Through the garden gate.

London's iconic garden squares are one of the true defining features of the City. Steeped in history, these leafy open spaces are an integral part of London's landscape.

London's squares have become an intrinsic part of the City's fabric. A focus for local communities, attractive to tourists and a rich haven for London's wildlife. These important links in the green chain between the City's parks and back gardens have played a major part in London becoming the world's first National Park City in 2019. Awareness of London's parks and gardens has grown in recent years, and there is renewed commitment to the conservation and improvement of squares, both public and private, contributing to the enjoyment and quality of life for all Londoners.

A rich heritage.

The director of the Heritage of London Trust, Dr Nicola Stacey, explains why Paddington Green is an area of particular historic and architectural interest.

Paddington Green is a conservation area — it's protected. Which means the unique atmosphere that you get here will also be protected going forward," explains Stacey, who was involved in the restoration of the statue of Sarah Siddons in Paddington Green. "I'm really interested in the changes to the area and I've watched the progress of The Residences on Paddington Green closely," she says. Her favourite feature of the development? The views. "You can see the Green and the fabulous Sarah Siddons statue."

"Berkeley obviously have a real interest in London's history. To preserve, respect and enhance its heritage and use it as inspiration."

Sarah Siddons was the actress of the 18th century. She was the first actress to play a male role (Hamlet) on stage and she was highly respected and admired. When she died, 5,000 people came to her funeral in Paddington Green.

"She represents the incredible heritage of Paddington and all the many interesting artistic, theatrical and literary figures who have lived, worked and performed here," explains Stacey. The area is also noted for its rich architectural history, which she describes as "quintessentially Georgian London." From St Mary's Church to the Green itself, the period architecture helps "retain a little bit of that sense of village life and atmosphere in central London, which is quite rare," adds Stacey.

plain sight...

A room with a view.

The Residences on Paddington Green are a tranquil haven overlooking a central courtyard as well as the open garden square of Paddington Green. Comprising 50 light filled apartments and accessing the private residents' facilities at West End Gate.

“Every element of the design, every piece of the building has some direct relationship to green space.”

Interview with Neil Howsam — Architect

The Residences on Paddington Green is in a conservation area - we're surrounded by listed buildings. The approach was to design a timeless piece of architecture that rivals the adjacent buildings," says Neil Howsam, an architect at Piercy&Company.

"The challenge was to find an appropriate language, scale and layout that's at the same time contextual and contemporary," he explains. Taking inspiration from Paddington Green's architectural heritage, Piercy&Company used the neighbouring Children's Hospital building as a starting point. "The red brick and terracotta is in direct reference to it," says Howsam, adding that the patterns on the facade of The Residences on Paddington Green are based on motifs found at nearby St Mary's Church. "My favourite element of the design is the relationship between each and every apartment and the Green itself," he says.

"The design and layout of the building were set to frame views out from each of the apartments to the Green or create views into private quieter courtyards that sit nestled between the development," Howsam explains. "We wanted to include a quiet green space that apartments would have direct access to. The private courtyard is that kind of inner sanctum for rest and retreat."

An Enchanting Garden.

Hidden underneath a canopy of trees, the picturesque courtyard garden of The Residences on Paddington Green is your very own secret garden. A peaceful and private retreat, the courtyard has been thoughtfully designed to help you relax, unwind and recharge. Escape the bustle of city life and discover lush green gardens and calming water features.

“The gardens have been designed to reflect London’s Victorian past with a contemporary twist.”

Interview with Matthew Short — Landscape Architect

Sympathetic to both its conservation area status and Victorian heritage, the courtyard and front gardens at the Residences on Paddington Green have been designed to be “aesthetically pleasing but functional,” says landscape architect, Matthew Short. “They’re for all ages and abilities. Green spaces are not just for exercising,” Short explains, “you can socialise and meet new people there too.”

Opportunities for meet-cutes were paramount for Short when designing the courtyard. “You have these serendipitous moments where you see your neighbour for the first time,” he says. “We hope elements like the small petanque area will entice residents into the courtyard to socially interact.”

If you’d rather be alone, there are plenty of secluded spots. “I think the feeling you get when you enter the courtyard is one of relaxation – it’s a tranquil space,” says Short.

“There’s seating underneath a canopy of trees and a reflection pool – perfect for when you want to unwind, relax and contemplate life.”

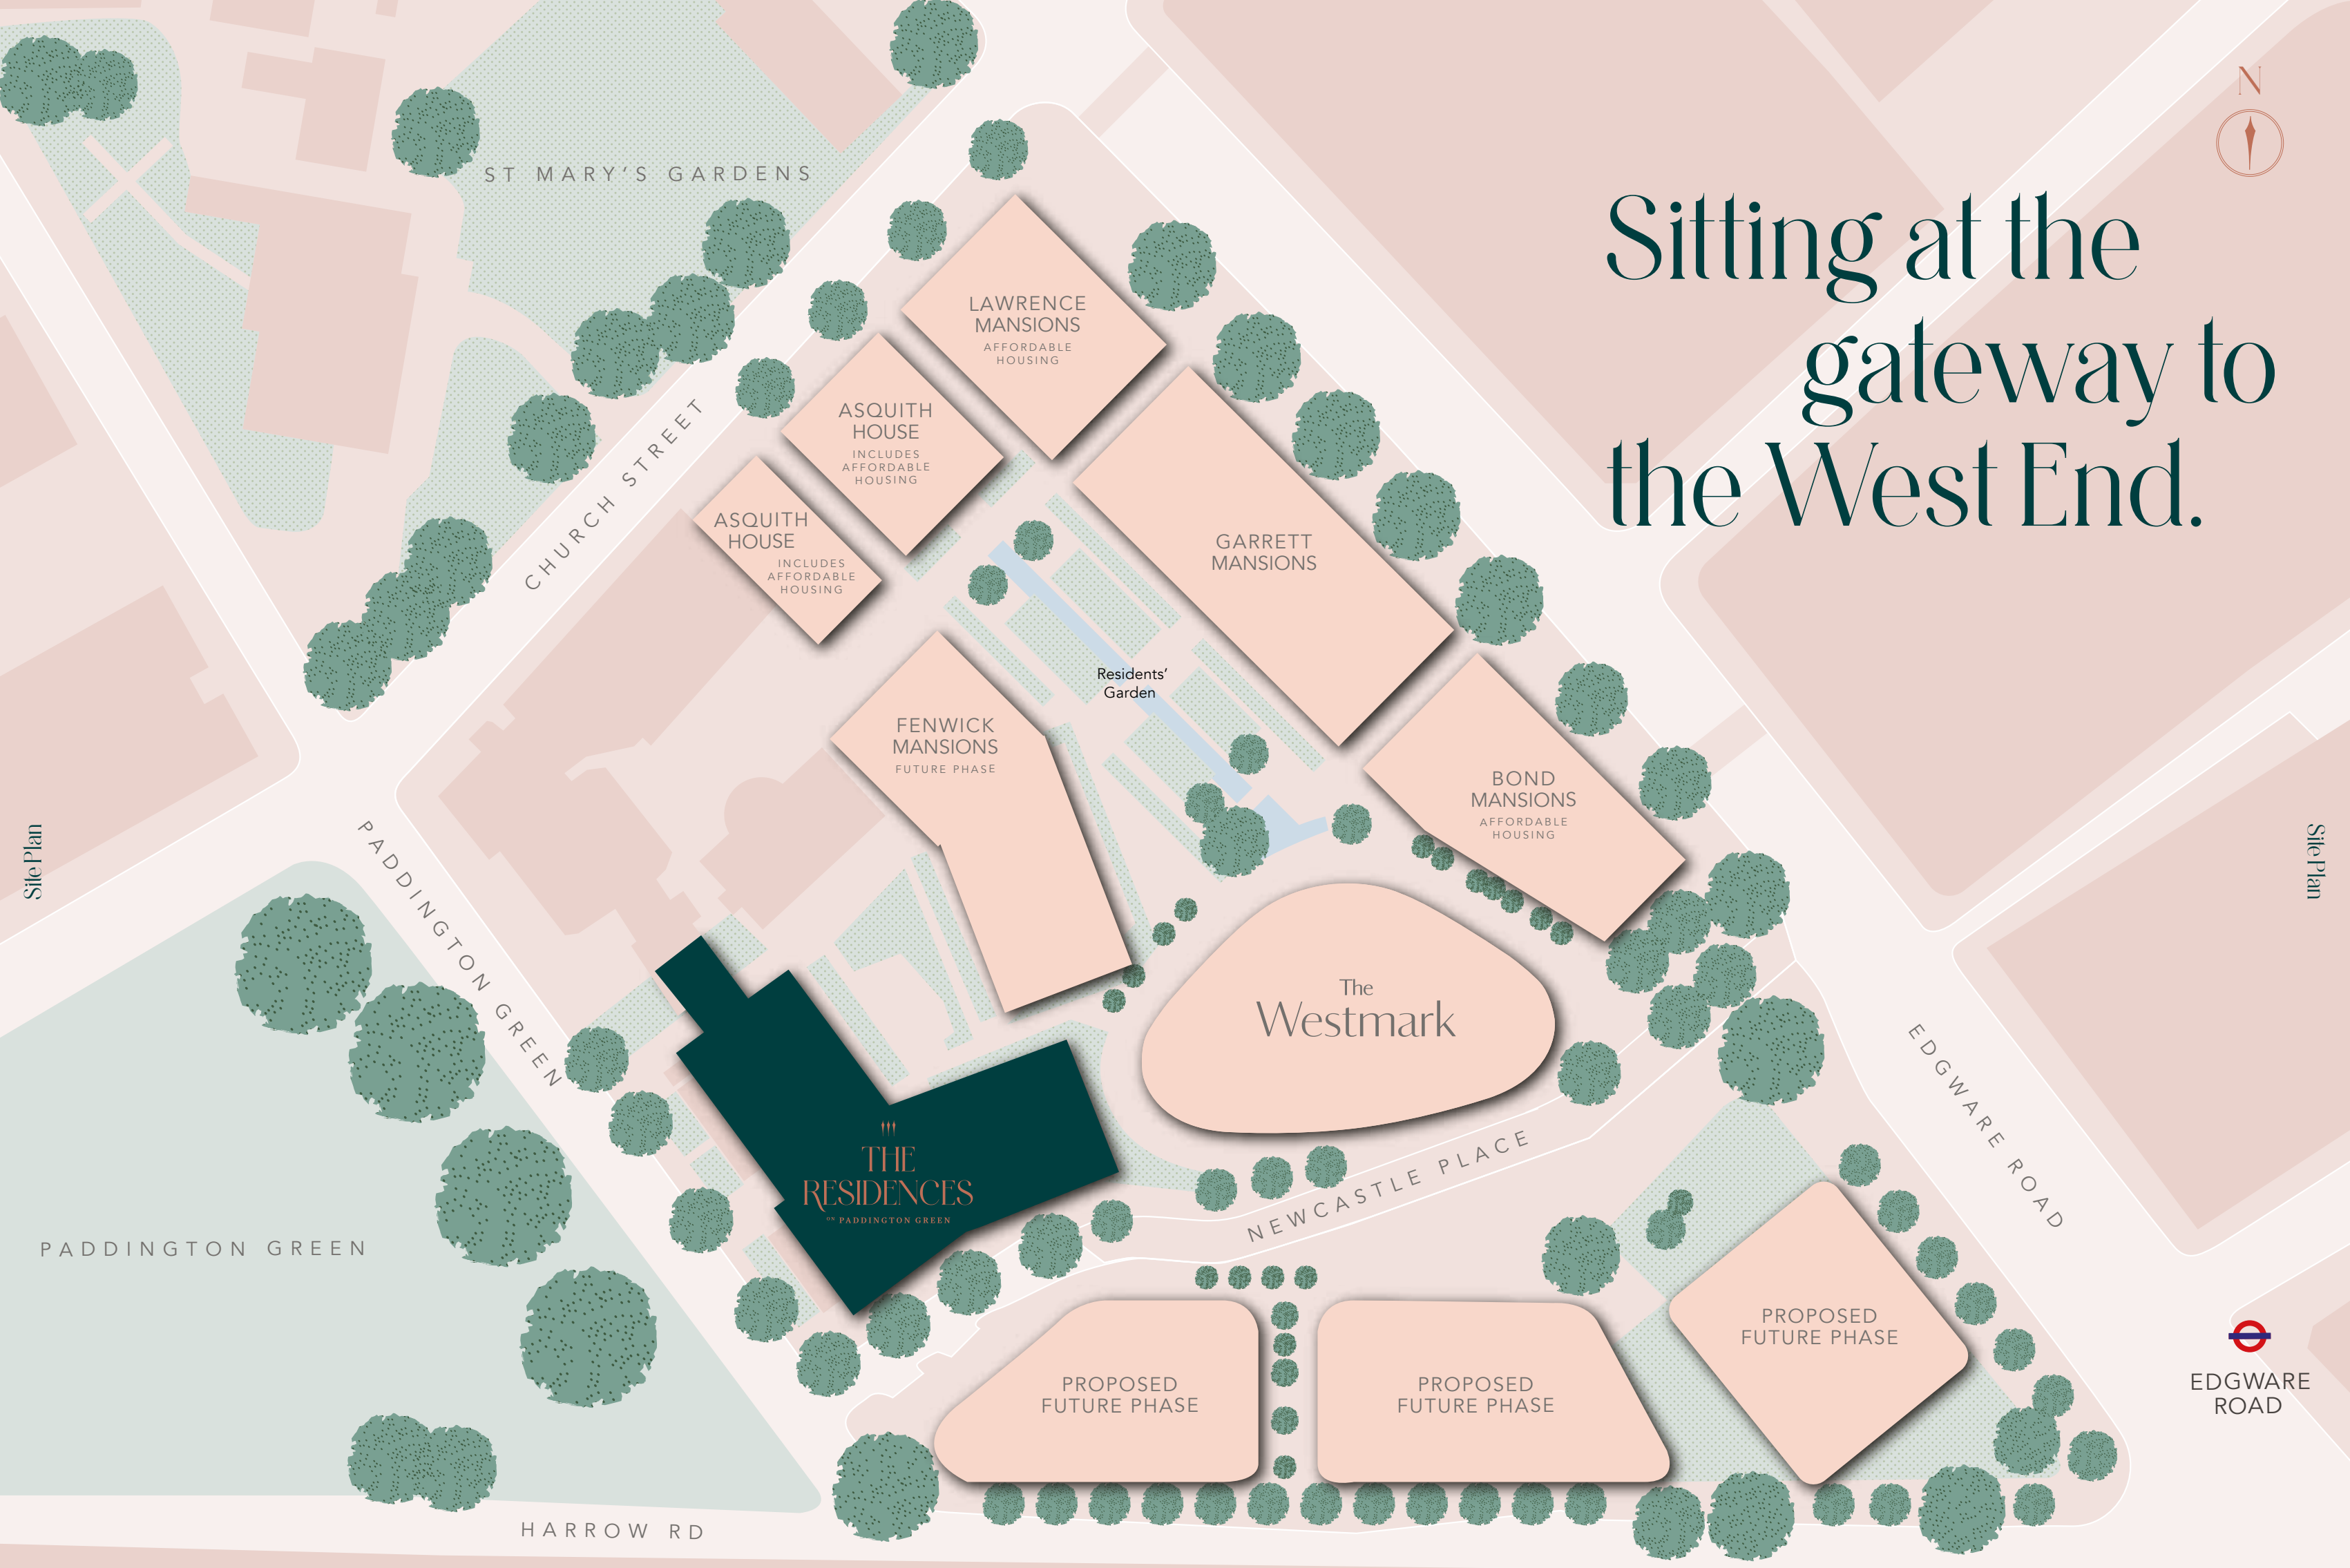

Short’s favourite green space are the manicured front gardens which reflect the Victorian ones that used to be there. “It’s a very simple and subtle design with a contemporary twist – you might not even notice but they have been designed very specifically.”

A showcase for contemporary style.

The Residences on Paddington Green have been finished with a soft, cohesive palette and elegant accents that create the highest quality living spaces for you to feel comfortable and at home.

Undeniably refined.

Interview with Una Barac — Interior design, Furniture & Styling

“I think it’s really important to have that biophilic approach to design and to be mindful,” says Una Barac, the executive director of Atellior, the studio responsible for the furniture dressing and styling to complement The Residences on Paddington Green’s interior style.

“We favour a responsible, sustainable and mindful approach to design,” says Barac. “We try to work with local and British artisans where possible on our bespoke interiors.”

“Our starting point was to look at what Berkeley had created: an oasis in the heart of the West End. We wanted to extend that feeling of a retreat,” she explains. Working with the apartment interior design and luxurious product from Berkeley, Barac and her team chose a neutral furniture styling palette with subtle pops of colour to create a mindful and calming environment. “We worked with the natural colours of the timbers and the metals to reflect the landscape,” she says. “One of our accent colours is a deep shade of green, reminiscent of the forest – we always try to use nature to shade rather than artificial or loud colours.”

“The interiors have been thoughtfully designed to suggest “a sense of grandeur and elegance – we wanted to create a timeless style that will appeal to the discerning individual,” says Barac. “Looking ahead to the future, our hope is the resident can sit in their living room looking out onto Paddington Green and the landscaped lush gardens, and experience a seamless transition between the interiors, architecture and landscape.”

Living at West End Gate.

Our Commitment to you.

A vibrant community.

West End Gate comprises 644 mixed tenure homes, retail, offices, jobs and a new plaza and public space. The Residences on Paddington Green is the final chapter completing this vibrant community. At Berkeley Homes we view ourselves as place keepers. We want to create a community for everyone to enjoy, now and in the future. We have four pillars on which we have designed this new neighbourhood so that we can look after the people who live here, those who visit and the environment itself.

A neighbourhood for everyone

Berkeley creates places that are designed to enhance the neighbourhoods in which they sit. New retail spaces will enhance and enrich the new public realm for both the residents and surrounding community.

Coming together

Through a series of events and initiatives we hope to build a strong and vibrant community; creating a place where residents can enjoy a sociable and active lifestyle enriching their wellbeing and fulfilment.

A beautiful environment

At the heart of West End Gate lies a beautifully landscaped garden. Pockets of seating areas from the shaded pergolas to the wooden benches create places for quiet relaxation and social gatherings alike.

Looking after our future

Sustainability is fundamental to our ethos. We want to ensure the long-term health, wellbeing and prosperity of people and the planet. We are implementing a series of initiatives to create a more sustainable and environmentally considerate lifestyle.

Designed for life.

Buying a home is one of the most important decisions you will ever make. The qualities that make Berkeley different mean that you can choose a new home from us with complete confidence. When you buy a home from Berkeley you can be safe in the knowledge that it is built to very high standards of design and quality, has low environmental impact and that you will enjoy an exceptional customer experience.

Customer service is our priority

We place the highest priority on customer service and will manage the whole moving process for you. Our Customer Care Teams will contact you shortly after you complete, to ensure that everything in your new home is absolutely to your liking. Our homes also benefit from a ten year warranty, the first two years of which are covered by Berkeley.

Green living and sustainable development is top of our agenda

As a company, we are committed to reducing energy, water and waste on our construction sites, in our offices and in the homes that we build. Almost all of our developments are built on brownfield land and we always take care to protect and enhance biodiversity and natural habitats. Our homes include features to encourage sustainable living such as dual-flush WCs, recycling bins and energy-efficient white goods.

Quality is at the heart of everything we do

At Berkeley, quality takes precedence, from choosing the right location and style of home, to the construction processes we practice, the materials we use and the specifications we put into our homes. For extra peace of mind, in addition to the ten-year warranty all new homes receive, Berkeley operates a two-year policy with dedicated Customer Service teams on hand 24 hours a day to deal with enquiries quickly and effectively.

Unparalleled choice of homes in the most sought after locations

As one of the UK's leading house builders, we are able to offer our customers an unrivalled choice of property location, size and type. From city penthouses to country retreats, modern studio apartments to traditional family homes, you will find the perfect home to match your requirements. Our homes are also built in some of Britain's most desirable locations from market towns and rural villages to major towns and cities, and countryside to the coast – we build in the locations you want to live.

A commitment to creating sustainable communities

Berkeley's homes and developments are not just built for today. They are designed to enhance the neighbourhoods in which they are located permanently. We achieve this through our commitment to excellence in design, sensitive landscaping, sympathetic restoration, and impeccable standards of sustainability. We aim to address the needs not only of our customers but their neighbours and the broader community of which they are a part. It is a long-term view: we want to create exceptional places for people to live, work and relax in, and build communities that will thrive today and for years to come.

Our commitment to sustainable living

Homes at West End Gate benefit from:

- ◇ Energy-efficient design including a highly insulated building envelope (above Building Regulation requirements to save on heating costs).
- ◇ Energy-efficient appliances provided which will lower the running costs and carbon footprint of the home.
- ◇ Centralised energy centre with electricity generation can offset running costs of common areas.
- ◇ Homes designed for low water consumption to preserve water resources.
- ◇ 100% low energy lighting and sensor-activated lighting in communal areas.
- ◇ Covered cycle storage facilities provided. Santander cycles docks located nearby.
- ◇ Landscaped gated courtyard garden benefitting from newly-planted trees, as residents' private amenity space.
- ◇ A sustainable living roof will be installed on suitable roof spaces. This will contribute to increased levels of biodiversity on site.
- ◇ Electric car charging points provided.
- ◇ Community plan in place to bring residents and the local community together.

A commitment to the future.

Over the years, the Berkeley Group has won many prestigious awards for the quality, design and sustainability of its developments. Our Vision 2030 is Berkeley's plan for the business, designed to raise standards higher still. Our goal is to be a world-class company creating successful, sustainable places where people aspire to live. We take our responsibilities towards our customers, the environment, the workforce and the communities in which we work very seriously. Our plan for the business has five areas of focus: Customers, Homes, Places, Operations and Our People.

Our Vision

To be a world-class business generating long-term value by creating successful, sustainable places where people aspire to live.

An exceptional customer experience

We aim to put customers at the heart of our decisions. Dedicated sales teams will provide exceptional service throughout the buying process, and teams will manage the customer relationship from exchange of contracts through to completion, delivery of the new home and after occupancy.

High-quality homes

When you buy a new home from Berkeley you can be safe in the knowledge that it is built to very high standards of design and quality and has low environmental impact. We meet specific space standards for new homes and aim to deliver a home which has fibre broadband infrastructure.

Great places

We seek to create beautiful, successful places characterised by the quality of their design, external spaces, transport and access to jobs and amenities. These are places where people choose to live, work and spend their time and which directly encourage people's well-being and quality of life.

Efficient and considerate operations

We reduce the impact of the construction process on the local community by registering all of our sites with the Considerate Constructors Scheme. We set targets to reduce water, energy and waste. We work with our supply chain to ensure high-quality services and materials are consistently provided.

A commitment to people and safety

Safety is a high priority on all of our construction sites. We also aim to have a positive impact on society and enable young and unemployed people to get into work through our support of the Berkeley Foundation. The Berkeley Foundation.

The Berkeley Foundation

Berkeley takes social responsibility very seriously. In 2011 we set up The Berkeley Foundation, with the aim of supporting Britain's young people and their communities.

We do this through a number of partner charities that tackle some of the most pressing social problems affecting young people today, including homelessness and unemployment. The money raised comes part from the Berkeley Group, and also through the tireless and inventive efforts of our staff.

We have set a goal for The Berkeley Foundation to invest £10 million over the next five years to support young people and their communities. Every penny will be spent on charitable activities and worthy causes to ensure that maximum benefit is achieved.
