Essential Watercolour Supplies for Beginners

Watercolor Paints

One of the most common misconceptions about watercolour is that you need expensive, professional-grade paints to get started.

The truth is, you don't need the most professional paints, nor do you need dozens of colours. A small, thoughtfully chosen palette is more than enough to learn colour mixing, understand colour relationships, and create beautiful paintings.

Good Quality Student-Grade Paints

These paints offer excellent value and are perfect for beginners:

- Sonnet by Nevskaya Palitra
- Kuretake Gansai Tambi
- Camel Artist Water Colours

Artist-Grade Paints

If you'd like to invest a little more in your supplies, these artist-grade paints offer superior pigmentation, transparency, and colour brilliance:

- White Nights by Nevskaya Palitra
- Brustro Watercolours
- Mijello Mission Gold
- Sennelier Watercolours

Remember: It's not the number of colours in your palette that makes a great painting—it's how well you learn to use them. Start simple, experiment often, and let your collection grow naturally as your skills and confidence grow.

Watercolor Brushes

You only need a few brushes to start.

Recommended:

- Round Brush Size 2
- Round Brush Size 6
- Mop Brush Size 10
- Flat Brush Size 12

Watercolor Paper

The quality of paper affects your painting more than the quality of paint.

Look for:

- 300 GSM paper
- Cold Pressed texture
- 100% Cotton Paper (preferably)

Recommended brands:

- Brustro - Artist Grade
- Chitrapat Handmade paper
- Sitaram Handmade paper
- Baohong Academy Grade Watercolor
- Fabriano Artistico

Additional Supplies

- Mixing Palette
- Two Water Containers
- Paper Towels
- Masking Tape
- Drawing Board
