

LEAS/DE
LOCK

A CONTEMPORARY COLLECTION OF STUDIO, 1, 2 & 3 BEDROOM APARTMENTS

East LONDON

A place where the history is so rich, yet there's always something new to discover. Where creativity spills onto the streets and where innovators flock, creating new ideas and new communities.

Its effortless connectivity seamlessly links to all zones and major stations. Whether you're a city trendsetter or prefer the gentler side of London, both are on your doorstep. Scan the skyline around you and you'll grasp the activity that's making this corner of East London a place to invest in, a place to immerse yourself in – a place to call home.

Elevate your every day at Leaside Lock

E3

Nestled within this setting sits Bromley-by-Bow, an ever-evolving district on the banks of the River Lea.

Close to the City and a few steps from the water, it's impossible to find another destination where brunch in Shoreditch, shopping in Stratford, and paddleboarding along the canal are Sunday morning options, all reachable in 20 minutes or less. With two tube lines passing through the station, nothing is more than a hop, skip and train away.

Rising up into this view is Leaside Lock, a new collection of contemporary homes, crafted with modern living in mind. Here, a new heart is coming to Bromley-by-Bow, beating with the personality of East London, but offering West End sophistication. Behind the statement red brick and green pre-cast concrete, think sleek concierge* lobbies, on site workspaces and a health and relaxation studio. Not forgetting the residents' lounge and a roof terrace, where sunsets over the skyline should never be missed.

*Concierge will be launched in a later phase for all residents at Leaside Lock. Proposed amenity spaces correct at time of print (November 2021). EAST LONDON'S newest NEIGHBOURHOOD

Three Mills Island.

OLD

NEW

Three Mills Island rests just behind Leaside Lock. With records dating back to 1086, these historic mills have made flour for bread, gunpowder for battles and gin for the city's free houses. The tradition of local creativity lives on. The Three Mills studio today produces reels of iconic TV, film, music and theatre productions, which are shot moments away from Leaside Lock.

Inspired by this vivid past and the industrial red brick buildings so typical of the area, Leaside Lock features warm, clay facades. The palette is interspersed with towers of sage concrete that take influence from the mossy tones of the tidelines along the river's edge.

Phase One has been designed by award-winning architects, Assael Architecture. These new additions to the skyline share a timeless, cohesive aesthetic with a strong family resemblance. At their centre, a tree-lined public square will create a bustling hub for pop-up markets, outdoor cinema screenings and connecting with neighbours. More than a collection of apartments, Leaside Lock brings a new focal point to Bromley-by-Bow: a thriving cultural district with plentiful amenity space. You'll be spoilt for choice with the offering of workspaces, podium chill-out areas and roof terraces, to meet and relax with friends and family.

WATER

WATERSIDE living WITH THE CITY ON TAP

Of course, the buzz of the city is what makes London so magnetic. But what about the quieter moments when a wide, open sky and something greener underfoot is needed?

At Leaside Lock, waterside living comes into its own. There's little else as tranquil as a sunrise stroll along the River Lea, over bridges and under willow trees, as colourful narrowboats ripple across the water. A short walk down the reedy path is Limehouse Cut, the oldest canal in the capital. With a floating towpath, kayaking and wildlife to spot, it's the ideal place to reconnect with nature.

PARK

For space to run and share an afternoon picnic, Three Mills Green is located under a 5-minute walk from Leaside Lock. On any given day, expect to find a game underway on the ping pong tables, maybe an art trail sculpture or two and some little ones enjoying the Wild Kingdom playground. In the summer, the green comes alive when a perfectly curated list of independent street food, craft beer and music festivals arrive.

A wander through Bow leads to Mile End Park, another canal-side retreat. And at its most northerly tip sits all 200 acres of Victoria Park. Cafés, sports facilities, playgrounds and world-class events are all found here.

THE NEW heart OF BROMLEY-BY-BOW, BEATING WITH EAST LONDON PERSONALITY

ENERGETIC

Leaside Lock fuses East London expression with the refinement of the West End, where an afternoon spent discovering the latest art exhibition in Bow is followed by drinks on the residents' roof terrace. The best of the capital is encapsulated in one destination, with a doorstep full of options.

Leaside Lock's local, The Galvanisers Union has everything a classic pub should have. An impressive beer menu, locally renowned roast beef and prices that make you smile as much as the weekly comedy nights. Print House offers sourdough pizza, charcuterie boards and something tangy from the mezcal bar. All served on the terrace with a side of table tennis.

SOPHISTICATED

The River Lea, Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park, Stratford.

It's easy to while away a day on Bow's Roman Road – the historic street lined with independent cafés, boutiques and bakeries. Three times a week the 150-year-old market brings fashion stalls, fresh produce and delicious street food to both locals and visitors. Or there's the riverside hotspots of Crate, Number 90 and Barge East, just a kayak paddle away.

Westfield, one of the largest shopping and entertainment destinations in Europe, can be reached by foot in 30 minutes. The peaceful walk meanders through Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park, where the monumental sporting facilities of London 2012 emerge through the trees and along the waterways, before reaching Westfield. Not only home to the biggest brands, there's also a cinema, a casino and a never-ending choice of restaurants.

RELAX

LEASIDE LOCK

Life at Leaside Lock is about balance. It's a place where the every day is elevated and lifestyle takes centre stage. Here, there's something for everyone.

With a concierge* desk and convenience store downstairs, parcels are always signed for and the essentials are to hand. An energising workout in the gym or meditation in the health and relaxation studio* can be followed by a freshly roasted coffee in the café. Enjoy an afternoon drink on the partially enclosed roof terrace†, available for all season use. For those who like to travel on two wheels there's cycle storage available to residents on site.

Situated in London's Zone 2 and opposite the underground station, journeys across London couldn't be simpler – whether it's to the City, Canary Wharf or the West End.

But that's not even the best part. With innovative, flexible on site co-working spaces*, entrepreneurs and freelancers won't need to travel at all. Not just an idyllic office set up, it's a place to build connections with like-minded creators.

With the legacy of London 2012 flowing down the river, the future of the area feels just as exciting as its past. East Bank and the International Quarter will bring a vibrant culture, education and business district, with the likes of Sadler's Wells, BBC Studios, the V&A, Transport for London, The British Council and UNICEF all making a home here.
