Cape Saint Blaize

Our on-site artisanal distillery, Cape Saint Blaize, captures the true spirit of Eden through rare, hand-foraged botanical selections and artful distillation. The brand celebrates the rich history of our unique property and the greater Mossel Bay.

“Saint Blaize” was Mossel Bay’s original recorded name, given when Portuguese explorer Bartolomeu Dias landed here on 3 February 1488. This coincided with the Catholic Feast of St Blaise and Dias named it Aguada de São Brás, the Watering Place of St Blaize. Ironically, St Blaise was renowned as a healer of throat ailments and protector of wild animals.

Cape Saint Blaize is distilled in a historic building that forms part of Post Tree Square. Built in 1846 for the wholesale firm Barry & Nephews as a warehouse and trading station, it is one of the oldest business premises in the Southern Cape.

In 1941, it was purchased by the Golden Ochre Company, which mined ochre clay in the Albertina district. The ochre was railed to Mossel Bay and milled in the factory, then exported to England and used in the manufacture of paint. Due to its location on top of the hill, the building also served as a beacon for ships entering Mossel Bay.

It is said that a flag pole was used to indicate whether it was safe for ships to enter the bay to load and deliver cargo. Nearly a century later, ochre from this era can still be found in the roof trusses of the building.

Let each sip of our Cape Saint Blaize spirits evoke the rich heritage of our beautiful region and venue.
