridge is the longest in the world

The crossing stands a mighty 207 metres above high tide

An estimated 10,000,000 man hours have been spent to complete the bridge

23,000 miles of cabling used in the construction could almost stretch around the planet

The bridge provides two lanes of motorway, both north and south bound

Pioneering wind-shielding will help keep the Queensferry Crossing open in all weathers
