

Q: Why are we updating the Align Pedestal model logic?

A: The new model logic will allow future flexibility to add additional pull and foot options. A model cross-reference is available in the Allsteel storage specification & price list, available online.

Q: When will the new models be available?

A: The new Align pedestal models will be available October 15th. The current models will discontinue November 1st 2021.

Q: When will the new models be available in specification software?

A: The new models will be available to specify in the September specification software release.

Q: How do I know what the replacement model is for an old model?

A: We will publish the 1-1 models within the pricer as we do today with Align Towers, Lockers, and Wardrobes.
