

Ken Fulk and 31 Other Star Designers Have Redecorated the La Cienega Design Quarter—And We're Here for It

Take a digital stroll through the window displays newly redesigned for Legends 2023

By Jessica Ritz

Photography by Peter Christiansen Valli

May 12, 2023

Add another event to the list of industry gatherings making a robust return in 2023. While the La Cienega Design Quarter's Legends festival made a soft return last year, the West Hollywood-based consortium of 45 design businesses just wrapped a robust agenda of talks, parties, and new product launches as part of its 13th edition. (Not to mention, the Quarter has been extended by one-square mile to add Melrose Avenue showrooms west of the Pacific Design Center and San Vicente to the fun.) Our favorite event? The window display reveal, a marquee Legends tradition in which dozens of interior design firms reimagine the La Cienega Design Quarter's showroom windows.

Below, take a digital stroll through the streets of the La Cienega Design Quarter and enjoy the newly redesigned window displays.

MASH Gallery by Eddie Maestri Peter Christiansen Valli

MASH Gallery by Eddie Maestri

Dallas-based architect Eddie Maestri presents an eclectic, art-centric view for his installation, featuring paintings from the gallery by Haleh Mashian and Cabell Molina, plus various works by the designer's own hand and Maestri Studio originals.