“The world is a stage, and there is a stage for everyone.” – Chloe Arnold

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE (March 4, 2024) – Ensemble Arts Philly, the new presenting brand of the Kimmel Cultural Campus and The Philadelphia Orchestra, is thrilled to welcome the ground-breaking and acclaimed all-woman tap squad, Syncopated Ladies, spearheaded by Emmy nominated Chloé Arnold, to the Miller Theater on April 13, 2024, at 7:30 p.m. The not-to-be-missed performance promises an engaging and energetic evening of fierce footwork, impressive choreography, and a vibrant celebration of tap dance at its finest.

Founded by Emmy nominated choreographer, Chloé Arnold, Syncopated Ladies celebrate a sisterhood of beautiful, diverse, and talented women. These dynamic and versatile performers weave together their inspiring personal stories with intricate footwork, feminine prowess, and sparkling energy. Dancing to today's cutting-edge music from pop and hip-hop to salsa and R&B, the ladies deliver an electrifying performance that breaks the mold and reinvigorates the artform of tap.

“Part of our annual Family Discovery Series, Chloé Arnold's Syncopated Ladies is more than a transformative visual experience,” said Frances Egler, Vice President of Theatrical

Programming and Presentations. "These formidable women embody physical and emotional strength, sharing awe-inspiring rhythms alongside pieces of their own stories."

Syncopated Ladies is the most viewed Female Tap dance group in history. Known for their viral self-produced content, they were recognized by Beyoncé, who shared their work saying, "they killed it." Beyoncé's support catapulted them onto a global platform, and since then, Syncopated Ladies' trajectory has skyrocketed, surpassing over 100 million views online. They also received praise from Whoopi Goldberg on The View, Janet Jackson, Ciara, Lupita Nyong'o, and more.
