A close-up, high-resolution image of a modern incandescent light bulb. The bulb has a distinctive, rounded, and somewhat bulbous shape with a textured, frosted glass exterior that gives it a vintage or industrial feel. The interior is visible, showing a bright, glowing filament that emits a warm, golden-yellow light. The base of the bulb is a standard screw-in type with a metallic, ribbed finish. The background is a solid, deep black, which makes the glowing bulb stand out prominently.
