About

I am a Full-Stack web developer having already completed a paid project to build a company website. I have also recently graduated from Le Wagon's intense Ruby on Rails coding bootcamp in London where I built various web applications from scratch both on my own and in teams. In 2018 I completed a three month front end course. I am looking for a full time role to bring my creative ideas to life by joining an exciting team where I can continually learn and develop, while positively contributing to a company.

Education

Le Wagon

October 2019 - December 2019
