Further™

Where Change Meets Choice

Shifts in technology, the economy, and how people interact and collaborate are constantly transforming your workplace. Furniture solutions must provide flexibility and choice like never before, with the ability to accommodate “right now” as efficiently as “what if?”.

With Further, plan your workspace for what you need today, with the confidence you can change and evolve it to meet what tomorrow will bring—all while addressing individual workstyles.

Shape Your Workspace

Just as business requirements take different forms, so can Further. One of the ways Further helps shape the productive workplace is its scalability—providing exactly what you need to meet the requirements of individuals, teams, and the entire organization.

Linear

Provide a seat for everyone while promoting interaction among team members.

Perpendicular

Create more enclosed workstations or collaborative areas, or a mix of the two.

Freestanding

Give workers the ability to change their workspace for whatever the moment demands.

Future-Forward

You don't know what the future will bring. However, one thing remains certain: your workplace must keep up with the pace of business. Further can effortlessly and efficiently adapt with versatile components, leveraging its inherent flexibility, eliminating the need to invest in an entirely new product. Further is the solution for today that comes standard with a plan for tomorrow.

Fixed Height

Adjustable Height

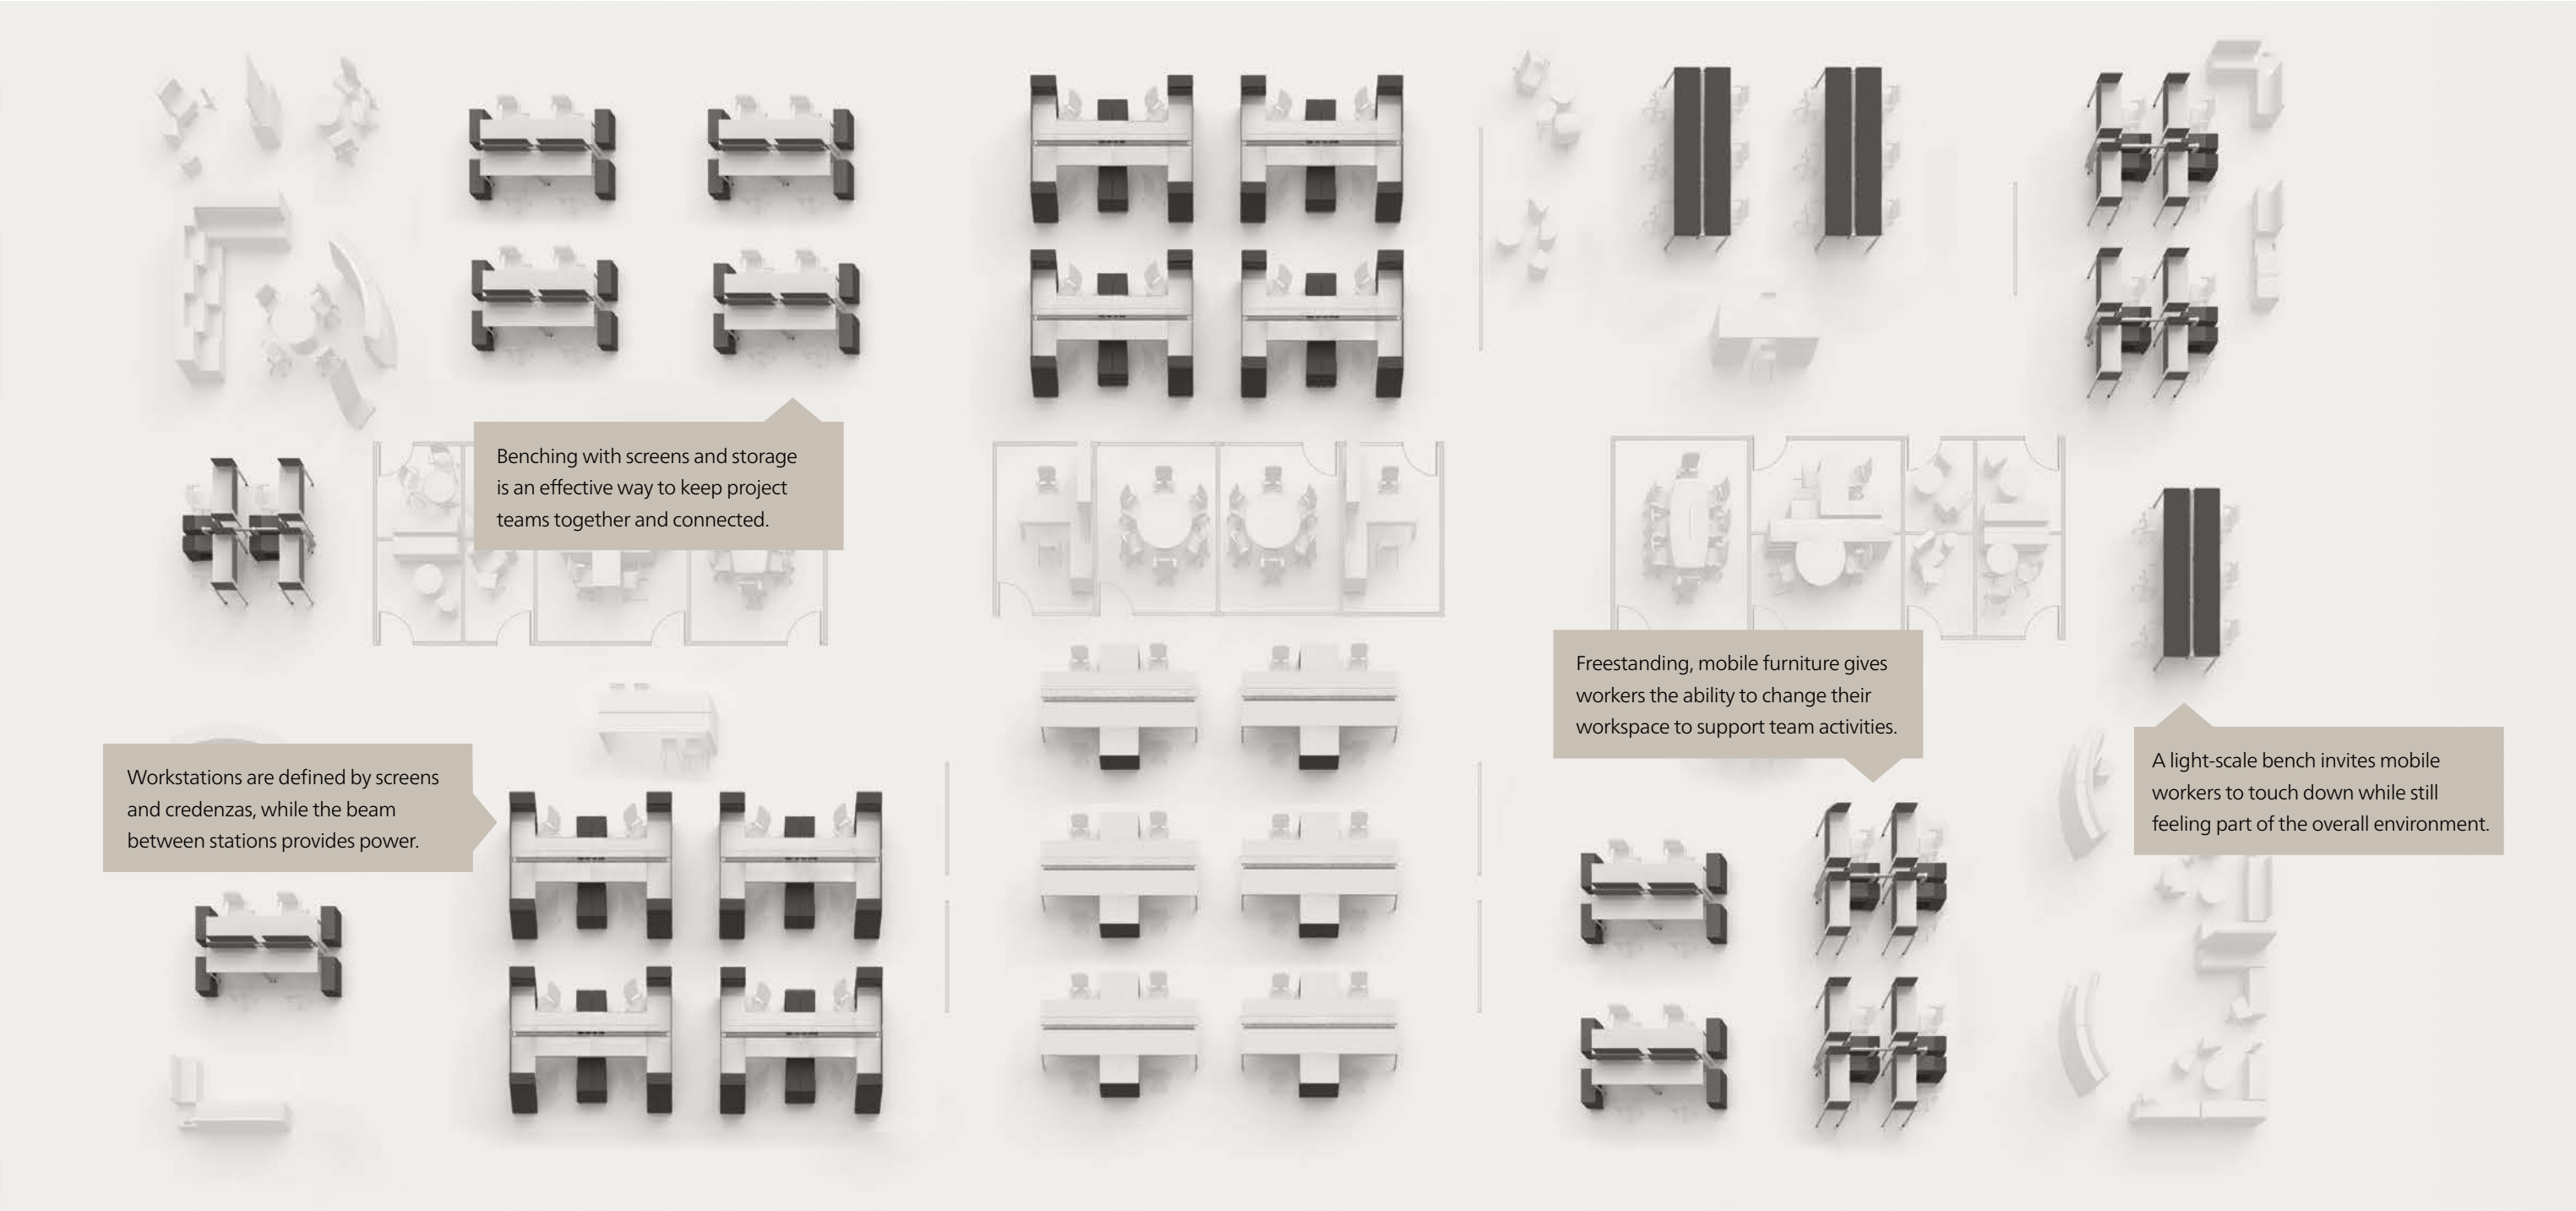

Raise Your Workspace to New Heights

Further can change with you as your workspace shifts. Fixed-height worksurfaces can be converted to integrated height-adjustable workspaces, reusing seventy percent of the original components. Further Adaptive makes promoting health and well-being easy with linear, perpendicular, and organic layout options.

Take Your Workplace Further

Further supports the different ways in which people think, structure, organize, and complete work. Using the same thoughtfully-designed components, Further offers countless opportunities to create an inspired, productive workplace where people can perform their very best.

Benching with screens and storage is an effective way to keep project teams together and connected.

Workstations are defined by screens and credenzas, while the beam between stations provides power.

Freestanding, mobile furniture gives workers the ability to change their workspace to support team activities.

A light-scale bench invites mobile workers to touch down while still feeling part of the overall environment.

Powerful Possibilities

The signature power hub is the key to Further's infinite flexibility. When beam-connected at standard or low height, power routes inside the beam. An integrated wire manager keeps data cables tidy and secure. With the versatile hub design, Further can easily reconfigure to accommodate whatever the workplace demands.

The freestanding hub powers individuals or team-based spaces in either a hardwired or corded design.

A beam-mounted wire manager hides data while keeping it easily accessible.

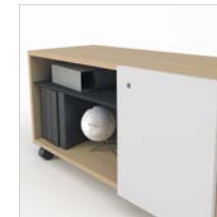

Make it Personal

Further makes it easy to create the environment you need to work productively and comfortably, with a variety of uniquely designed components. Choose from storage, space division, and desktop accessories for how you like to work.
