Indianapolis continues emergence as major U.S. tech hub

MARKET SCORE AND MATRIX POSITION

- JLL recently released its Summer 2016 U.S. Technology Office Outlook, a comprehensive report looking at the dynamics currently shaping the technology industry across 45 markets. Indianapolis earned high marks across the board as the city continues to emerge as a top destination for tech firms.
- In particular, Indianapolis landed in the sweet spot for growing technology companies, thanks in large part to its #1 ranking in cost. Indy also scored in the top half of markets in its ability to handle technology industry volatility over a long-term period and finished as a top-10 market for tech leasing during the past year.
