OCTOBER 2025

JSI Health at Healthcare Design 2025: Where Design Doesn't Just Support Care, It Shapes It

JASPER, Ind., October 2025 — JSI Health returns to the Healthcare Design Conference + Expo with a clear message: spaces aren't backdrops—they're part of the care team. In Booth #1321, visitors will experience a focused, purposeful expression of what healthcare design can do when aesthetics, empathy, and performance come together with intention.

At JSI Health, we believe spaces of care are more than settings, they're active partners in the healing process, and every product we create reflects our belief that smart design drives better outcomes—for patients, caregivers, and families alike.

This year's booth is built around a visual and functional design language of soothing joy. Rounded forms, sun-warmed palettes, and soft, nature-forward tones create a space that encourages both pause and progress. It's not just a booth, it's a complete wellness moment, designed to reconnect attendees with why healthcare environments matter.

Product highlights include Satise, winner of the 2024 Nightingale Innovation Award and now officially patented for its engineering advancements in the MagLinx™ modular glide system. Showcasing alongside is Kindera, our 2024 Nightingale Silver recipient, which also now holds a patent for its Trans4rm™ recline mechanism, designed to improve patient transfer safety and caregiver ease. Kindera continues to evolve, and attendees will get an exclusive preview of upcoming enhancements, including an integrated heat and massage option, a continuous footrest model designed for long-term comfort and cleanability, a side tray with safety-first latching hardware, and an all-new glider variant slated for 2026. These advancements do more than just improve usability, they redefine standards in patient-centered performance.

Also debuting is Maru, JSI Health's newest lounge seating line. With sculptural, rounded forms and flowing lines, Maru visually anchors the booth and signals a shift toward softer, more expressive healthcare spaces that still meet clinical expectations. It's modular, comfortable, and crafted for the realities of today's healthcare demands.

Visitors will also see enhancements to the Anthology platform, a refreshed metal finish palette, and recent introductions like the Scroll caregiver stool and Knox easy access chair, all designed to create environments that heal, connect, and empower. And, in support of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, JSI Health is proud to partner with the American Cancer Society. For every badge scanned at Booth #1321 and every new social media follower through October 31, JSI will donate $5 to ACS, in support of better outcomes and brighter futures. JSI Health designs more than just furniture, we create foundations for care, comfort, and connection.
