DIVERSE RENT ROLL

The in-place tenancy at Park Place 8 is largely comprised of unique tenants serving the rooftops proximate to the Property, while other tenants serve diverse industries and consumers such as dental supplies, industrial laundry/linen supplies, technology services, and more. The diverse rent roll demonstrates the Property's ability to generate tenant demand from different industries across the market.

LAND CONSTRAINED INFILL LOCATION INSULATED FROM FUTURE SUPPLY

The rapid population growth experienced in Northwest Houston has pushed new industrial development well outside of Beltway 8, creating severe land constraints in the immediate area that would make it extremely difficult to replicate the Property today. Moreover, as developers focus on big-box distribution product, shallow-bay flex industrial has experienced significant growth in demand among sub 20,000 square foot tenants looking to cater the dense population in West and Northwest Houston.

Q2 2026 HOUSTON INDUSTRIAL MARKET OVERVIEW

Q2 2026 HIGHLIGHTS

- Houston's industrial market saw strong leasing activity in Q2, with the demand pipeline remaining strong in both distribution and manufacturing.
- Both vacancy and availability rates declined in the second quarter, suggesting the market is effectively absorbing new space as it delivers
- Both vacancy and availability rates declined in the second quarter, suggesting the market is effectively absorbing new space as it delivers.

Houston industrial delivered another robust performance in Q2, with leasing volume reaching 10.1 million s.f. This brought year-to-date total to 19.1 million s.f. The quarter's largest transactions were led by TAS Energy's two separate expansions totaling over 605,000 s.f. in the South submarket, Tesla's 504,370-s.f. expansion in the West submarket and Advance Auto Parts' 441,000-s.f. renewal in the Northwest.

Net absorption accelerated sharply to 7.1 million s.f. in Q2, 46% higher than Q1's 4.8 million s.f. and nearly triple Q2 2025's 2.6 million s.f., bringing year-to-date absorption to 12.0 million s.f. Notably, the two largest move-ins were both over 1.0 million s.f. and owner-user occupancies.

Total vacancy edged down 10 basis points quarter-over-quarter to 6.8%, despite having the single largest quarter of deliveries on record. Additionally, total availability fell more substantially from 12.0% to 10.3%, a 170-basis-point decline even as new supply entered the market. Several factors contributed to the reduction in availability, with the primary drivers being multiple full-building leases exceeding 300,000 s.f. and an owner-user sale at Generation Park for over 1.0 million s.f. This momentum is consistent with the strong Q2 absorption figure and reinforces the Houston market's ability to handle elevated supply volumes. The development pipeline contracted to 19.5 million s.f., down from 21.8 million s.f. in Q1, as deliveries outpaced new groundbreakings.

OUTLOOK

Looking ahead, Houston industrial is well positioned to maintain healthy market fundamentals, with year-to-date absorption already surpassing the same point in 2025 by a significant margin (12.0 million s.f. vs 5.4 million s.f.). Strong overall performance is anticipated for Houston in 2026, driven by continued expansions in advanced manufacturing demand.
