

Regenerative

Living

13TH BEACH - 14 The Bluff

Living intentionally is all about getting back to natural tones, natural fibres and creating an earthy atmosphere in the home, ultimately connecting our inner worlds with our outer worlds.

TRE
-ND

Anchoring this trend is colour and texture. From earthy and natural tones, through to spicy and warm hues are definitely the colour direction of the season.

Google search terms for “terracotta bedrooms” have seen an increase of 11% year on year, inspiring us to recreate this colour-blocking trend, layering chunky wool carpets in warm earthy tones with natural bed linen, terracotta tiles and chunky pottery.

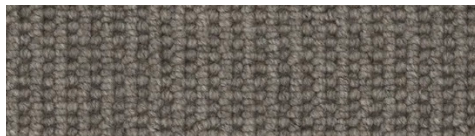

@feltexcarpets

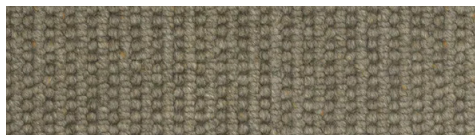

www.feltex.com

SUN-BAKED HUES

We are recommending the use of deep spiced tones to contemporary furnishings and the use of tonal colour-blocking to ornamental elements, while seeing depth being layered through glass objects or lacquered surfaces.

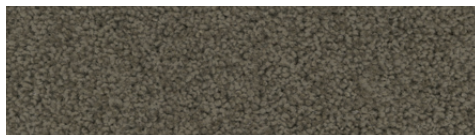

OPULENT WEAVE - 19 Koa

OPULENT WEAVE - 44 Caviar

GREAT DIVIDE - 96 Franklin

ESSINGTON - 96 Regime

BARLEYSTONE - 42 Woodgrain

BARLEYSTONE - 92 Granite

BAILEY - 76 Cherokee

BAILEY - 41 Creamy Beige

RETURNING TO OUR ROOTS

The regenerative living trend is all about healing through returning to your roots.

Why wool? Wool carpets are made from the finest natural wool fibres, which are renewable and biodegradable. Wool carpet is also naturally insulative with humidity control for a comfortable indoor environment, making it cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

Wool carpets are naturally luxurious and hypoallergenic making them both aesthetic and suitable for those with allergies. They are also soft to touch evoking a positive sensory experience.