Attic Ocean is a shoegaze band from Düsseldorf known for their shimmering guitars, atmospheric soundscapes and the enchanting voice of their singer Hanni. The five-piece group combines nostalgic influences from the 90s with modern dream-pop elements. Their second EP “Retriever” (2024), mastered by Simon Scott (Slowdive), underlines their reputation as “Germany’s dreamiest band”. In spring 2025, they even accompanied shoegaze-pioneers Ride as a support act on their German dates.

With a music video filmed in Tokyo, the song “Lilies And Sea” reached 250.000 views on YouTube within a short time. The video for “Glow” transports the viewers to the alleys of Paris and emphasizes the band's international orientation.
