

Accepting a Consequence

High levels of anxiety around a punishment can cause behavior to spiral. Children who are coached in maintaining respect for others while calmly accepting consequences of their behavior quickly learn the benefits of their new actions.

Use a calming strategy

Use self talk

Think about your choices

