pasting the portraits | inside out project continued

August 21, 2011

I posted about this exciting global art project some time ago here. Time has flown and the team from Inside Out approved our community project and sent our posters pronto!! Just last week we pasted them up. Initially we were to paste them on an [...]

inside out project

July 5, 2011

Sue Franklin and Bangalow Primary School asked me to help them out with participating in the wonderful Inside Out project: an inspiring global art project initiated by French artist JR. His wish: to bring communities together through art. I loved watching [...]
