To Whom It May Concern:

I'm a passionate hi-caliber generalist who contributes insight, motivation, and complementary skills on many teams and/or projects. I have experience working with consulting agencies and small companies from my degree in Management - I then managed a startup company before joining Bosch IT Corporate Innovation Office (CI/IO). My core strengths outline spells out the benefits and growth opportunities of my team working style. Additionally, the skills inventory outlines my concrete skills that were utilized or gained on recent projects.

I look forward to the upcoming Urban Mobility Hackathon in Chicago, and would greatly appreciate an opportunity to continue work with the Urban Mobility Strategy Group.

Best regards,

Matthew Robinson
