Delivering Meaningful Change

The Buckle, Inc. expanded its existing headquarters into a multi-building facility to better accommodate their growing teams and changing work environment. A mixture of low workstation panels and clear and custom-etched glass walls provides a continuous flow of natural light, creating a bright, open environment for collaboration and innovation between team members and departments.

Fostering New Behavior

Work zones, huddle areas, and glass-walled offices and meeting rooms were strategically planned on both floors – seamlessly creating the most efficient overall environment for rapid workplace change and improved team functionality.
