Jesus often went away from people to pray. And one of the greatest joys of your life will be the uninterrupted time you spend with your heavenly Father. The best way to make sure you have that time is to intentionally establish a place to pray. Make it a sacred place, set apart, and safe. If you are willing to make this small move, I promise that the Lord will meet you there face-to-face.

MARY JO PIERCE, ADVENTURES IN PRAYER

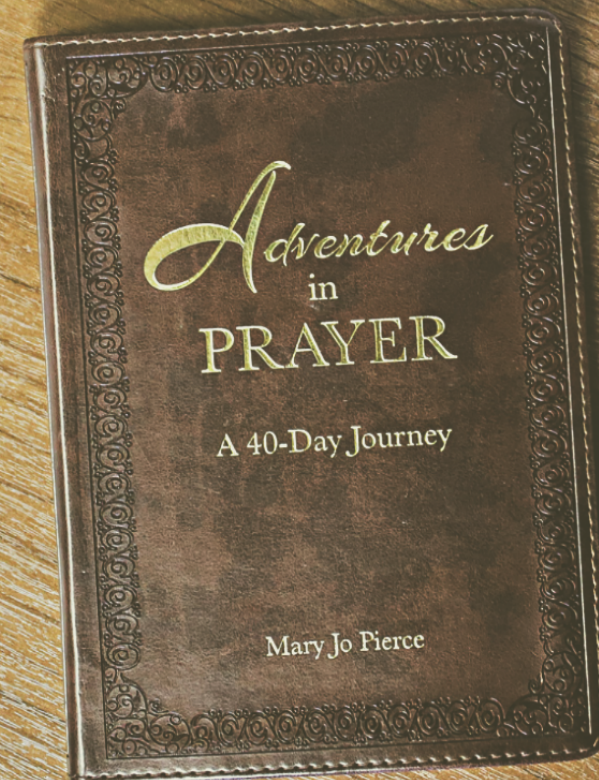

God is not a sleepy God (Psalm 121:4). He is always awake and available. Every believer has times when God seems far away or unapproachable. Take courage - He is here. He wants to have a personal, private audience with you. As you read God's Word, listen. He is speaking. Always, He is speaking.

The apostle Paul said if they were in Christ, the whole world would become different (2 Corinthians 5:17). Things you thought were impossible become possible, things that were hopeless become hopeful, and even things that were dead live again. If you have not had that experience with Jesus, today is the day to change your heart and mind and turn to Him. He will not send you away disappointed.

The Holy Spirit breathes life into the written Word. It becomes so personal, so private, and so profound. As John Robinson, one of the American Pilgrim Fathers wrote, "I am verily persuaded the Lord hath more truth yet to break forth out of His Holy Word." Yes, there is always more..ask the Lord to show you more. As you search the scriptures, He will reveal the truth about your heart, your will, and your actions. And through the Bible, He will form you into His image.

Life in the spirit means receive everything God has for you. He is a good father who gives good gifts (Luke 11:11-13). Always be ready and willing to receive every gift He has for you.
