Residential Agency Complaint Handling Procedure

Introduction

One of Jones Lang LaSalle Limited's (JLL) core values is to provide excellent professional service to our clients and in the vast majority of work performed we maintain this high standard of care. However, we recognise that occasionally when dealing with our clients, we may do or omit to do something that gives rise to dissatisfaction, disappointment or a complaint. In such circumstances, we want to put things right and improve our service.

Whatever the nature, every complaint is treated seriously and dealt with promptly. There are some limits to matters which can be addressed through this procedure. For example, if you are not a client of JLL then we may decide not to invoke this procedure but we will ensure you receive a response to the matter raised. This may require us taking instructions from our client to understand what information we can share with you or we may guide you as to who is best placed to respond to your matter.

This procedure implements the requirements of the Rules of Conduct of the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors (RICS) for dealing with written complaints. All client complaints received by other routes (e.g. social media) will be re-routed to this Complaints Handling Procedure to ensure the procedure is followed correctly and efficiently.

Parties managing your complaint

There are four key parties who will manage your complaint:

“Manager” who will be the Manager or Team Leader who oversees the local office or department with whom you had initial dealings. Contact details are available on request or on our website jll.co.uk/residentialoffices.

“Director” who will be the Director who has overall responsibility for your business. Contact details are available on request.

“Nominated Contact” who will be an experienced member of the Legal & Compliance team investigating your complaint, and to whom you should address all correspondence.

“Alternative Dispute Resolution Provider” who will be an external organisation which may be called upon to adjudicate on your complaint.

Raising the complaint

In the first instance, you should raise any concerns with the Manager responsible for dealing with your instruction. This can be in person, in writing or by telephone. The Manager will listen to and attempt to address those concerns directly with you. This can often bring resolution quickly.

However, if you are not satisfied with the outcome and wish to take this further, you will need to make a formal complaint in writing to the Director. When writing to us, please provide details of the relevant engagement, a description of your complaint together with any key dates or events, and your contact details.

On receipt of your complaint, the Director will acknowledge the complaint in writing within three working days. The acknowledgement will state your complaint is being handled under this Procedure.

Investigating the complaint

The Director will investigate the complaint and may contact you to request further information or documentation pertaining to the complaint. The Director will endeavour to respond to your complaint within 15 working days from receipt. You can be assured that the Director will act impartially throughout the course of the investigation.

Responding to your complaint

The Director's response may uphold all, part or none of your complaint; he or she will provide a reasoned response for doing so and to the key issues you have raised. This can include an apology or offer of redress if the Director believes that is appropriate. The Director will not consider any complaint you may have against a third-party.

If you accept the outcome, this will conclude the matter. However, where you remain dissatisfied with the outcome of the Director's investigation and/or reasoned response, you may raise your complaint in writing with the Legal & Compliance team at JLL. We request you provide detailed reasons for your dissatisfaction with the investigation and/or the reasoned response.

Internal review and evaluation

Once your complaint has been received by the Legal & Compliance team, it will be allocated to a member of the team to review the investigation undertaken by the Director. This person will be experienced in handling complaints and will be your Nominated Contact.

The aim of the review will be to establish all the facts relevant to the complaint, review the outcome of the Director's investigation, and to give you a comprehensive objective and measured response that represents JLL's final position. During the course of the review, the Nominated Contact may contact you to request any further information and documentation necessary for the review.

The Nominated Contact will aim to provide a written outcome of the review within a further 15 working days. The response will also describe any offer redress, as well as your options for seeking an external review or appeal of your complaint.

Alternative Dispute Resolution

If you remain dissatisfied with our handling of your complaint, then you may be able to refer your complaint to a third-party organisation for adjudication. In the first instance you can refer to The Property Ombudsman (TPO) within 12 months of our final view.

If you still feel your complaint has not been satisfactorily resolved, then you can progress the matter to Propertymark (note that this is only for Lettings complaints and TPO is the final escalation point for Sales complaints).

It is important that you read and follow the rules of the Alternative Dispute Resolution provider. These dictate time-limits for filing complaints, types of complaints they cannot consider, and calculation and limits to any compensation. For example, TPO will not consider complaints which are the subject of formal legal proceedings, and Propertymark will not consider complaints about tenancy deposits.
