

ETFS US Technology ETF

WWW

30 May 2025

Objective

WWW provides exposure to some of the largest and most liquid U.S.-listed technology companies, capturing both mega-cap leaders and innovative mid-sized firms.

Benefits

Exposure to Leading U.S. Technological Innovators

The index tracks the largest and most influential U.S. technology companies by free float market cap, offering investors access to the core drivers of digital transformation and innovation.

Pure Technology Sector Focus

Unlike broader indices that dilute tech exposure, this ETF offers 'pure-play' US Tech exposure, ideal for investors seeking targeted growth potential.

Growth Potential

The technology sector consistently leads in global innovation fuelling strong earnings growth and potential long term capital appreciation.

Benchmark Description

The Index aims to measure the performance of the largest US technology companies on a market capitalisation weighted basis. Construction of the index starts with companies that are in both of the following indexes:

- The Solactive GBS United States 500 Index, which measures the performance of the largest 500 US companies.
- The Solactive GBS Global Markets All Cap Technology Focused USD Index, which measures the performance of technology companies from developed and emerging markets, as defined under FactSet's Revere Business Industry Classification System (RBICS).

These companies are judged to be large US technology sector companies. All such companies are selected in the Index and weighted by free float market capitalisation.
