

The Gronk Fitness Selectorized Dual Bicep & Tricep combines targeted upper-body strength training for both biceps and triceps in a single, commercial-ready unit. It's built on a solid steel frame with precision components and a selectorized weight stack for smooth, easy resistance changes, while ergonomic seating and back support promote proper form and user comfort through every set. High-quality pulleys and cables ensure fluid motion, consistent tension, and durable construction which stands up to frequent use in high volume training environments. Ideal for commercial facilities and serious lifters seeking efficient upper-body isolation and development
